He hath remembered his mercy and truth toward the house of Israel: and all the ends of the world have seen the salvation of our God.

Show yourselves joyful unto the LORD, all ye lands: sing, rejoice, and give thanks.

Praise the LORD upon the harp: sing to the harp with a psalm of thanksgiving.

With trumpets also and shawms: O show yourselves joyful before the LORD, the King.

Bonum est confiteri.
Psalm xcii.

IT is a good thing to give thanks unto the LORD: and to sing praises unto thy Name, O Most Highest;

To tell of thy loving-kindness early in the morning: and of thy truth in the night season;

Upon an instrument of ten strings, and upon the lute: upon a loud instrument, and upon the harp.

216 7s.

THINE forever! God of love,
Hear us from Thy throne above;
Thine forever may we be,
Here, and in eternity.

2 Thine forever! Oh, how blest
They who find in Thee their rest!
Saviour, Guardian, heavenly Friend,
Oh, defend us to the end!

3 Thine forever! Lord of life,
Shield us through our earthly strife:
Thou the Life, the Truth, the Way,
Guide us to the realms of day.

4 Thine forever! Shepherd, keep These Thy weak and trembling sheep,
Safe alone beneath Thy care,
Let them all Thy goodness share.

5 Thine forever! Thou our Guide,
All our wants by Thee supplied;
All our sins by Thee forgiven,
Lead us, Lord, from earth to heaven.

217 C. M.

WITNESS, ye men and angels; now
Before the Lord we speak;
To Him we make our solemn vow,
A vow we dare not break:

2 That long as life itself shall last,
Ourselves to Christ we yield;
Nor from His cause will we depart,
Or ever quit the field.

4 Once again those storms are breaking;
Hearts are failing, love grows cold;
Faith is darkened, sin abounding;
Grievous wolves assail Thy fold:
Save us, Lord, our one Salvation;
Save the faith revealed of old.

5 Call the erring by Thy pity;
Warn the tempted by Thy fear;
Keep us true to Thine allegiance,
Counting life itself less dear;
Standing firmer, holding faster,
As we see the end draw near:

6 Till, with holy Jude and Simon
And the thousand faithful more,
We, the good confession witnessed
And the lifelong conflict o'er,
On the sea of fire and crystal
Stand, and wonder, and adore.

General for Saints' Days.

FROM all Thy saints in warfare, for all Thy saints at rest,
To Thee, O blessèd Jesus, all praises be addressed.
Thou, Lord, didst win the battle that they might conquerors be;
Their crowns of living glory are lit with rays from Thee.

Insert here the stanza for the special Saint's Day to be celebrated.

ST. ANDREW.

2 Praise, Lord, for Thine apostle, the first to welcome Thee,
The first to lead his brother, the very Christ to see.
With hearts for Thee made ready, watch we throughout the year,
Forward to lead our brethren to own Thine Advent near.

ST. THOMAS.

3 All praise for Thine apostle, whose short-lived doubtings prove
Thy perfect twofold nature, the fullness of Thy love.
On all who wait Thy coming shed forth Thy peace, O Lord,
And grant us faith to know Thee, true Man, true God, adored.

WHERE the angel-hosts adore Thee,
Thou, O God, in heaven dost reign;
At Thy word they rose around Thee,
And Thy word doth them sustain.

2 Thousand times ten thousand, bending
At Thy throne, their homage pay;
Flames of fire in strength excelling,
Swift Thy pleasure to obey.

3 Fashioned in a wondrous order,
Thee they serve, their Lord and King;
Grant that in our cares and dangers
They may timely succor bring.

4 Praise to Thee Who hast created
Earth and heaven with all their host;
Praise to Thee, O God most mighty,
Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.

St. Luke.

172 L. M.

WHAT thanks and praise to Thee we owe,
O Priest and Sacrifice divine,
For Thy dear saint through whom we know
So many a gracious word of Thine;

2 Whom Thou didst choose to tell the tale
Of all Thy manhood's toils and tears,
And for a moment lift the veil
That hides Thy boyhood's spotless years.

3 And still the Church through all her days
Uplifts the strains that never cease,
The blessèd Virgin's hymn of praise,
The aged Simeon's words of peace.

THANKSGIVINGS. 45

For Rain.

O GOD, our heavenly Father, who by thy gracious providence dost cause the former and the latter rain to descend upon the earth, that it may bring forth fruit for the use of man; We give thee humble thanks that it hath pleased thee, in our great necessity, to send us at the last a joyful rain upon thine inheritance, and to refresh it when it was dry, to the great comfort of us thy unworthy servants, and to the glory of thy holy Name; through thy mercies in Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

HOLY, Holy, Holy! Lord God Almighty!
Early in the morning our song shall rise to Thee:

God in Three Persons, blessèd Trinity!

2 Holy, Holy, Holy! All the saints adore Thee,
Casting down their golden crowns around the glassy sea;
Cherubim and seraphim falling down before Thee,

ELIOT,
SHAKESPEARE,
DICKENS,
THACKERAY,
SCOTT,

AUSTEN, BRONTËS,
AND SELECTED WORKS OF THE BEST AUTHORS.

The Type is the same in both.

The New Century Library is a radical departure in the art of bookmaking. The largest novel is published unabridged in a single volume which is so small that it is equally suitable for the pocket or satchel, and consequently invaluable for summer reading and traveling. As a library edition it is handsome in the extreme.

The size is only 4¼ by 6¼ inches, and not thicker than a monthly magazine. Each volume weighs less than eight ounces.

Nelson's India paper, the thinnest printing paper in the world, is used in making these books. Although thin this paper is very strong and remarkably opaque. It is made specially for Thomas Nelson & Sons, and cannot be procured elsewhere.

The type is as large and as easily read as that you are now reading. The printing is beautiful and clear, and the thin paper and handsome binding give a delightful volume, one that fits perfectly into Charles Lamb's requisite: "A volume you can easily hold in the hand and enjoy by the light of the evening lamp."

HOW THE READING OF IT AFFECTED ONE YOUNG LADY.

Author of "BASHFUL MAN." MARYSVILLE, Mo., July 22, 18—.

Dear Friend—Having read your story of the "Bashful Man," and seeing the invitation at the close of the same, and after studying the matter over for a short time, came to the conclusion that I was the very girl for you; being of good family and an expert in cooking and everything pertaining to housework. I am not an old maid or anything of that sort, but am just in the prime of life—my next birthday will be nineteen; I am of medium height, and, if I do say it myself, good looking. Now, wanting to get a good husband, and thinking you would suit me, I am at your service. If you think I will do, just drop me a few lines, and I will then tell further what I can do. Till then, I remain, sincerely yours, ANNA T. H * * *

P. S.—Please write anyway.—ANNA.

The Blunders of a Bashful Man will be sent by mail, postpaid, for 25 cents.

THE COMIC COOK BOOK is something you have never heard of before. It is just what the title implies, a book containing a bunch of the funniest, most foolish recipes for cooking that you can possibly imagine. We have sold over 30,000 of these books, and every one reading it is pleased. Notice a few of the recipes:

ANGEL CAKE.—Chop up green apples, raisins, bananas, in quantities to suit; stick them in dough. Feed to the children and the angel part will materialize.

ROMAN PUNCH.—Only a Roman nose how to prepare this dish properly. To prepare it the other way add some rum to your punch. This should be served before the roasts at dinner, but should be eaten frugally, as it was a Roman punch that killed Cæsar.

EMERGENCIES.—Should a child swallow a button, lower a button-hole down its throat with a piece of string, pass it over the button and yank it out.—If you see a runaway horse approaching and are unable to get out of his way, speak to him firmly, saying, "Lie down, sir!"

TO TELL A BAD EGG.—This depends entirely on what you wish to tell the egg. If it be bad news, break it gently—this applies both to the communication and the fruit. The former had better be made by telephone, with the safety plug in position.

TO BREAK A COLT.—Hit him across the back with a sledge hammer. One blow should be sufficient to break him—or at least break his back.

TO MAKE ICE-WATER LAST.—Prepare everything else first. Price, only 15 cents.

This book is a collection of practical designs showing examples of houses recently built, and invaluable to everyone thinking of building, by reason of their having been, with very few exceptions, planned in the ordinary course of a busy architect's practice during the last few years, and built in various parts of the country within the prices given.

Full description accompanies each plate, giving sizes, height of stories, how built and finished, and improvements contained, thus giving information of very great value to everyone contemplating building, as the plans and designs embody the best thought and most careful study of those erecting them, giving real results as to cost, and a guide that is safe to follow. These designs and plans have, therefore, a value that can be fully appreciated for their practical utility and stand alone, as real examples, of how some people's homes are planned and what they cost.

To those wanting homes or selling home sites, members of building associations, land companies, real estate men, those having land to improve, carpenters and builders, and everyone interested or who ever hopes to own a home, these designs are invaluable and will prove of very great value to them. It contains 115 large pages, size 11 x 14 inches. Price, bound in heavy paper cover, sent by mail, postpaid, $1.00. Bound in cloth, $2.00. Sent by mail, postpaid, to any address on receipt of price.

PALLISER'S AMERICAN ARCHITECTURE, or, Every Man a Complete Builder.—The latest and best publication on modern artistic dwellings and other buildings of low cost. This book contains 104 pages, 11 x 14 inches in size, and consists of large 9 x 12 plate pages giving plans, elevations, perspective views, descriptions, owners' names, actual cost of construction, no guess work, and instructions HOW TO BUILD 70 cottages, villas, double houses, brick block houses, suitable for city suburbs, town and country, houses for the farm and workingmen's homes for all sections of the country, and costing from $300 to $4,500; also barns, stables, schoolhouse, town hall, churches, and other public buildings, together with specifications, form of contract, etc., etc., and a large amount of information on the erection of buildings, selection of site, employment of architects, etc., etc.

IT IS THE MOST PRACTICAL WORK EVER ISSUED.

The plans shown have been built from and many of them duplicated many times over. All are practical, the creation of a well-known firm of successful architects, and are alike valuable to builders, and any one who has in view the erection of a house. The plans are susceptible of slight changes that will adapt them to any taste.

The carpenter remote from a city needs just such a book to refer to or to exhibit to his customer, so that the latter can give his orders in an intelligible manner. The much-desired economy in these structures is not, however, obtained at the expense of beauty—every one of the designs, even the very cheapest, is pleasing to the eye. Following the ideas laid down, the builder is sure to obtain a pretty result. Another result aimed at by the authors is the convenience of internal arrangements. Many a good house has been spoiled by having the needed closet room omitted. All this has been carefully studied by the practical and experienced gentlemen whose names are on the book, and the owner or working builder who selects a design from this work will be sure to secure all the elegance, convenience, and economy possible in the erection of a house.

If you ever intend to build get this book and study it before you commence. This should be your first step towards building a house, so as to ascertain what kind of a house you want and find out how much it is going to cost before going ahead.

The value of this work to builders cannot be estimated, as it contains designs for just such houses as they are called on to build every day in the week. This book of 104 pages, as described above, will be sent by mail, postpaid, to any address on receipt of price. Price, heavy paper cover, $1; handsomely bound in cloth, $2.

PALLISER'S MODEL DWELLINGS.—When you build be wise in time and not when it is too late, after paying dearly for experience. Get this new book of designs. None of them ever before published. Don't buy a book five years old.

This is a complete work on building by Palliser, Palliser & Co., the best known architects in the United States, and eminent designers and writers on common sense, practical and convenient dwelling houses for industrial Americans, homes for co-operative builders, investors and everybody desiring to build, own or live in model homes of low and medium cost.

This new book is 11 x 14 inches in size, and contains large illustrated plans and views of the above house and 145 others of every kind, description and style dwellings, ranging in cost of construction and completion from $400 to $6,000, also a model city house for 24 families, costing $15,000, giving with each full descriptions, complete dimensions and sizes of rooms, etc., the actual proven guaranteed cost, places where erected, many of the most popular built several times, with changes, in different localities, together with names of owners, names and addresses of builders, which does away with ridiculous estimating or rather guessing of the cost to build.

The descriptive letter-press and reading matter throughout this book, giving very valuable information and practical suggestions on every question that can arise in building, would alone fill an ordinary book of 450 pages. Also, specifications and form of building contract.

With this book in your possession you will find it is a pleasure to build.

Free consultation given to purchasers building and very low prices for all architects' complete services connected therewith. This elegant work, which contains 128 pages, is far superior to the $15 portfolios and premium books on the market (in fact, there is nothing that can compare with it at any price), will be sent to any address, in paper cover, by mail, postpaid, on receipt of only $1.00, or bound in cloth on receipt of $2.00.

Cabinet work of every description—Mantels, Sideboards, Book-Cases, Cabinets, Dressers, etc., etc., in almost endless numbers and variety. Stairs, Hand Railings, Newels and Balusters Details will be found to cover every question that can arise in constructing dwellings of every kind: Fences, Summer Houses, Pavilions, Conservatories, Arbors, Well Curbs, Outbuildings, etc., etc.; 12 New Designs for Stables and Carriage Houses; Descriptive Letter Press, giving practical suggestions, cost, etc., which would alone fill an ordinary book of 150 pages; Details of Furniture of every description, so plain that any good mechanic can understand and execute the same; Perspective Views of Four Houses Printed in Colors, showing how to paint; Specifications and Form of Building Contract, etc., etc.

Those contemplating the erection of a house cannot afford to be without this book, and who does not intend building some time in their life? Hundreds of thousands of our popular books of plans, details and specifications have been sent to all parts the past ten years, and thousands of houses have been built from them; in fact, there is not a city, town or village of consequence in the United States but what contains one or more buildings so erected, and some places have as many as twenty.

One large (11x14 inches) volume, printed on heavy cream plate paper, handsomely bound in boards and leather. Price, $4.00. Sent securely packed in a box by expreess, prepaid, to any address on receipt of price.

PALLISER'S USEFUL DETAILS.—An immense practical work on every description of modern architectural details. Forty plates, size of each 20 x 26 inches. The cost of drawing each plate for engraving is $35, and the price for the whole forty plates published has just been reduced from $3.00 to $2.00. They are worth $10.00 to any one interested in the subject. Each plate is engraved and printed on tinted plate paper, so as not to soil by handling, and is a fac-simile of original drawing without reduction, therefore just the same as if drawn by hand for placing in the hands of the mechanic for execution. They are given at a very large scale, none being smaller than ¼ inch to foot, and many larger and up to half full size; in fact, they are so plain that every mechanic and apprentice can readily understand them. That they are practical designs is evident, all the drawings having been built from many of them duplicated several times over, and the thousands of letters received from mechanics the past two years have convinced the authors that this is the work they need. "Palliser's Useful Details" are published for the benefit of the builder, mechanic, and all people interested in the building arts. They embrace a variety of constructional drawings for all classes of work—exterior and interior—pertaining to the erection of buildings of every description, and such as never before published. We will send it to any address securely packed on receipt of $2.00.

PALLISER'S COURTHOUSES, City Halls, Jails, Etc., Etc.—The finest and best publication on public buildings of every description. By the celebrated architects, Palliser, Palliser & Co. The latest, cheapest and most popular work issued on public buildings. Three hundred and fifty drawings.

This book is 11 x 14 inches in size and consists of 85 large 9 x 12 plates, giving plans, elevations, perspective views and detail drawings, actual cost of construction and instructions how to build public buildings of every description for villages, towns, cities, counties, states, and costing from $600 to $195,000, together with specifications, etc., etc. 16 plates of details on the practical construction of courthouses and jails. A supplement giving a double plate page of a large courthouse printed in colors and two plates of heliotype prints of courthouses taken from nature.

It gives 83 9 x 12 plate illustrations of model schoolhouses of every description, costing from $600 up, plans, elevations, sections and perspective views, 19 plates of detail drawings showing complete construction on large scales; also an Indian school, a Methodist Industrial Home School for colored girls, colleges, parochial school, convents, Canadian and Brazilian schools, etc. Every architect, member of school board and school trustee, minister and priest, as well as all prominent builders and teachers should get this publication. The value of this work to the school-building public of America is immense, as it contains just the designs that suit every want and requirement. ON A FAST TRAIN THROUGH GEORGIA is a book that sells on sight, but since you have not seen it we will try to describe it to you. Have you ever been to the theatre and laughed at the comedians and vaudeville monologues until you thought your sides would split? And immediately after the show you have been disgusted because you couldn't remember a single joke you heard? If you have—this is the book you want. It was written by one of the most clever comedians on the stage, and as the stories and jokes are reeled off one after the other, just as you have heard them at the theatre, you feel so pleased with yourself you don't know what to do. It is one of the funniest books ever printed. Price, paper bound, 15 cents.

THE WORLD'S FINGER is the title of the most absorbing detective narrative ever written. One would not surmise from the title that such was the fact; but the closing chapter of the book gives the clue to its meaning: "I swore to my father on his death-bed that The World's Finger should never point to a Davanant as amongst the list of known convicts, and that oath I will keep." One reader writes: "I thought I would read a chapter or two of THE WORLD'S FINGER, to see what it was all about. I soon found out, and it was two o'clock in the morning before I laid the book down, having read it to the end at one sitting. It certainly is a corker." Bound in paper cover; price, 25 cents.

THE FIRST COUNTY PARK SYSTEM. By Frederick W. Kelsey. Large 12mo. 300 Pages. Fully Illustrated. Cloth bound. Price, $1.25. This book is an authentic, and graphically written history of the Essex County, New Jersey, public parks, now one of the most important park systems in the country. The author was a member and vice-president of the first board of five commissioners selected to lay out the parks and he formulated the plan which was the basis of the subsequent legislation to provide for the park system, for which the first appropriation was $2,500,000, and is probably more familiar with the inception and workings of the enterprise than any other person, and from his intimate knowledge of events is recognized as being especially well qualified to write this history. The facts are concisely and interestingly presented, and the volume contains most valuable information, not only for creating and laying out new park systems, but timely suggestions for those already established. The book is beautifully illustrated with ten full-page half-tone views of the different parks, and a County map in colors, showing at a glance the parks and proposed parkways. Bound in cloth. Price, $1.25.

THE HOUSE BY THE RIVER. By Florence Warden. The name and fame of Miss Warden as an author is world-wide, and there are millions of people who remember with pleasure her absorbing story entitled "The House on the Marsh," over half a million copies of which were sold. It is an interesting, exciting and absorbing story of mystery and romance, in which the heroine is the indirect means of bringing a clique of gentlemanly criminals to justice. It is written wth great clearness and lucidity, and holds the reader's interest to the end, where a remarkable surprise occurs.

THE LETTERS OF MILDRED'S MOTHER TO MILDRED. By E. D. Price, "The Man Behind the Scenes." 12mo. 160 pages. Price, cloth bound, $1.00.

MR. CLAGHORN'S DAUGHTER. By Hilary Trent. This is a surprising romance, a book that goes to the heart of things. The problem it presents belongs indeed to humanity, but it more especially confronts women as such. Its tenderness, its pathos, and its boldness are decidedly feminine.

Mark Twain says: "I have read it with strong interest because of the grace and vigor of the style, and because of the attractions of the story as a story."

12mo. 288 pages, cloth bound. Price, $1.00 by mail, postpaid, to any address.

ONE FOR MANY. By Vera. Paper cover, 25 cents; cloth bound, 50 cents.

OUR NATION'S NEED. By J. A. Conwell. This is a work which every lover of his country should read. Paper cover, 25 cents; cloth, 50 cents.

OUR RIGHT TO LOVE. By Anna Chase Deppen. One review says of it: After the dreary round of problem novels, "studies in realism," and "historical" vagaries, a story like "Our Right to Love," by Anna Chase Deppen is like a draught of sparkling spring water to one sick of debauchery. It is like stepping into the fragrant purity of a spring dawn from some midnight revel, where glaring lamplight and spattered wine lees and the reek of musk made a false world of poisonous pleasures and shrill laughter that for a time drowned the sound of cursing and sobbing.

"Our Right to Love." Our right to love simply, naturally, purely, with such a love as perchance the angels in heaven may envy. And yet the story is not without its darker side. Strong threads of passion and of jealousy are woven into the fabric, even as brightness and darkness, happiness and sorrow are woven into human life. It is no flight of romantic fancy. No melodramatic unreality disfigures it. It is a drama of life; such a drama as any man and woman might live, and such as many do live, where the strong imperious right to love strives with evil influences, asserting itself against every barrier, and triumphing finally over all difficulties thrown about it by adverse fate or human malevolence. The book contains 275 pages, illustrated, and bound in cloth. Price, $1.00.

REFLECTIONS OF A BACHELOR. By P. W. 12mo. Illustrated. Paper cover, 50 cents. Handsomely bound in cloth, $1.00. This is a most amusing book. It is made up of epigrams, and is not intended for continuous reading any more than the dictionary. Picked up at leisure half hours it will furnish a great deal of entertainment. The author is a genial cynic, who has reduced to a fine art the saying of the things that contain truth spiced with malice.

THE SECRET OF SEX; or, Controlling the Sex in Generation. By Samuel H. Terry. 12mo. 209 pages. Bound in cloth, price $1.00. Explaining the Physical Law Influencing Sex in the Embryo, and giving directions how to produce male or female offspring at will.

Any of these books mailed, postpaid, on receipt of price.

THE PEOPLE I'VE SMILED WITH. By Marshall P. Wilder. Bound in paper cover 35 cents; cloth bound, $1.00. This book contains 268 pages of mirth and laughter, well printed in large type, with frontispiece of the author, and handsome illustrated cover. Mr. Wilder needs no introduction to the American public. He is known as the greatest man who ever lived to drive away the blues and make you laugh; and he has given the very best of his many good stories in this book. Extracts from letters written to Mr. Wilder. President Theodore Roosevelt: "Your stories were excellent." The late President William McKinley: "Your visit to the White House was most welcome." Ex-President Grover Cleveland: "The Prince of Entertainers." H. M. King Edward VII.: "A very clever little gentleman." H. M. Queen Alexandra: "Your stories are so bright." Hon. Chauncey M. Depew: "His mirth is contagious."

"The People I've Smiled With" will be sent by mail, postpaid, to any address upon receipt of 35 cents for the paper bound book, or $1.00 for the cloth bound book.

THE SOCIABLE GHOST. By Olive Harper and Another. This is the story of what a love-sick young reporter on one of the big dailies "saw and did not see while he was not there" in Trinty Churchyard one mild May night. He meets the Sociable Ghost and gives him a lighted pipe to smoke, and some spritual comfort—out of a bottle—and this ghost then invites and chaperones the reporter to the ceremonies under ground. 12mo. 235 pages. With 14 full-page illustrations. Price, $1.00.

WHAT'S THE ODDS? By Joe Ullman, who says: "A number of bookmakers, including myself, were dining one evening at a celebrated cafe, and began telling comical stories and humorous episodes. My experience of twenty-eight years on the turf had taught me many, a few of which I narrated. One of our number remarked: "Well, this is what I call real recreation. We only hear and read of the serious side of the turf, and of the good fortunes accumulated there. Hey, Joe, what's the odds, a book of these yarns wouldn't be a go? They are all funny, true and clean, and I sincerely think they would be a 'hit!' Try it, just for luck." I said, "Do you really think so? All right, I'll try it, just for luck, and I'll call it 'What's the Odds.'"

The book contains 30 full-page half-tone illustrations, and is handsomely bound in cloth stamped in three colors. Price 50 cents.

WITH FORCE AND ARMS. By Howard R. Garis. 343 Pages. Illustrated. Bound in paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

This book is full of life and stirring incident, and is founded on the Salem witchcraft craze. The tale is one of love, and of one man's warfare against another, all for a woman. The description of the days when the colonists were witch-mad is strongly done. There are a number of exciting scenes described in the novel, the style of which is clear and pleasing.

REV. CHAS. WAGNER'S THREE GREAT BOOKS.

"THE SIMPLE LIFE."
"THE VOICE OF NATURE."
"THE BUSY LIFE."

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT says to the author:

"I am preaching your books to my countrymen."

And, also, in a speech at Bangor, Maine, said:

"The other day I picked up a little book called 'The Simple Life,' written by Charles Wagner, and he preached such wholesome, sound doctrine that I wish it could be used as a tract throughout our country. To him the whole problem of our complex, somewhat feverish modern life can be solved only by getting men and women to lead better lives. He sees that the permanence of liberty and democracy depends upon a majority of the people being steadfast in that good, plain morality which, as a national attribute, comes only as the result of the slow and painful labor of centuries, and which can be squandered in a generation by the thoughtless and vicious. He preaches the doctrine of the superiority of the moral to the material."

"THE SIMPLE LIFE," the great book of human wisdom, by Rev. Charles Wagner, is certainly one of the greatest books of the age. It has received the highest commendations from Rev. Newell Dwight Hillis, D.D., Rev. Robert S. McArthur, D.D., Rev. Henry Mottett, D.D., and many other prominent clergymen.

Each of these books contain 200 pages and are bound in cloth, price, 60 cents; or in paper cover, 30 cents, at which price they will be sent by mail, postpaid. We will send one each of the three books bound in cloth for $1.50, or bound in paper cover for 75 cents.

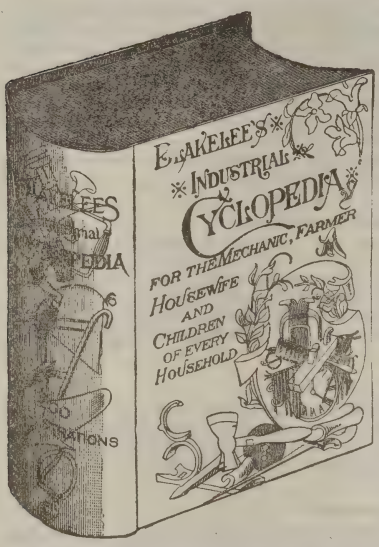
BLAKELEE'S INDUSTRIAL CYLCOPEDIA,

A READY REFERENCE AND RESERVOIR OF USEFUL INFORMATION.



In this book, by George E. Blakelee, practical mechanic, and editor of a farmers' paper, seven hundred and twenty octavo pages are devoted to explaining clearly the easiest, most practical, and best way of doing every kind of work, mechanical and otherwise that can be of use in or about a city or villag home, or on a large or small farm It not only treats fully of the use and care of tools, and shows how to make and mend an endless variety of useful articles, but also points out how to do thousands of things not requiring tools, such as mixing paints, managing teams, caring for farm stock and poultry, storing hay, grain and vegetables, harvesting a corn crop, caring for furs, leather, lamps and glass articles, butter and cheese making, pork packing, canning, preserving, and the like, without end.

Not only are the mechanic and house-holder thoroughly provided for, but matters of use and interest to the farmer are treated at such length, that there seems to be nothing in the wide range of his multifarious duties that the author has overlooked. The housewife, too, has a department of her own, where, among hundreds of other things, she is taught the mysteries of bleaching and dyeing, the management of all kinds of fabrics; how to make brackets, frames, tidies, rugs, mats and all kinds of knitted and fancy articles; how to beautify her furniture, polish and renew table-ware, make soap, etc., etc. The boys and girls are also fully cared for, The former are shown how they can make their own hand-sleds, cages, traps and snares for birds and animals, row-boats, apparatus for a home gymnasium and the like; while the latter are instructed in making hundreds of those beautiful and useful articles which add so much to the adornment and convenience of home.

The book is a substantial octavo volume of seven hundred and twenty pages, well printed on paper of fine quality, fully illustrated with over two hundred engravings, furnished with a detailed table of contents and copious index, and handsomely bound.

SLICES FROM A LONG LOAF, by Dr. H. C. Stiefel, is our very latest publication. The title is not really appreciated until the book has been read. It is a humorous account of a holiday voyage in a flatboat, down the Allegheny River from Oil City to Pittsburgh, by five tourists who meet with numerous adventures, tell many stories, and find some incidental instruction in their visits to the oil wells, the plate glass factories and other objects of interest by the way. The best impression of it can be gathered by reading the following press reviews:

"Dr. Stiefel's book has been compared to Jerome's "Three Men in a Boat," but there is this difference between them, that Jerome's book could not have resulted from an actual river excursion, while Dr. Stiefel's "Slices From a Long Loaf" did, without suffering any in comparison with Jerome's book."—American Manufacturer. "It is a pity the author did not give the public at least twice as much of the material he doubtless had doubts about publishing."—Pittsburgh Index. "It would be difficult to say what Mr. Stiefel's book is about—there is everything in it from fish stories to Teutonic grammar, from dishwashing to mythology, from oleaginous lore to the Allegheny county poor farm. One thing it lacks—one only—there isn't a dull page in it. The "Long Loaf" should be devoured, by everyone not averse to a smile."—Pittsburgh Gazette. "As each succeeding slice is consumed, the cry for "more, more" is insatiate. Dr. Stiefel has rendered a distinct service in giving this book to the public."—Pittsburgh Leader.

The book contains 200 pages, with 30 full-page illustrations, and is handsomely bound in cloth. Price, $1.00.

THE FIELD OF GLORY. By Henryk Sienkiewicz. Translated from the Polish by Henry Britoff, the able translator of "Resurrection," "One For Many," "Foma Gordeyev," etc. Everybody will want to read the latest successful book from the pen of this great Polish author. "The story gives pictures of Polish character and life on the eve of the second great siege of Vienna, and closes with the march of the great John Sobieski and his invincible Poles, to the magnificent achievement which was the high-water mark of the glory of Poland. You are invited not to the horrors and the agonies of the battlefield, but to the tremendous enthusiasm, the fanfare of trumpets, the triumphant confidence with which, under the benediction of the Church, the Polish hosts poured out from Cracow to save Vienna and Christendom itself from the conquering Moslem. It is a fine old-fashioned story of love and of honor, such as was wont to thrill the pulse of youth upon the pages of the great romancer. One may almost say of it as of the noble English family, that all its men are brave and all its women chaste."

The book contains 320 pages, 7½x4¼ inches, and is bound in handsome cloth stamped in gold and ink. Price, by mail, postpaid, $1.00.

These leaflets are reprints of important original papers, accompanied by useful historical and bibliographical notes. They are edited by Mr. Edwin D. Mead. They consist, on an average, of sixteen pages, and are sold at the low price of five cents a copy or four dollars per hundred, simply enough to cover the cost of publication. The Old South Work, founded by Mrs. Mary Hemenway and still sustained by provision of her will, is a work for the education of the people, and especially the education of our young people, in American history and politics; and its promoters believe that few things can contribute better to this end than the wide circulation of such leaflets as these. The aim is to bring valuable historical documents, often not easily accessible, within easy reach of everybody. It is hoped that professors in our colleges and teachers everywhere will welcome them for use in their classes, and that they may meet the needs of the societies of young men and women now being organized in so many places for historical and political studies. There are at present one hundred and sixty-three leaflets in the series, and others will rapidly follow. The following are the titles of those now ready :—

ON LIFE AFTER DEATH

BY

GUSTAV THEODOR FECHNER

TRANSLATED BY

DR. HUGO WERNEKKE

Pages, 133. Cloth, gilt top. 12mo. Price, 75 cents net. Postage 8 cents.

Gustav Theodor Fechner was a professor of physics, but he took great interest in psychology and by combining the two sciences became one of the founders of the science of "psychophysics," based upon the obvious interrelation between sensation and nerve-activity. While he did much creditable work in the line of exact psychology, he devoted himself with preference to those problems of the soul which touch upon its religious and moral life and its fate after death. His little book On Life After Death is his most important publication in this line.

Fechner believes in the immortality of the soul, but his treatment is of especial interest because he uses a distinctive scientific method in dealing with the subject. Though the thoughtful reader may often find the ideas expressed at variance with his preconceived notions of the after life, he cannot fail to be impressed with the importance and suggestiveness of Professor Fechner's thought.

"I wish to congratulate you and the translator upon the beautiful translation of Fechner. It did not seem possible that such a translation, breathing as it did the entire spirit of the original, could have been made by a German. I have seldom seen a more successful bit of translating."—DAVID EUGENE SMITH, Ph. D., LL. D., Professor of Mathematics, Teachers' College, New York City.

"The essay of which this little book is a translation was first published in German in 1835. Its author held that 'the spirits of the dead continue to exist as individuals in the living,' and has worked out this idea in quaint suggestions and meditations which will interest many and perhaps will add somewhat of illumination to their eager gaze into the world beyond death. It is devout, hopeful and confident of a kind of a personal immortality."—THE CONGREGATIONALIST AND CHRISTIAN WORLD.

"A volume that will greatly interest if not influence lovers of philosophical writings."

Solomon's choice II. CHRONICLES, 2. of wisdom.

to the place which David had prepared for it: for he had pitched a tent for it at Jerusalem.

5 Moreover the brasen altar, that Bezaleel the son of Uri, the son of Hur, had made, he put before the tabernacle of the LORD: and Solomon and the congregation sought unto it.

6 And Solomon went up thither to the brasen altar before the LORD, which was at the tabernacle of the congregation, and offered a thousand burnt offerings upon it.

7 In that night did God appear unto Solomon, and said unto him, Ask what I shall give thee.

8 And Solomon said unto God, Thou hast shewed great mercy unto David my father, and hast made me to reign in his stead.

9 Now, O LORD God, let thy promise unto David my father be established: for thou hast made me king over a people like the dust of the earth in multitude.

10 Give me now wisdom and knowledge, that I may go out and come in before this people: for who can judge this thy people, that is so great?

11 And God said to Solomon, Because this was in thine heart, and thou hast not asked riches, wealth, or honour, nor the life of thine enemies, neither yet hast asked long life; but hast asked wisdom and knowledge for thyself, that thou mayest judge my people, over whom I have made thee king:

12 Wisdom and knowledge is granted unto thee; and I will give thee riches, and wealth, and honour, such as none of the kings have had that have been before thee, neither shall there any after thee have the like.

13 Then Solomon came from his journey to Jerusalem from before the tabernacle of the congregation, and reigned over Israel.

14 And Solomon gathered chariots and horsemen: and he had a thousand and four hundred chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen, which he bestowed in the chariot cities, and with the king at Jerusalem.

15 And the king made silver and gold at Jerusalem as plentiful as stones, and cedar trees made he as the sycomore trees that are in the vale for abundance.

16 And Solomon had horses brought out of Egypt, and linen yarn: the king's merchants received the linen yarn at a price.

17 And they fetched up, and long? and let it repent thee concerning thy servants.

14 O satisfy us early with thy mercy; that we may rejoice and be glad all our days.

15 Make us glad according to the days wherein thou hast afflicted us, and the years wherein we have seen evil.

16 Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto their children.

17 And let the beauty of the LORD our God be upon us: and establish thou the work of our hands upon us; yea, the work of our hands establish thou it.

91 He that dwelleth in the secret place of the most High shall abide under the shadow of the Almighty.

2 I will say of the LORD, He is my refuge and my fortress: my God; in him will I trust.

3 Surely he shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler, and from the noisome pestilence.

4 He shall cover thee with his feathers, and under his wings shalt thou trust: his truth shall be thy shield and buckler.

5 Thou shalt not be afraid for the terror by night; nor for the arrow that flieth by day;

6 Nor for the pestilence that walketh in darkness; nor for the destruction that wasteth at noonday.

7 A thousand shall fall at thy side, and ten thousand at thy right hand; but it shall not come nigh thee.

8 Only with thine eyes shalt thou behold and see the reward of the wicked.

9 Because thou hast made the LORD, which is my refuge, even the most High, thy habitation;

10 There shall no evil befall thee, neither shall any plague come nigh thy dwelling.

11 For he shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways.

32 Canst thou bring forth Mazzaroth in his season? or canst thou guide Arcturus with his sons?
33 Knowest thou the ordinances of heaven? canst thou set the dominion thereof in the earth?
34 Canst thou lift up thy voice to the clouds, that abundance of waters may cover thee?
35 Canst thou send lightnings, that they may go, and say unto thee, Here we are?
36 Who hath put wisdom in the inward parts? or who hath given understanding to the heart?
37 Who can number the clouds in wisdom? or who can stay the bottles of heaven,
15 And forgetteth that the foot may crush them, or that the wild beast may break them.
16 She is hardened against her young ones, as though they were not her's: her labour is in vain without fear;
17 Because God hath deprived her of wisdom, neither hath he imparted to her understanding.
18 What time she lifteth up herself on high, she scorneth the horse and his rider.
19 Hast thou given the horse strength? hast thou clothed his neck with thunder?
20 Canst thou make him afraid as a grasshopper? the glory of his nostrils is terrible.
21 He paweth in the valley, and rejoiceth in his strength: he goeth on to meet the armed men.

Christ's sermon ST. MATTHEW 5. on the mount.

Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.

20 And they straightway left their nets, and followed him.

21 And going on from thence, he saw other two brethren, James the son of Zebedee, and John his brother, in a ship with Zebedee their father, mending their nets; and he called them.

22 And they immediately left the ship and their father, and followed him.

23 ¶ And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people.

24 And his fame went throughout all Syria: and they brought unto him all sick people that were taken with divers diseases and torments, and those which were possessed with devils, and those which were lunatick, and those that had the palsy; and he healed them.

25 And there followed him great multitudes of people from Galilee, and from Decapolis, and from Jerusalem, and from Judæa, and from beyond Jordan.

CHAPTER 5.

1 Christ beginneth his sermon in the mount: 3 declaring who are blessed, 13 who are the salt of the earth, 14 the light of the world, the city on an hill, 15 the candle. 21 What it is to kill, 27 to commit adultery, 33 to swear: 38 exhorteth to suffer wrong, 44 to love even our enemies, 48 and to labour after perfectness.

AND seeing the multitudes, he went up into a mountain: and when he was set, his disciples came unto him:

2 And he opened his mouth, and taught them, saying,

3 Blessed are the poor in spirit: for their's is the kingdom of heaven.

4 Blessed are they that mourn: for they shall be comforted.

5 Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.

6 Blessed are they which do hunger and thirst after righteousness: for they shall be filled.

7 Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy.

8 Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.

9 Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.

10 Blessed are they which are persecuted for righteousness' sake: for their's is the kingdom of heaven.

11 Blessed are ye, when men shall revile you, and persecute you, and shall say all manner of evil against you falsely, for my sake.

12 Rejoice, and be exceeding glad: for great is your reward in heaven: for so persecuted they the prophets which were before you.

13 ¶ Ye are the salt of the earth: but if the salt have lost his savour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men.

14 Ye are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill cannot be hid.

15 Neither do men light a candle, and put it under a bushel, but on a candlestick; and it giveth light unto all that are in the house.

16 Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven.

Red Letter Bibles and Testaments.

"Christian Herald" Edition.

I. In the New Testament, the words printed in red are those that are universally accepted as the utterances of Our Lord and Saviour.

II. In the Old Testament, the passages in red are those that were quoted by Him, or that have direct relation to incidents to which He referred.

III. Red lettering in the Reference Column of the Old Testament directs the reader to some particular utterance of Christ, in which the corresponding quotation or allusion may be found.

IV. A red star immediately following a verse in the Old Testament, indicates that, in the concurrent opinion of scholars and theologians, the verse embodies a prophetic reference to Christ.

A MARVELLOUS IMPROVEMENT IN TEACHERS' BIBLES

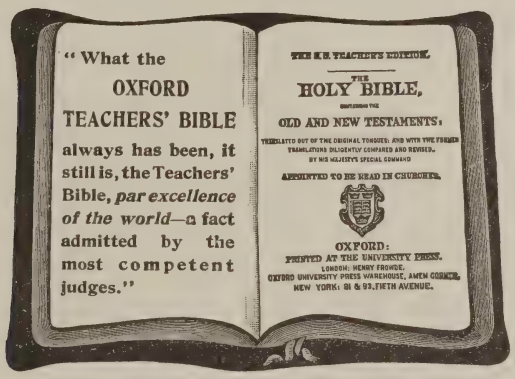
Oxford Teachers' Bibles

WITH NEW AND UP-TO-DATE HELPS

ARRANGED UNDER ONE ALPHABET



The Only Teachers' Bible made with 20th Century Helps

BEING A PRACTICAL BIBLE DICTIONARY, INCLUDING INDEX, CONCORDANCE, GLOSSARY, WEIGHTS, MEASURES, COINS, BOTANY, ETC., ETC.

ARRANGED UNDER ONE ALPHABET

WITH NEW ILLUSTRATIONS

NOTE

THE HELPS in this new Series of Teachers' Bibles have been thoroughly revised by English and American scholars, so as to embody the results of the most recent researches. For the greater convenience of teacher and student the information given in the forty-seven alphabetical lists of the Helps has been rearranged in a single alphabetical order, so that any subject about which information is required may be instantly found in its proper alphabetical place, without the necessity of reference to an index, or of search in a table of contents.

But though the arrangement is that of a Dictionary, the CYCLOPEDIC HELPS are much more than a word-book, for many of the cyclopedic articles of the Helps are included, each in its alphabetical place, and wherever it is necessary cross references to these are given under the more special entries. For instance, each weight, measure, and coin is entered in its own place in the general alphabetical order, and under each entry a reference is given to the general articles, such as Weights, Measures, or Coins, in which further information will be found. Of the illustrations, some have been taken from the 'Bible Illustrations' which have appeared in recent issues of the Oxford Helps, and nothing has been included that is not authentic beyond all possibility of doubt. The pictures of scences in Bible Lands are from photographs recently taken by M. Bonfils, and are reproduced with his permission. A new series of maps, fifteen in all, is included in the volume.

These new Helps doubly strengthen the position which the OXFORD TEACHERS' BIBLE has always held as

"The Bible par excellence of the World"

Reviews of the New Oxford Editions

"The Oxford University Press is always in the front line of improvement. It gradually added to the helps published in connection with their Bibles, till there were forty-seven alphabetical lists. These have been rearranged under one alphabetical arrangement, with changes bringing it up to date, and entitled The Cyclopedic Concordance. . . . They are the most complete and best arranged of all the helps in various bibles."—The Intermediate Sunday School Quarterly, April, '04.

"What the Oxford Teachers' Bible always has been, it still is, the Teachers' Bible par excellence of the world—a fact admitted by the most competent judges."—The Christian Nation.

"The new Bible just published by the Oxford Press is, without doubt, the finest product of the kind ever given to the public."—The Christian Advocate, Feb. 11, '04.

"As nearly a perfect Teachers' Bible as could well be made."—The Southern Christian Advocate, Feb. 25, '04.

THE "OXFORD INDIA PAPER"

IS UNIVERSALLY ADMITTED TO BE WITHOUT A RIVAL

THIS wonderful paper is a specialty of the Oxford Press, and is manufactured at their own paper mills. It was first produced in the year 1875, and has steadily grown in popular favor.

No other paper has yet been made that can approach it for its wonderful opacity, great toughness and softness, and its agreeable tone. The secret of its manufacture is known to only three living persons.

NOTE ON THE MARKINGS.

It is claimed for this book that it goes further in this direction than any previous book, and that it also indicates the pronunciation of certain other words, such as "leviathan," "homer," "cherub," etc., which cannot be called proper names, but which might present difficulties to an unskilled reader.

THE MARKED NEW TESTAMENT.

Philip's question, "Understandest thou what thou readest?" and the reply he received, "How can I, except some man should guide me?" probably occur more frequently to-day than ever; the advantage, therefore, of such markings as shown in these specimen pages is undoubted, in order to serve as finger-posts to those who are but little acquainted with the Bible.

The verses marked, will, under the Holy Spirit's teaching, help to make plain God's way of salvation through Christ. They deal exclusively with this subject in its various phases—the divinity and death of Jesus Christ, repentance, faith, obedience, etc.—and are not spread out over a variety of topics.

The Selection of Texts has been examined and approved by leading Bible students of different denominations, including Episcopalians, Methodists, Baptists, Congregationalists, Presbyterians, Friends, who reported as follows:

"We are of opinion that the Marked Testament will be very helpful in mission work, and to mission workers. Having examined the texts selected for marking, we consider that they are judiciously chosen for the purpose, and are not likely to give rise to controversy."

No flesh justified by ROMANS, 3. the deeds of the law.

God unrighteous who taketh vengeance? (I speak as a man)
6 God forbid: for then how shall God judge the world?
7 For if the truth of God hath more abounded through my lie unto his glory; why yet am I also judged as a sinner?
8 And not rather, (as we be slanderously reported, and as some affirm that we say,) Let us do evil, that good may come? whose damnation is just.
9 What then? are we better than they? No, in no wise: for we have better proved both Jews and Gentiles, that they are all under sin;
10 As it is written, There is none righteous, no, not one:
11 There is none that understandeth, there is none that seeketh after God.
12 They are all gone out of the way, they are together become unprofitable: there is none that doeth good, no, not one.
13 Their throat is an open sepulchre; with their tongues they have used deceit; the poison of asps is under their lips:
14 Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitterness:
15 Their feet are swift to shed blood:
16 Destruction and misery are in their ways:
17 And the way of peace have they not known:
18 There is no fear of God before their eyes.
19 Now we know that what things soever the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law: that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God.
20 Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin.
21 But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets:
22 Even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference:
23 For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God.
24 Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus:
25 Whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God;
26 To declare, I say, at this time his righteousness: that he might be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus.
27 Where is boasting then? It is excluded. By what law? of works? Nay: but by the law of faith.
28 Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith without the deeds of the law.
29 Is he the God of the Jews only? is he not also of the Gentiles? Yes, of the Gentiles also:
30 Seeing it is one God, which shall justify the circumcision by faith, and uncircumcision through faith.
31 Do we then make void the law through faith? God forbid: yea, we establish the law.

But it is these sort of brilliant masterstrokes which have given the Oxford Bible its high place in the world's esteem." Christian Nation, May 25, 1904.

encamped before [k] the mount. 3 And [l] Moses went up unto God, [m] and Jehovah called unto him out of the mountain, saying, Thus shalt thou say to the house of Jacob, and tell the children of Israel; 4 [n] Ye have seen what I did unto the Egyptians, and how [o] I bare you on eagles' wings, and brought you unto myself. 5 Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be [p] mine own possession [1] from among all peoples: for [q] all the earth is mine: 6 and ye shall be unto me [r] a kingdom of priests, and [s] a holy nation. These are the words which thou shalt speak unto the children of Israel. 7 And Moses came and called for the elders of the people, and set before them all these words and lightnings, and [h] a thick cloud upon the mount, and [i] the voice of a trumpet exceeding loud; and all the people that were in the camp [j] trembled. 17 And [k] Moses brought forth the people out of the camp to meet God; and they stood at the nether part of the mount. 18 And [l] mount Sinai was altogether on smoke, because Jehovah descended upon it in fire: and the smoke thereof ascended as the smoke of a furnace, and [m] the whole mount quaked greatly. 19 And when [i] the voice of the trumpet waxed louder and louder, Moses spake, and [n] God answered him by a voice. 20 And Jehovah came down upon mount Sinai, to the top of the mount: and Jehovah called Moses to the top of the mount; and Moses went up.

Special attention invited to the superbly printed "Oxford India Paper" Editions of Prayer Books and Hymnals.

The Oxford India Paper is a specialty of the Oxford Press, and is manufactured at the paper-mills of the Oxford University Press.

A distinguishing characteristic of the Oxford India Paper as compared with all so-called India Paper is that the impression on one side does not show through when the other side is being read.

A strip of this paper, only three inches in breadth, has been tested and found able to support a quarter of a hundredweight without yielding; a decisive proof of its exceeding toughness and durability.

The wonderful lightness of these books, the exceedingly clear type, the strength and excellence of binding, combine to place them far in advance of any book hitherto issued.

MORNING PRAYER. 9

Through the tender mercy of our God: whereby the day-spring from on high hath visited us;

To give light to them that sit in darkness, and in the shadow of death: and to guide our feet into the way of peace.

Jubilate Deo. Psalm c.

O BE joyful in the LORD, all ye lands: serve the LORD with gladness, and come before his presence with a song.

Be ye sure that the LORD he is God; it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves: we are his people, and the sheep of his pasture.

O go your way into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him, and speak good of his Name.

For the LORD is gracious, his mercy is everlasting: and his truth endureth from generation to generation.

THE CHURCH—MISSIONS. 221

4 Soon shall end the time of weeping,
Soon the reaping time will come;
Heaven and earth together keeping
God's eternal Harvest Home.
Saints and angels
Shout the world's great Harvest Home.

251 L. M.

LOOK from Thy sphere of endless day,
O God of mercy and of might!
In pity look on those who stray,
Benighted in this land of light.

2 In peopled vale, in lonely glen,
In crowded mart, by stream or sea,
How many of the sons of men
Hear not the message sent from Thee!

3 Send forth Thy heralds, Lord, to call
The thoughtless young, the hardened old,
A scattered, homeless flock, till all
Be gathered to Thy peaceful fold.

4 Send them Thy mighty word to speak,
Till faith shall dawn and doubt depart,
To awe the bold, to stay the weak,
And bind and heal the broken heart.

5 Then all these wastes, a dreary scene
That makes us sadden as we gaze,
Shall grow with living waters green,
And lift to heaven the voice of praise.

THE morning light is breaking;
The darkness disappears;
The sons of earth are waking
To penitential tears;

SING, with all the sons of glory
Sing the resurrection-song!
Death and sorrow, earth's dark story,
To the "former days" belong.
Even now the dawn is breaking,
Soon the night of time shall cease,
And, in God's own likeness waking,
Man shall know eternal peace.

THE LORD'S DAY. 23

29 C. M.

WITH joy we hail the sacred day,
Which God hath called His own;
With joy the summons we obey
To worship at His throne.

As here Thy servants throng
To breathe the humble, fervent prayer,
And pour the grateful song.

OXFORD TEACHERS' BIBLES

Paper, Printing, Helps, Illustrations

IN ADVANCE OF ALL OTHERS

"Since 1880, the Oxford Teachers' Bible has been acknowledged the greatest book marvel of modern times. The publishers have just brought out an edition with revised Helps which again puts this work clearly in advance of all others."

—Sunday-school Magazine.

The Paper

"The India paper, in which we believe this company leads the world, has made a revolution in the art of printing."—The Living Church.

No other paper has yet been made that can approach it for its wonderful opacity, great toughness and softness, and its agreeable tone, nor for the ease with which

The Pages Can be Turned

A distinguishing characteristic of the Oxford India paper, as compared with all so-called India paper, is that the impression on one side does not show through when the other side is being read.

The Printing

"Its letterpress is remarkably clear and distinct. This is appreciated the more because it is uncommon in Bibles. Long and close attention to the print of ordinary Bibles strains the strongest eyes, but the Oxford is not an ordinary Bible in this or in any other respect."—The Christian Nation.

The Helps

Rev. F. N. Peloubet, D.D., Author of "Peloubet's Notes on the International Lessons" says, January 14, 1899:

"I have been comparing the two editions of the Oxford Helps, your new one with mine dated 1893. Your appendix, and especially the new plates, and more especially the descriptions of them, which are a wholly new feature, add greatly to the value of these Helps. I shall refer to them as often as I can in my 'Notes on the Lessons.'"

The Christian Advocate, Nashville, Tenn.

"The Helps are real helps. Unlike those in many of the cheap Bibles, they are not simply thrown together in hodge-podge fashion, but represent the freshest and ablest work of the foremost modern scholars."

The Interior, Chicago, Ill.

"Helps prepared for this work by the most eminent Biblical scholars of the day, and revised up to the latest possible date, to keep in touch with the last discoveries of science, the last lights of interpretation. This edition has reached, in former issues, a sale of over two million copies, and it is safe to say that nothing offers even fair competition with it in general favor."

The Illustrations

The Sunday-school Times, September 17, 1898

Referring to the illustrations:—"In this department this Bible is probably far superior to any other of those commonly called Teachers' Bibles. Probably there does not exist another equally compact collection of the kind."

Oxford Modern French Series

EDITED BY LEON DELBOS.

THIS series contains not only romances and short stories, but also narratives of travel, biographies and essays. It is intended primarily for students who have advanced some little way in their knowledge of the French language, and do not need an explanation of every idiom or phrase somewhat out of the common; the notes therefore deal mainly with points of literary or historical interest. They have been written by teachers and persons of wide experience in education.

The texts have all been very carefully selected with the hope that this series may commend itself not only to schoolmasters, but also to parents and others who wish those under their charge to read good modern French books, and have hitherto not known what books could be chosen with absolute safety.

Applications for specimen copies should be made to Mr. HENRY FROWDE, Amen Corner, London.

Oxford Higher French Series

Edited by LEON DELBOS Extra fcap. 8vo

The Introductions are a novel feature. Originally they were to be all written in English, but as it was desired that they should be as characteristic as possible, and not merely extracted from reference books, but real studies of the various authors and their works, it was decided that editors should write each his introduction in his native language. The notes are less elementary, and it is hoped brighter and more interesting than is usual, and great care has been taken to adapt them to the character of each volume. So far as possible each volume has been adorned with a portrait of the author at the time he wrote his book.

George Gordon, Lord Byron

The popularity of the poems of Lord Byron is unquestioned. Since his death, seventy-five years ago, edition after edition in various forms, with and without illustrations, and in all civilized languages, has been published. These various editions are so well known that it would be presumptuous to issue one in any way inferior to its predecessors.

With this in mind the publishers have endeavored to improve on past efforts, especially as regards beauty and taste in manufacture.

New illustrations, consisting of drawings and etchings, about sixty-five in number, by Adrian Marcel, Frank T. Merrill, Edmund H. Garrett, R. Wesly Rand, and many others, have been made expressly for this set, and have never been issued before. The text is set from new type.

The set is complete in sixteen volumes, consisting of the complete poems, notes, letters, and journals, and his Life by Thomas Moore.

HISTORICAL MEMOIRS OF JOHN HENEAGE JESSE

THE original editions of these fascinating historical memoirs are rare and out of print. The only edition existing is a high-priced one, published by subscription, so that we are confident in offering this new and handsome edition to the public that we have a set of books of value and importance. We are especially encouraged in this belief, owing to the success of our previous editions of similar memoirs.

In appearance, the Jesse Memoirs are very attractive. The books are printed in type delightfully easy to read, on deckle edge paper, and have decorated title-pages. The illustrations are numerous and attractive, there being an average of seven etchings or photogravures in each volume. The striking cover design is by Amy M. Sacker.

Two volumes, large 16mo, cloth decorative, with over eighty full-page plates, deckle edge, flat back, gilt top, boxed . . . $3.00

The Same, three-quarters morocco 7.00

This book will appeal to many, — to the readers of romance and legends, to the lovers of the picturesque and beautiful in nature, and to the loyal sons and daughters of Erin. The first will revel in the tales of bygone days, the second will enjoy the word-pictures of Ireland's famous castles, lakes, and rock-bound shores, while the hearts of the third will be stirred and thrilled by the sympathetic account of the lives of her great men and women.

"The authors seem to have covered all the ground that could be covered in a work of this kind. It is full of tradition and romance to liven up the descriptive matter, and good use has been made of the great mass of legendary lore that enriches the history of the little green isle. There is no doubt that the object aimed at, the creating of a desire in the reader to see Ireland for himself, will be obtained." — Chicago Evening Post.

History and legend, description and comment, give delightful variety to the text; and the illustrations are particularly excellent.

"Ably discussed from the point of view of the intending visitor in two exquisitely made little volumes by Walter Taylor Field. In their format, these are two of the most attractive books of the season." — Cyrus Townsend Brady, in The Lamp.

The late Colonel Denby was American Minister to China from 1885 to 1898, and there could hardly be found a clearer, more comprehensive account of China, or one written with more insight and sympathetic understanding, than this book. From his position at court, the author was able to gain an unusual and intimate personal knowledge of the character and customs of this interesting people, their form of government, their commercial and business relations, their religious and social conditions.

"The book reads like the after-dinner talk of an accomplished speaker, whose knowledge and experience make his utterances well worth while. There are many evidences of the author's deep study of Chinese character, and the illustrations of Chinese traits he uses are selected with great care and discrimination. The book contains a wealth of information." — Boston Transcript.

The same, three-quarters levant morocco . . 5.00

Mr. McCrackan's extensive and prolonged travels through Switzerland and the Tyrol, and his appreciation of and love for this romantic district and its people, render him a most fitting medium to present its history, its scenic charms, the quaintness of its customs, and the personality of the Tyrolese to the reading public. His former work, "Romance and Teutonic Switzerland," has become a standard handbook of travel, and the recent editions of Baedeker's "Switzerland" pay it the unusual compliment of referring to it as a valuable book for the visitor to Switzerland.

This book is a companion volume in format to Miss Tozier's successful book of last season, "Among English Inns."

The author and the illustrator have thus described the charms of Normandy and Brittany, their churches and their châteaux, their architectural and natural beauties, not overlooking the quaint and picturesque characteristics of town and village life, and the manners and customs of their habitants. The books are a rare combination of fascinating information and unusually artistic illustrations.

Mr. Gibson's book is an account of a tour through rural France. "The book may well deserve that quaintly descriptive old word 'fetching.' It has all the elements of success, and real information about the inns, their tables d'hôte, their relative expensiveness and inexpensiveness, and plenty of historical data."—N. Y. Times Saturday Review of Books.

"A substantial volume which might well serve as a guide to travellers eager to get off the beaten tracks, and to see France in its characteristic features. "Americans who have gone over the same or a similar route will be glad to have their minds refreshed with delightful memories by reading Miss Tozier's account. The value of the book is greatly enhanced by the many photographs which bring us face to face with the old inns, the streets, the churches, and, not the least interesting, some curious old monuments and epitaphs."—N. Y. Evening Post.

The Music Lovers' Series

LOHENGRIN. By BERNARD CAPES.
THE VALKYRIES. By E. F. BENSON.
SIEGFRIED. By S. BARING-GOULD.

Each one volume, bound in cloth, library 12mo, illustrated in tint. Per volume $2.00
The Same, three-quarters morocco, per volume 5.00

The three new books which are added to the Music Lovers' Series this year are of distinct importance. Every one is interested in opera, and, of late years, the works of Wagner have become the most essential ones in the entire repertoire of grand opera.

These three volumes are novelized versions of Wagner's great operas, and it is believed that, even to those familiar with the famous music dramas, they will reveal even more clearly the greatness of the author's master-mind, while their aid to those who do not thoroughly understand the operas will be most helpful. In addition to their value for music lovers, the books make a wide appeal to the general public as absorbing works of fiction.

"These stories occupy almost the same position toward the 'Ring' dramas that Lamb's 'Tales from Shakespeare' occupy toward that author's plays, except that the authors have done more for Wagner's texts than Lamb did for those of Shakespeare. They retell the beautiful myths in condensed prose that has a charm all its own, and are a positive necessity to those who wish to understand the operas."—Musical Courier.

WORKS OF BLISS CARMAN

Mr. Bliss Carman

THE FRIENDSHIP OF ART.

By BLISS CARMAN.

Uniform with "The Kinship of Nature."

12mo, cloth decorative $1.50
The Same, three-quarters morocco . 3.50

Mr. Carman's first book of prose, "The Kinship of Nature," was the most widely read volume of essays of the publishing season of 1903–4. The second volume, tending to show the real relationship of Life to Nature and Art, offers this brilliant writer an even greater opportunity to impress upon his readers the truth of his idea.

"As remarkable for their sane and wholesome character as for the clearness and beauty of the style of the author." — From an editorial in the Washington Post by George M. Payne.

"They will appeal to young men and young women as Emerson's essays did." — Chicago Tribune.

"The reader gets from Mr. Carman's work a distinct flavor of individuality. His essays have a suggestion of wide horizons and the large sweep of landscape, and there are many sound and discriminating bits of criticism in them." — Outlook.

"Wholesome and optimistic, with poise and measure and temperate flow." — N. Y. Sun.

THE KINSHIP OF NATURE. By BLISS CARMAN.

One volume, library 12mo, cloth decorative, gilt top, with a photogravure portrait of Mr. Carman $1.50
The Same, three-quarters levant morocco 3.50

In these essays Mr. Carman discusses the relation of man to nature, the secret of happiness, the true philosophy, and topics of like trend, handling them with brilliancy and rare sympathy.

"There is safe and sure teaching throughout these essays, inspiration, and instruction. The meditative essayist, the optimistic social prophet, the poet of nature and man, combine in the rendering and the interpretation of these very old but new words of wisdom in as clear and beautiful a way as the Greek soothsayers could do." — Boston Transcript.

"It is a work to open here and there, and enjoy at random, for it is unified by atmosphere. Indeed, wherever we turn a page there is something worth reading and remembering." — The Reader.

THE POETRY OF LIFE. By BLISS CARMAN.

12mo, cloth decorative, with photogravure frontispiece $1.50
The Same, three-quarters morocco 3.50

Mr. Carman is in his element in this book of essays. Poet that he is, what could be more to his taste than to write of the poetry of life. To him life is all poetry, and it has no prose. An eager optimist, seeking ever beauty, saturated with the mere joy of living, his ideas find expression in English as beautiful as the thoughts it clothes. One cannot but be impressed with the truth of his ideals and the sincerity of his teachings.

"Nobody can read Mr. Carman's book without agreeing with him in every particular. People who are exacting in their ideals will derive as much pleasure from his book as they have ever experienced in reading a beautiful poem. The style, reasoning, lucidity, and rare common sense, aside from the flawlessness when regarded merely as a literary performance, will commend it to the cultured everywhere." — The Index.

"Perhaps the most perilous and the most alluring venture in the whole field of poetry is that which Mr. Carman has undertaken, in attempting to give us, in English verse, those lost poems of Sappho of which fragments have survived. The task is obviously one of imaginative and interpretive construction. Mr. Carman's method, apparently, has been to imagine each lost lyric as discovered, and then to translate it; for the indefinable flavor of the translation is maintained throughout." — Extract from Mr. Roberts's Introduction.

"The heart of the Greek lyric is here, the speech of the emotions, close to the beauty of earth, full of the joy of living, yet touched with a hint of sadness, — the pagan fear of death. The phrasing is simply fine." — Louisville Post.

"Mr. Carman, of all living writers of verse, was the man for this task. His temperament, his point of view, his love of life, his form of expression, are all pure Greek, and his splendid lyrical gift exhausts all the imaginable requirements." — Philadelphia Press.

"The book contains scarcely a line which, read by itself, will not delight the imagination. Mr. Carman's half-quantitative, unrhymed versification, with its subtle suggestion of Sapphic metre, is a technical triumph; the atmosphere and mood suffer no lapse, and the phrase is always suave and limpid. Sweetness of phrase and tune is everywhere in the book." — Atlantic Monthly.

ODES FROM THE DIVAN OF HAFIZ.

By RICHARD LEGALLIENNE, author of "The Quest of the Golden Girl," etc.

One volume, tall 12mo, decorative boards, with paper label . . . $2.00
The Same, Persian ooze leather, decorative 4.00

Richard LeGallienne

Mr. Richard LeGallienne's rendering of "The Odes of Hafiz," as in the case of his paraphrase of Omar Khayyam, has been made from literal prose versions of the poet, supplemented by his own fancy. While he has kept as closely as he deems necessary to his original, his aim, as before, has been to make English poetry, rather than a joyless shadow of a great classic. He offers this rendering in the first place as poetry, in the second as translation; but at the same time his aim has been, as faithfully as in him lies, truly to interpret the great Persian poet to English readers, so that the total result of his endeavor is really — if not literally — Hafiz.

"Of all the renderings of the Odes of Hafiz which we have seen, Mr. LeGallienne's is by all odds the best adapted to give the English reader an adequate idea of the poetry of Hafiz." — Literary Digest.

"Each of the matchless odes is a perfect gem varying in color, but equally full of fire. They will appeal to all modern lovers. The poems have exquisite imagery. The book is beautifully made, and its cover is the quintessence of art." — Minnie T. Antrim in Club Fellow.

"This is the quintessence of lyric poetry. It is a work of consummate art, and is certainly one of the very best volumes of English love poetry I have read." — Wilfred Scawen Blunt in London Spectator.

By arrangement with Mr. Le Gallienne, we also are able to offer a few copies of the limited de luxe editions, privately printed by Mr. Le Galliene, namely:

The paper edition (limited to 300 copies) . . . . . $15.00 net

CELEBRATED CRIMES OF THE RUSSIAN COURT.

Translated from the French of Alexandre Dumas by Mikael Gortshakov.

One volume, cloth decorative, profusely illustrated $3.00
The Same, three-quarters morocco. 6.00

Czar Peter I.

"Celebrated Crimes of the Russian Court" gives an absorbing account and a scathing arraignment of the social and political corruption of the Russian court that has existed for many centuries. Such historical crimes and atrocities as those of the rule of Ivan the Terrible, the massacre of the Strelitz Guard by Peter the Great, the seizure of the throne by Catherine II., and the sanguinary Revolution of 1825, are related with vividness and force by the great Dumas. His analysis of character and motives equals his descriptions of events; his pen-portraits of the two famous Czarinas, Elizabeth I. and Catherine II., heroines of many intrigues, both amatory and political, are veritable etchings.

The reader will gain from this book many powerful impressions of the secrets of court life, of the evils of an absolute autocracy and its inevitable degeneration. This work is now translated into English for the first time.

"Needless to say the book is alive with interest. Dumas's readers are certain of entertainment. The book is well worth while, and there is not a dull page in it."—Brooklyn Eagle.

"The translation is excellent, and the stories are told with the unfailing romantic charm that marks the longer and better known stories of Dumas."—Chicago Record-Herald.

VIVIAN GREY SYBIL
CONINGSBY TANCRED

The name of Benjamin Disraeli, Lord Beaconsfield, is world-wide, not only as a political genius, the organizer and leader of the "Young England" and Conservative parties, but also as a writer of incision and skill. If politics were his vocation, and literature his avocation, he is certainly one of the few men who have reaped as much glory from the latter as the former. The four volumes in this new edition present clearly the "Young England" movement, the judgments and ideals of the Young Tory party, as Disraeli conceived them. Giving, as they do, a clear insight into the contemporary political situation of the author's day, they are of interest to the reader of political fiction and to the student of politics, both ancient and modern.

THE ÆNEID OF VIRGIL.

New Illustrated Edition. Translated into English by JOHN D. LONG. With thirteen photogravure illustrations.

One vol., 8vo, cloth, gilt top, boxed $2.50
Half levant morocco, gilt top 5.00

Mr. Long has been very successful in maintaining the spirit of his original, rendering the forcible Latin into forcible English, and this with a vigor and purity that are somewhat rare in these days when ear-tickling rhythm and sweet concourse of sounds are in fashion. There is a vigorous, manly ring in his lines, suggesting the days when men wrote with perfect faith in the power and beauty of their mother tongue.

The Secret History of the Court of England

FROM THE ACCESSION OF GEORGE III. TO THE DEATH OF GEORGE IV. Including, among other Important Matters, Full Particulars of the Mysterious Death of the Princess Charlotte and the Murder of the Duke of Cumberland's valet, Sellis.

By

The Right Honorable Lady Anne Hamilton

A reprint in full of the original edition, published in London in 1832.

Two vols., octavo, illustrated with sixteen rare portraits in photogravure, cloth . . . . . $ 6.00

The Same, three-quarters levant morocco 12.00

Lady Hamilton's Memoirs first appeared in 1832, two years after the death of George IV. They were immediately suppressed, presumably by the orders of the English Government, who probably feared the effect they would have on the public. In her work Lady Hamilton passionately declares that there had been a conspiracy against her mistress, the unfortunate Princess Charlotte, and produces evidence that she was poisoned, with the knowledge, if not by the direct connivance, of certain of the royal family. The rest of the Memoirs is a scathing arraignment of the morality of the Court and an intimate history of its intrigues, political and social.

The present edition is a reprint in full of the original edition, with the addition of elaborate indexes. The type used is from an entirely new font, full-faced, set in a small page, easy to read and with ample margins. The paper is an antique laid, deckle edge, specially made for this edition at the celebrated Cumberland Mills.

The work is illustrated with sixteen beautiful photogravure portraits of the leading personages who figure in its pages. These illustrations are reproductions of rare old prints, collected at great expense from many sources. In their selection care was taken to use only authentic portraits from life, and as far as was possible only those signed by the great portrait painters of that day.

MILITARISM; OR, PEACE AND WAR AT THE BEGINNING OF THE TWENTIETH CENTURY. By G. FERRERO. Price . . $3.50 net, postpaid, $3.68

The agitation for the disarmament of Europe, and the movements toward general peace, as exemplified by The Hague Tribunal, have called forth a number of works on the military systems of Europe, and the terrible burden which they bring in taxes and personal service, on the people. Mr. Ferrero has had an excellent opportunity for the study of the question, and, consequently, his work, a scholarly and exhaustive discussion, should contain many new ideas which it is hoped will assist in a clearer insight into this much discussed subject. A few of the leading topics that he takes up are as follows: The Origin of War, Militarism in the Ancient World, The Death-Throes of a Nation, Napoleon and Militarism in France, Germany, and England, The United States as a Military Power, etc.

History

A HISTORY OF CANADA.

Large 8vo, cloth, gilt top . . . . . $2.00 net. Postpaid, $2.18

No other living writer is so equipped for an ideal history of Canada as Professor Roberts, who unites profound scholarship, balanced judgment, rich and graceful style, and a patriotic love for the land of his birth.

Noble is the word to characterize this new and obviously just history of the British Dominion in North America. A stimulating breeze of freshness seems to blow through it. We find the influence of Parkman, which is as it should be, but the point of view is distinct and modern.

This book is of particular interest to Americans for its independent treatment of the many questions in dispute between the two countries, from the Revolution to the present. With its maps, charts, appendices, giving the British and Imperial acts in full, and with its compactness of presentation and its fine perspective, it is of equal value for the citizen's library or a university text.

WORKS OF ALICE MacGOWAN AND GRACE MacGOWAN COOKE

RETURN: A Story of the Sea Islands in 1739. With six illustrations by C. D. Williams.

Library 12mo, cloth . . . $1.50

"Fascinating in atmosphere, crowded with dramatic situations, and sparkling in dialogue. It is difficult to conceive of a story in which the element of picturesqueness enters more effectively. 'Return,' with its short, unusual title of Anglo-Saxon strength and terseness, gives promise of a story out of the ordinary, a promise which is abundantly fulfilled." — The Reader.

"So rich in color is this story, so crowded with figures, it seems like a bit of old Italian wall painting, a piece of modern tapestry, rather than a modern fabric woven deftly from the threads of fact and fancy gathered up in this new and essentially practical country, and therein lies its distinctive value and excellence." — N. Y. Sun.

"At once tender, thrilling, picturesque, philosophical, and dramatic. One of the most delightful romances we have had in many a day." — Chicago Record-Herald.

THE GRAPPLE. With frontispiece in color by Arthur W. Brown.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

This story of a strike in the coal mines of Illinois gives both sides of the labor question, — the Union and its methods and the non-Union workers and their loyal adherents, with a final typical clash at the end. The question is an absorbing one, and it is handled fearlessly.

"To every thinking person who is in any degree a student of the greatest specific problem of to-day 'The Grapple' will strongly appeal. There is a pretty love-story interwoven, and the number of fearlessly drawn pen portraits adds deep interest to the work." — Detroit Free Press.

"The movement of the tale is swift and dramatic. The story is so original, so strong, and so finely told that it deserves a large and thoughtful public. It is a book to read with both enjoyment and enlightenment." — N. Y. Times Saturday Review of Books.

THE LAST WORD. Illustrated with seven portraits of the heroine.

Library 12mo, cloth, gilt top $1.50

"The story begins and ends in Western Texas. Between chapters there is the ostensible autobiography of a girl who makes her way in New York journalism. Out of it all comes a book, vivid, bright, original, — one of a kind, and the kind most welcome to readers of the hitherto conventional." — New York World.

WORKS OF MARSHALL SAUNDERS.

Marshall Saunders.

DEFICIENT SAINTS:

A TALE OF MAINE. By MARSHALL SAUNDERS, author of "Rose à Charlitte," "Beautiful Joe," "'Tilda Jane," etc. Illustrated by Frank T. Merrill.

One vol., library 12mo, cloth, decorative cover, $1.50

In this charming story Marshall Saunders follows closely the fortunes of a French family whose history is bound up with that of the old Pine-tree State. These French people become less and less French until, at last, they are Americans, intensely loyal to their State and their country. Although "Deficient Saints" is by no means a historical novel, frequent references are made to the early romantic history of Maine.

Blended with the story are skilful allusions to the religious struggles of the characters in the book, — orthodoxy and the higher criticism. French or Puritan, which shall prevail? One interest must triumph — one does. Next in importance to the religious element in this book is the sentiment of passionate loyalty. These sons and daughters of Maine are faithful to their native State. Her proud motto, "Dirigo," is stamped on their hearts.

HER SAILOR. A NOVEL. By MARSHALL SAUNDERS. With a frontispiece by H. C. Ireland.

One vol., library 12mo, cloth, decorative cover $1.25

A story of modern life of great charm and pathos, dealing with the love-affairs of an American girl and an officer of the merchant marine.

"A real love-story, refreshing and sweet, as every reader will find it." — Utica Herald.

"It is clean and wholesome, with the smell of the salt sea." — Omaha Bee.

". . . A fine character sketch and an entertaining story." — Chicago Bookseller.

ROSE A CHARLITTE: AN ACADIEN ROMANCE. By MARSHALL SAUNDERS, author of "Beautiful Joe," etc. Illustrated by H. De M. Young.

One vol., library 12mo, cloth, decorative cover $1.50

In this novel, the scene of which is laid principally in the land of Evangeline, Marshall Saunders has made a departure from the style of her earlier successes. The historical and descriptive setting of the novel is accurate, the plot is well conceived and executed, and the characters are drawn with a firm and delightful touch. The idyllic life of this people, their strong sympathies, unique traditions, and peculiar customs, their fine characters and racial traits, are brought into view as the story unfolds itself.

"A very fine novel. We unhesitatingly pronounce it . . . one of the books that stamp themselves at once upon the imagination, and remain imbedded in the memory long after the covers are closed." — Literary World, Boston.

"Unusually beautiful in treatment; and the simple lives of the Acadien peasants, especially of Rose à Charlitte and her cousin, Agapit le Noir, are exquisite in honesty and primitive beauty." — Chicago Times-Herald.

WORKS OF GABRIELE D'ANNUNZIO

Signor d'Annunzio is known throughout the world as a poet and a dramatist, but above all as a novelist, for it is in his novels that he is at his best. In poetic thought and graceful expression he has few equals among the writers of the day.

He is engaged on a most ambitious work — nothing less than the writing of nine novels which cover the whole field of human sentiment. This work he has divided into three trilogies, and five of the nine books have been published. It is to be regretted that other labors have interrupted the completion of the series.

"This book is realistic. Some say that it is brutally so. But the realism is that of Flaubert, and not of Zola. There is no plain speaking for the sake of plain speaking. Every detail is justified in the fact that it illuminates either the motives or the actions of the man and woman who here stand revealed. It is deadly true. The author holds the mirror up to nature, and the reader, as he sees his own experiences duplicated in passage after passage, has something of the same sensation as all of us know on the first reading of George Meredith's 'Egoist.' Reading these pages is like being out in the country on a dark night in a storm. Suddenly a flash of lightning comes and every detail of your surroundings is revealed." — Review of "The Triumph of Death" in the New York Evening Sun.

"Mr. Cullum has put into his story some good character drawing and an excellent portrayal of the simple, homely, enjoyable life which went on among the prosperous ranchmen of Manitoba in the transition period when the old régime under the Hudson Bay Company was passing away, and the new one of law and order was not quite firmly established." — *N. SLAVES OF SUCCESS. With twenty illustrations by Jay Hambidge.

Library 12mo, cloth $1.50

"In addition to having given the reading public the best collection of political short stories we have yet seen, Mr. Flower has blazed a new trail in the more or less explored country of practical politics in fiction. There is not a story in the book which is not clever in construction, and significant in every sentence. Each is excellent, because it depicts character accurately and realistically, while unfolding a well-defined plot." — New York Evening Post.

WORKS OF THEODORE ROBERTS

BROTHERS OF PERIL. With four illustrations in color by H. C. Edwards.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

A tale of Newfoundland in the sixteenth century, and of the now extinct Beothic Indians who lived there.

"An original and absorbing story. A dashing story with a historical turn. There is no lack of excitement or action in it, all being described in vigorous, striking style. To be sure, the ending is just what is expected, but its strength lies in its naturalness, and this applies to the whole story, which is never overdone; and this is somewhat remarkable, for there are many scenes that could be easily spoiled by a less skilful writer. A story of unusual interest." — Boston Transcript.

HEMMING, THE ADVENTURER. With six illustrations by A. G. Learned.

"A remarkable interpretation of the nomadic war correspondent's life." — N. Y. Evening Post.

It shows much strength and much mature power. We should expect such a writer to be full of capital short stories." — The Reader.

This is just the sort of a story that girls love, with its sweetness and its fragrance and its faint echo of days long gone, with a suspicion of present-day romance at the end.

SONGS AND RHYMES FOR THE LITTLE ONES.

Compiled by Mary Whitney Morrison (Jenny Wallis).

New edition, with an introduction by Mrs. A. D. T. Whitney and eight illustrations.

Large 12mo, cloth decorative $1.00

No better description of this admirable book can be given than Mrs. Whitney's happy introduction:

"One might almost as well offer June roses with the assurance of their sweetness, as to present this lovely little gathering of verse, which announces itself, like them, by its deliciousness. Yet, as Mrs. Morrison's charming volume has long been a delight to me, I am only too happy to declare that it is to me the most bewitching book of songs for little people that I have ever known."

THE ROSAMOND TALES. By Cuyler Reynolds. With 30 full-page illustrations from original photographs, and with a frontispiece from a drawing by Maud Humphreys.

BLACK BEAUTY: The Autobiography of a Horse. By Anna Sewell.

New Illustrated Edition. With nineteen full-page drawings by Winifred Austin.

One vol., large 12mo, cloth decorative, gilt top $1.25

There have been many editions of this classic, but we confidently offer this one as the most appropriate and handsome yet produced. The illustrations are of special value and beauty. Miss Austin is a lover of horses, and has delighted in tracing with her pen the beauty and grace of the noble animal.

"YOURS WITH ALL MY HEART:" The Autobiography of a Real Dog. By Esther M. Baxendale. Very full illustrated with upwards of a hundred drawings by Etheldred B. Barry.

PHYLLIS' FIELD FRIENDS SERIES

By LENORE E. MULETS. Six vols., cloth decorative, illustrated. Sold separately, or as a set.

Per volume . . $1.00
Per set, 6 vols., boxed 6.00

1. INSECT STORIES.
2. FLOWER STORIES.
3. BIRD STORIES.
4. STORIES OF LITTLE ANIMALS.
5. TREE STORIES.
6. STORIES OF LITTLE FISHES.

In this series of five little Nature books, it is the author's intention so to present to the child reader the facts about each particular flower, insect, bird, or animal, in story form, as to make delightful reading of the facts of science, which the child is to verify through his field lessons and experiences.

Classical legends, myths, poems, and songs are so presented as to correlate fully with these lessons, to which the excellent illustrations are no little help.

"Here is a pretty and original idea, cleverly carried out. The author has collected a great variety of material, stories and verses, from the pens of prominent writers, and has classified them under the headings indicated by the titles. She has also prepared additional material in the form of stories, or little natural history talks. The volumes will afford the best kind of entertainment, and no intelligent child will read them without unconsciously benefiting from them. None of the juveniles of the season are to be commended more heartily." — St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE LITTLE COUSIN SERIES

Price per volume $0.60

The books are the most interesting and delightful accounts possible of the children in other countries. The daily home life of each little cousin is described, his mode of dress, his work and his play, the quaint customs of his people and some of the adventures he is sure to have. The information contained is absolutely accurate, and the stories are so charmingly written that the readers do not realize how much information they are really obtaining.

"It is a very clever idea to gather a good deal of information about child-life in various countries, and present it in the interesting form of stories of children. We hope the publishers will extend the series to embrace other of our little cousins, for certainly children everywhere will welcome such books." — The Living Church.

Specimen illustration (reduced)

"To many youthful minds this little series of books may open up the possibilities of a foreign world to which they had been total strangers. And interest in this wider sphere, the beyond and awayness, may bear rich fruit in the future." — N. Y. Commercial Advertiser.

It is the intention of the publishers that this series shall contain only the very highest and purest literature, — stories that shall not only appeal to the children themselves, but be appreciated by all those who feel with them in their joys and sorrows, — stories that shall be most particularly adapted for reading aloud in the family circle.

The numerous illustrations in each book are by well-known artists, and each volume has a separate attractive cover design.

The series has already attracted the attention not only of parents and children, but of young people's reading unions and circles throughout the country, and has been adopted for use as sup-

The stories are mainly new copyrighted fiction, including the works of such engaging writers as Mrs. Annie Fellows Johnston, whose "Little Colonel" books have attained a favor scarcely second to Miss Alcott's "Little Women," Miss Edith Robinson, whose stories of child-life in Puritan days have won such popularity, and Miss Frances Margaret Fox, whose outdoor stories of children and birds and the wild dooryard creatures have all the charm of reality. On the other hand, the older favorites have not been neglected; and there is a well-chosen list of such child-classics as the stories of John Ruskin, Miss Mulock, and Ouida.

tion from this list. There is the historical story, the story of natural history, the story of adventure, the story of every-day modern child-life, and the dear old-fashioned fairy story. They are all alike in one respect, and one only,—that of being entirely wholesome, interesting little stories, safe to place in the hands of any child.

The attractive bindings, the charming illustrations, and the low price, combine to make this series appeal strongly to those whose privilege it is to provide reading for children.

The Goldenrod Library

The great popularity which has been accorded our established series of books for young people, THE COSY CORNER SERIES, together with our appreciation of the fact that there is a large demand for the best juvenile literature at even less than the cost of that series, has induced us to inaugurate THE GOLDENROD LIBRARY, beginning with twenty volumes for 1905-6. Other volumes will be added each year.

Like its prototype, the Cosy Corner Series, the Goldenrod Library will contain only the highest and purest literature, — stories which appeal alike both to children and to their parents and guardians. They will be principally new copyrighted fiction, with an occasional exception in favor of a new edition of some child classic, and are offered at a price to bring them within the reach of all.

Each volume is well illustrated from drawings by competent artists, which, together with their handsomely decorated uniform binding, showing the Goldenrod, usually considered the emblem of America, is a feature of their manufacture.

Each one volume, small 12mo, illustrated, decorated cover, paper wrapper $0.35

Announcement List of

NEW PUBLICATIONS for 1906

We take pleasure in announcing the following publications for the season of 1906, and in calling attention to the number of well-known authors whose names will be found on the list, which includes new books by Charles G. D. Roberts, Burton E. Stevenson, Bliss Carman, Morley Roberts, Capt. T. Jenkins Hains, Stephen Conrad, Annie Fellows Johnston, Lilian Bell, James Otis, and Marshall Saunders.

It will be noticed that we have an unusually large and excellent list of new juvenile books.

Castles and Chateaux of Old Touraine and the Loire Country.

By Francis Miltoun, author of "Rambles in Normandy," "Cathedrals of Northern and Southern France," etc. With eight colored plates and upwards of fifty other illustrations by Blanche McManus.

One volume, cloth decorative, boxed $3.00
The same, three-quarters morocco, boxed 7.00

Mr. Miltoun's love for and knowledge of old France shows him at his best in this volume. He knows every nook and cranny of the old chateaux, and has their histories and legends by heart. His knowledge of art and architecture is sound and scholarly, and his descriptions are illuminated by Miss McManus's splendid illustrations. His books on the Cathedrals of Northern and Southern France are widely known and used as hand-books by travellers and tourists.

Some Opinions of Mr. Miltoun's Books on Cathedrals:

"Mr. Miltoun has put enthusiasm, rare ability, and love for cathedral architecture and history into an extremely interesting volume." — Cleveland Leader.

"There is a liberal judgment evinced and a nice balance kept between dry fact and juicy comment." — Chicago Evening Post.

"His descriptions are brilliant, and the books are fascinating guides not only for travellers but for readers of French history." — Louisville Courier-Journal.

The Travel Lovers' Library

Uniform with "Venice," "Paris," "Florence," etc.

CITIES OF NORTHERN ITALY.

Volume I. MILAN.

Volume II. VERONA, PADUA, BOLOGNA, AND RAVENNA.

By Grant Allen and George C. Williamson. With eighty full-page plates, deckle edge, gilt tops, flat backs.

Two volumes, crown 16mo, cloth decorative, boxed . $3.00
Three-quarters morocco 7.00

The cities of Northern Italy treated in these two volumes include Milan, Verona, Padua, Bologna, and Ravenna. Each is separated widely from the others by customs, dialect, art, and traditions, and each possesses distinct claims to the consideration of traveller and reader, and has its own supreme attractions, which are well worth visiting and studying.

Mr. Allen's charming books on Paris, Venice, etc., are an earnest of the worth of the present volumes, and although his death occurred before he was able to complete "Cities of Northern Italy," his work was so completely planned and had so far progressed that Mr. Williamson, who had been his friend for years, and who had assisted him with his former books, was well able to complete these. They are now offered in an illustrated edition, for the first time, uniform with his previous works.

Reviews of Mr. Allen's Books:

"No guide-book of Florence has ever approached this edition in intimate knowledge of history and love of art, the local color, or in the skilled yet popular criticism of its treasures." — Brooklyn Eagle.

"One of the most versatile geniuses that ever adorned literature was Grant Allen, and his book on Paris is one of the most distinctly satisfying of his books that we know." — Philadelphia Press.

"The reader finds new beauty in scenery and pictures, in art and in architecture, after reading this volume on Venice." — New Orleans Picayune.

Books for Travel Lovers

A WOMAN ALONE IN THE HEART OF JAPAN.

By Mrs. G. Adams-Fisher. One volume, with especially selected original illustrations, cloth decorative, boxed . $2.50
The same, three-quarters morocco, boxed 6.00

Mrs. Adams-Fisher has spent many years abroad, and this book is the outgrowth of her experiences and observations while travelling alone through Japan. She went into the remotest districts, and became familiar with the habits of life, the quaint customs, and the queer conditions in the flowery kingdom, living in places which interested her for weeks at a time, and studying the people at short range. Her book is bright and trenchant, full of piquant anecdotes, and new ideas on the old world. Her own experiences were uncommon and most interesting, and she has described them vividly. The author pays high tribute to the courtesy and generosity of these brave little people, and describes in glowing terms the natural beauties of their country.

RAMBLES ON THE RIVIERA.

By Francis Miltoun, author of "Rambles in Normandy," "Rambles in Brittany," "Cathedrals and Churches of the Rhine," etc. With colored frontispiece and many illustrations and decorations by Blanche McManus.

One volume, octavo, cloth decorative, boxed . . $2.50
The same, three-quarters morocco, boxed 6.00

The charms of the Riviera are described in this volume in the same manner in which those of Normandy and Brittany were portrayed in the previous books in the series. The Riviera, with its beauties of nature, its wonderful climate, and its life and gaiety, is the Mecca for tourists the world over, and it is safe to say that none of its charm will pass unnoted in Mr. Miltoun's forthcoming book.

The Chicago News said concerning "Rambles in Normandy," and "Rambles in Brittany:" "Interesting and illuminating descriptions of the literary and historic shrines in the old French provinces, and an appreciative survey of the individual characteristics, manners, and customs of those conservative regions of old France."

Little Pilgrimages Among Famous Inns of the Old World Series

Uniform with "Among English Inns" and "Among French Inns."

AMONG BAVARIAN INNS. By Roy Fraprie.

One volume, octavo, cloth decorative, with many illustrations . $2.00
The same, three-quarters morocco 5.00

This book is a record of leisurely travel in Bavaria. It touches upon some of the less-known sides of life in Munich, perhaps the most pleasure-loving and outwardly care-free of European cities, and describes the artists' and students' resorts, and their carnival and popular festivals. Trips are made to the inns of Southern Bavaria, and to the royal castles of Neuchwanstein, Hohenschwangau, and Linderhof, the monuments of the mad King Ludwig II.

A coaching trip is described from Oberammergau through the picturesque Bavarian highland to Innsbruck and back across the Achensee, with stops at the famous Hotel Scholastika, the Kurhaus at Wildbad Kreuth and the Tegernsee to Munich.

"The Three Moors" in Augsburg, one of the oldest hotels in Europe, is visited, as is also Nuremberg, and that quaint mediæval city of Rothenburg on the Tauber.

Through the whole book runs a thread of human interest, blended of all the elements to be found in a community as cosmopolitan as Munich, the crossroads of Europe.

THE ART OF THE DRESDEN GALLERY. By Julia DeW. Addison, author of "The Art of the National Gallery," "The Art of the Pitti Palace," etc.

The "Art Galleries of Europe Series," containing volumes of description and intelligent comment on the great art galleries of Europe, is an interesting and important contribution to art literature. The books are valuable not only to lovers of art, but to all who want to know something about the great movements in the development of the beautiful. Mrs. Addison's two previous volumes have been very successful, and this third will be a welcome addition to the series.

"Mrs. Addison's task of careful selection and critical estimation has been wisely and skilfully performed, without bias or prejudice. Not only are the masterpieces of the centuries presented, but also their immortal creators in sharp, spirited outlines, and with illuminating, vitalizing, historic charm. To many graces of eloquent description the author adds a rare biographical talent of condensation and selection. — Philadelphia North American.

MEMOIRS OF THE PRETENDERS AND THEIR ADHERENTS. By John Heneage Jesse. With photogravure or etched frontispieces.

Three volumes, silk ribbed de luxe cloth, with leather labels stamped in gold, per set . . . . . $ 7.50
Half red leather, per set 10.00

The most romantic and fascinating events in history cluster around the various Pretenders to the English throne, and their ill-fated attempts to enforce their claims.

These three volumes include, besides the known facts of history, all the intimate and secret details of their lives, and the inner history of the court, obtained from reliable private sources. The "Memoirs" are as captivating as any modern romance, and have the added virtue of truth.

The Cathedral Series

Uniform with "The Cathedrals of England," "The Cathedrals and Churches of the Rhine," etc.

THE CATHEDRALS OF ITALY. (In preparation for 1907.) By Francis Miltoun, author of "The Cathedrals of Northern France," "The Cathedrals of the Rhine," etc. With many illustrations from drawings by Blanche McManus.

One volume, octavo, decorative cover, boxed . . $2.50
The same, three-quarters morocco, boxed . . . 6.00

This series affords a splendid chance for the lover of art and architecture to study the glorious grand and lesser cathedrals of Europe. The text is authoritative and scholarly, and fills the gap between a guide-book and an architectural work of reference. It combines a description of the technical beauties of the cathedrals and the wealth of legend surrounding them in an entertaining manner.

"The traveller abroad will find these books unusually desirable additions to his stock of guide-books, since they furnish in popular and convenient form abundant information not always accessible. They are beautifully illustrated and are decidedly attractive volumes." — Christian Register.

Gift Books Illustrated in Colors

IN COLONIAL DAYS. By Nathaniel Hawthorne. With seven drawings in color and thirty-seven other illustrations, by Frank T. Merrill.

One volume, cloth decorative, boxed $2.50
The same, three-quarters morocco, boxed, . . 6.00

This is a charming holiday edition of a great author's work which includes the following little masterpieces: "Howe's Masquerade;" "Edward Randolph's Portrait;" "Lady Eleanor's Mantle," and "Old Esther Dudley."

Nathaniel Hawthorne, better than any other American author, caught the real spirit of early life in the American Colonies, and his subtle portrayal of that spirit makes these stories especially appealing at the present time, when the interest in all matters pertaining to the early periods of American history and society is widespread and growing.

The colored and black and white illustrations are in Mr. Merrill's best style.

Mrs. Jameson's Standard Work on Sacred and Legendary Art

LEGENDS OF THE MADONNA. Dealing with pictures of the Virgin Mary. First published in 1852.

New Edition. One volume, square octavo, beautifully illustrated with photogravures and a large number of text plates. Bound in half vellum, with blue leather label $3.00

Mrs. Jameson's works, especially those on art, are of such rare literary merit, and written with such deep and comprehensive insight, that they are included among the classics of the nineteenth century. Among the most valuable are the three books comprising the series on "Sacred and Legendary Art," of which the first volume is "Legends of the Madonna," which deals not so much with religion as with art. This new edition is reprinted from the best one existent, revised and enlarged by the author during her lifetime, and now carefully edited. The original illustrations are reproduced and twenty-seven photogravure plates added.

Edition de Luxe of The Memoirs of Benvenuto Cellini

One volume, square octavo, leather, illustrated . . . $3.00

The autobiographical memoirs of this splendidly gifted and barbarically untamable artist of the Italian Renaissance set forth one of the most singular careers in all the annals of art. The directness and racy animation with which Cellini recounts his varying and romantic exploits make it one of the most fascinating books in existence.

This edition is very striking in binding and general format. The size is square octavo, the illustrations comprise four photogravures, from photographs by Alinari of Florence, and the binding is in brown leather, after an old Florentine style, richly tooled and decorated.

PIPES OF PAN. Definitive Edition. By Bliss Carman.

Complete in one volume, with decorative cover from a painting of Pan, by Edna M. Sawyer, and with a new photogravure portrait of the author, boxed . . . . $2.00 net
The same, three-quarters morocco, boxed . . 5.00 net

This volume contains all those poems published in the five books in the "Pipes of Pan" Series — "From the Book of Myths," "From the Green Book of the Bards," "Songs of the Sea Children," "Songs from a Northern Garden," and "From the Book of Valentines" — thus presenting in compact form that charming series of lyrics and nature-idylls.

DREAM VERSES AND OTHERS. By Elizabeth Roberts MacDonald, author of "Our Little Canadian Cousin."

Cloth, decorated . . . . . $1.00 net
Limp leather . . . . . 1.50 net

Mrs. MacDonald's verse is fresh and unhackneyed, with many a charming turn of fancy and many an expression full of grace and sweetness. She shares with her brothers, Professor Charles G. D. Roberts and Theodore Roberts, both poets of no common order, the true poetic instinct, combined with the happy faculty of adequate expression. Like them, she sees beauty in all things and gives it free expression.

THE PILOT. Daily Guidance from Master Minds.

Square 16mo, India paper, 376 pages, gilt edges, limp leather, $1.00 net.

A compilation of quotations accumulated during a period of nearly twenty years, which have proved to be of enduring value.

The object of the compilation is to develop and call into service the whole personality, to stimulate both heart and head, thought, devotion and action, insight and sympathy.

The book begins by calling attention to the plain moralities of daily life, — conscience, will, thought, and action, — and the moral order which is involved in the most elementary duties; then follow the great truths on which the soul's life is maintained and nourished; then the finer virtues of the Christian character, the perils which make life's journey dangerous, the powers by which they are overcome, and the victory of the spiritual life.

One page is devoted to each day in the year, and the authors represented are the master minds of all the centuries.

"Who could take up such a book, admirably translated by the way, and not be simply and absolutely spellbound ?" — London Truth.

New Spring Fiction

THE PASSENGER FROM CALAIS: A Detective Story. By Arthur Griffiths. Cover design by Eleanor Hobson $1.25

A bright, quickly moving detective story telling of the adventures which befell a mysterious lady flying from Calais through France into Italy, closely pursued by detectives. Her own quick wits, aided by those of a gallant fellow passenger, give the two officers an unlooked-for and exciting "run for their money." One hardly realizes till now the dramatic possibilities of a railway train, and what an opportunity for excitement may be afforded by a joint railway station for two or more roads.

It is a well-planned, logical detective story of the better sort, free from cheap sensationalism and improbability, developing surely and steadily by means of exciting situations to an unforeseen and satisfactory ending. First edition sold out on publication.

THE IDLERS. By Morley Roberts, author of "Rachel Marr," "Lady Penelope," etc.
With frontispiece in color by John C. Frohn . . $1.50

The London Literary World says:

"In 'The Idlers' Mr. Morley Roberts does for the smart set of London what Mrs. Wharton has done in 'The House of Mirth' for the American social class of the same name. His primary object seems to be realism, the portrayal of life as it is without exaggeration, and we were impressed by the reserve displayed by the novelist in comparison with the ordinary divorce court reports in the daily papers. It is a powerful novel, a merciless dissection of modern society similar to that which a skilful surgeon would make of a pathological case."

The New York Sun says:

"It is as absorbing as the devil. Mr. Roberts gives us the antithesis of 'Rachel Marr' in an equally masterful and convincing work."

Professor Charles G. D. Roberts says:

"It is a work of great ethical force."

CAROLINA LEE. By Lilian Bell, author of "Hope Loring," "Abroad with the Jimmies," etc.

With a frontispiece in color from an oil painting by Dora Wheeler Keith $1.50

A typical "Lilian Bell" book, bright, breezy, amusing, philosophic, full of fun and bits of quotable humor.

Carolina is a fascinating American girl, born and educated in Paris, and at the beginning of the story riding on the top wave of success in New York society. A financial catastrophe leaves her stranded without money, and her only material asset an old, run-down plantation in South Carolina. In the face of strong opposition she goes South to restore the old homestead and rebuild her fortunes. Complications speedily follow, but, with indomitable faith and courage, Carolina perseveres until her efforts are rewarded by success and happiness.

Of Her Previous Books the Critics Have Said:

"Entertaining and brilliant." — Boston Transcript.

"She has keen insight into the workings of human nature." — Chicago Record-Herald.

"Sparkling, refreshing, and modern." — Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"Fresh and original, with an irresistible and charming humor." — San Francisco Bulletin.

"Two things in particular Lilian Bell does superlatively well. She draws adorable young women and writes with inimitable power and grace of the dear, delightful details of domestic life." — Dorothy Dix in New Orleans Picayune.

"Her stories are told in a way to add to the gaiety of nations. There is much wisdom as well as wit in her pages and plenty of solid common sense." — N. Y. Sun.

"Miss Bell's work carries truth enough for conviction and humor enough for sweetness and light. Lively and amusing incidents and experiences fairly chase each other through Miss Bell's brilliant pages." — Philadelphia North American.

"The gentle variety of humor which used to have Frank Stockton as its chief exponent pervades Miss Bell's work." — George Seibel in Pittsburg Gazette.

"If you like to be in the company of really delightful persons, whether they are spending a rainy day indoors, or creating a new philosophy, or merely gossiping about each other, you will find thorough entertainment in Miss Bell's books." — St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE COUNT AT HARVARD: Being an Account of the Adventures of a Young Gentleman of Fashion at Harvard University. By Rupert Sargent Holland.

With a characteristic cover design by Amy Sacker . $1.50

With the possible exception of Mr. Flandrau's work, the "Count at Harvard" is the most natural and the most truthful exposition of average student life yet written, and is thoroughly instinct with the real college atmosphere. "The Count" is not a foreigner, but is the nickname of one of the principal characters in the book.

The story is clean, bright, clever, and intensely amusing. Typical Harvard institutions, such as the Hasty Pudding Club, The Crimson, the Crew, etc., are painted with deft touches, which will fill the soul of every graduate with joy, and be equally as fascinating to all college students.

THE CRUISE OF THE MOTOR-BOAT CONQUEROR: Being the Further Adventures of the Motor Pirate. By G. Sydney Paternoster, author of "The Motor Pirate," etc.

With a frontispiece by Frank T. Merrill $1.50

One of the most fascinating games to childhood is the old-fashioned "hide-and-seek," with its scurrying for covert, its breathless suspense to both hider and seeker, and its wild dash for goal when the seeker is successful. Readers of "The Motor Pirate" will remember the exciting game played by the motor pirate and his pursuers, and will be glad to have the sport taken up again in the new volume.

In "The Cruise of the Conqueror," a motor-boat enables the "motor pirate" to pursue his victims in even a bolder and more startling way, such, for example, as the hold-up of an ocean steamer and the seizure for ransom of the Prince of Monte Carlo.

Selections from Reviews of "The Motor Pirate:"

"Perhaps the best quality of 'The Motor Pirate' is its originality. The story is lively, with abundant excitement and a somewhat unusual romance." — Boston Transcript.

"It has triple interest, — crime, detection, romance." — N. Y. Evening Mail.

"The author has created a criminal gifted with rare ingenuity, whose car is the supreme realization of every enthusiastic motorist." — Philadelphia North American.

"A stirring story of crime and detection, love and the road. The Motor Pirate is the most debonair and clever rogue we have met for a long time." — Pittsburg Despatch.

THE VOYAGE OF THE ARROW. By T. Jenkins Hains, author of "The Black Barque," "The Windjammers," etc. With six illustrations by H. C. Edwards . . $1.50

Another of Capt. Hains's inimitable sea stories, in which piracy, storm, and shipwreck are cleverly intermingled with love and romance, and vivid and picturesque descriptions of life at sea. Mr. Hains's new story describes the capture on the high seas of an American vessel by a gang of convicts, who have seized and burned the English ship on which they were being transported, and their final recapture by a British man-of-war.

Of "Black Barque," Mr. Martin Foss wrote in Current Literature: "Capt. Hains, the master of the straight sea story, has built a picture that teems with the sea life of the time, striking in its splendid details. The 'Black Barque' is a rattling tale of the sea, as rough as a storm-lashed shoal, as brutal as the sea itself, with a splendid swing, a range of rough characters, and adventures on every page. It will be moored beside 'The Sea Wolf.'"

"The descriptions of life at sea are remarkably true. As a stirring, realistic, unsoftened and undiluted tale of the sea, at an age when most tales of the sea were brutal, 'Black Barque' ranks very high." — Chicago Record-Herald.

STAND PAT; Or, Poker Stories from the Mississippi. By David A. Curtis, author of "Queer Luck," etc. With six drawings by Henry Roth $1.50

Mr. Curtis is the poker expert of the New York Sun, and many of the stories in "Stand Pat" originally appeared in the Sun. Although in a sense short stories, they have a thread of continuity, in that the principal characters appear throughout. Every poker player will enjoy Mr. Curtis's clever recital of the strange luck to which Dame Fortune sometimes treats her devotees in the uncertain game of draw poker, and will appreciate the startling coups by which she is occasionally outwitted.

Summer and Fall Fiction

THE HEART THAT KNOWS. By Charles G. D. Roberts, author of "Red Fox," "The Kindred of the Wild," "The Heart of the Ancient Wood," etc.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative $1.50

This is a story of the fisher and sailor folk of the Tantramar marsh country about the head of the Bay of Fundy, — a region of violent tides, of vast, fertile salt meadows fenced in from the tides by interminable barriers of dyke, — and of a strenuous, adventurous people who occupy themselves with all the romantic business of the sea.

The passions of these people are vehement, like their tides, but their natures have much of the depth, richness, and steadfastness which characterize their exhaustless meadows.

The action turns upon the wisdom of the heart in discerning truth and love where mere reason has seen but gross betrayal.

MISS FRANCES BAIRD, DETECTIVE. A Passage from Her Memoirs. By Reginald Wright Kauffman, author of "Jarvis of Harvard," etc.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative, with a frontispiece by W. F. Kirkpatrick $1.25

A double robbery and a murder have given Mr. Kauffman the material for his clever detective story. Miss Baird tells how she finally solved the mystery, and how she outwitted the other detective at work on the case, by her woman's intuition and sympathy, when her reputation for keenness and efficiency was hanging in the balance.

"The solution comes finally as a surprise even to the experienced reader of detective stories, who will have been kept guessing throughout the spirited narrative, suspecting this, that, and the other person." — Philadelphia Press.

"Miss Baird ravels and unravels circumstantial evidence in her search for the murderer in a most bewildering and thoroughly feminine fashion. . . . The story is brimful of excitement, and no little ingenuity is displayed in its construction." — Boston Herald.

"A very excellent novel of mystery, well planned, and the solution of the puzzle concealed with much skill and subtlety." — Brooklyn Eagle.

RICHARD ELLIOTT, FINANCIER. By George Carling.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative, illustrated . . . $1.50

This powerful novel has for its theme "high finance" and the "system." The career of Richard Elliott, from office boy to Trust magnate, is set down with a vivid and scathing pen, and his mighty struggle with the Standard "Wool" Company, rascal against rascal, brings a climax which foreshadows, perhaps, the fate of our own "Money Kings."

THE TREASURE TRAIL. By Frank L. Pollock.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative, with a frontispiece by Louis D. Gowing $1.25

This is a splendid story of adventure, full of good incidents that are exceptionally exciting. The story deals with the search for gold bullion, originally stolen from the Boer government in Pretoria, and stored in a steamer sunk somewhere in the Mozambique Channel. Two different search parties are endeavoring to secure the treasure, and the story deals with their adventures and its final recovery by one party only a few hours before the arrival of the second.

The book reads like an extract from life, and the whole story is vivid and realistic with descriptions of the life of a party of gentlemen adventurers who are willing to run great odds for great gains.

There is also "a woman in the case," Margaret Laurie, who proves a delightful, reliant, and audacious heroine.

Press Reviews:

"A clever story, which describes a series of highly exciting adventures of a bold lot of rascals." — Boston Transcript.

"The lover of the story of romantic adventure will find 'The Treasure Trail' most satisfactory." — Brooklyn Eagle.

"The excitement of the story is skilfully kept up, and the threads of the plot are well woven together." — New York Evening Sun.

"Excitement fills every page. It represents the author at his best, and his best is tip-top. 'The Treasure Trail' will carry us far into the night, if it is carelessly picked up of an evening." — Philadelphia Item.

(Trade Mark)

THE LITTLE COLONEL, MAID OF HONOR. By Annie Fellows Johnston.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative, illustrated . . $1.50

In this new volume, we shall see "The Little Colonel" once again on her native heath, surrounded by many of her old friends and playmates, and rapidly growing from a dainty, fascinating school-girl into an equally charming and lovable young woman. In Eugenia's wedding cake the Little Colonel finds a crystal charm enclosing a four-leaf clover. According to the legend, the fourth leaf has great significance, and Lloyd is reminded of the four-leaf clover she gave Rob, which he has been carrying all these years.

"There are no brighter or better stories for growing girls than the Little Colonel stories." — Chicago Record-Herald.

THE GIANT SCISSORS. By Annie Fellows Johnston.

A special holiday edition which will be a companion volume to the holiday editions of "The Little Colonel" and "Two Little Knights of Kentucky."

These three volumes are sold as a set, boxed at $3.75.

New plates, handsomely illustrated, with new drawings in color. Cloth decorative, size small quarto $1.25

"The Giant Scissors" tells of the adventures of one of the Little Colonel's friends, Joyce, while in France, and how the loving nature of the little girl was the means of aiding a poor, ill-treated, little French lad.

The gate itself, with the large stone scissors carved upon it, still exists on the road above the little village of St. Symphorien, just outside of Tours, which is well-known not only to tourists, but as a spot which many readers of the Little Colonel series have especially visited.

KEEPING TRYST. By Annie Fellows Johnston.

16mo, cloth, 50 cents; or paper boards, 35 cents.

A companion volume to "In the Desert of Waiting" and "The Three Weavers." "Keeping Tryst" is included in "The Little Colonel's Christmas Vacation," but there has been a strong demand for its separate publication, to which the author and publishers gladly accede.

Special editions will also be issued this year of "The Three Weavers" and "In the Desert of Waiting," in paper boards, at 35 cents.

Roses of St. Elizabeth Series

"The Roses of Saint Elizabeth," a dainty little story, with unusually attractive format, published last year, has furnished the name for a series of juvenile stories of a similar nature, which will be augmented this year by the three following titles.

GABRIEL AND THE HOUR BOOK. By Evaleen Stein.
One volume, small quarto, cloth decorative, illustrated and decorated in colors by Adelaide Everhart . . . $1.00

Gabriel was a loving, patient, little French lad, who assisted the monks in the long ago days, when all the books were written and illuminated by hand, in the monasteries. The story tells how his parents were relieved of their poverty, and how he became a famous illuminator for the King of France by means of a little prayer which he wrote at the end of a book made for a princess. It is a dear little story, and will appeal to every child who is fortunate enough to read it.

THE ENCHANTED AUTOMOBILE. Translated from the French by Mary J. Safford.
One volume, small quarto, cloth decorative, illustrated and decorated in colors by Edna M. Sawyer . . $1.00

The enchanted automobile was sent by the fairy godmother of a lazy, discontented little prince and princess to take them to fairyland, where they might visit their old story-book favorites.

Here they find that Sleeping Beauty has become a famously busy queen; Princess Charming keeps a jewelry shop, where she sells the jewels that drop from her lips; Hop-o'-My-Thumb is a farmer, too busy even to see the children, and Little Red Riding Hood has trained the wolf into a trick animal, who performs in the city squares for his mistress.

They learn the lesson that happy people are the busy people, and they return home cured of their discontent and laziness.

Children will enjoy meeting their old favorites in this unique way, and will be glad to learn what became of them when they grew up.

PUSSY-CAT TOWN. By Marion Ames Taggart.

One volume, small quarto, cloth decorative, illustrated and decorated in colors $1.00

"Pussy-Cat Town" is a most unusual, delightful cat story. Ban-Ban, a pure Maltese who belonged to Rob, Kiku-san, Lois's beautiful snow-white pet, and their neighbors Bedelia the tortoise-shell, Madame Laura the widow, Wutz Butz the warrior, and wise old Tommy Traddles, were really and truly cats, and Miss Taggart has here explained the reason for their mysterious disappearance all one long summer.

These cats had long been filled with pity for those forlorn and friendless kittens who had no comfortable home or kind friends, so they determined to found a Pussy-Cat Town, where all unhappy cats might come and properly enjoy life.

The town was a great success and prospered finely, and the poor cats who came out from the city to join them soon grew sleek and contented. They had many pleasant times, which, strange to say, were much like the good times children have. They even had one war with a neighboring village of dogs, whom they conquered and drove away. Although Ban-Ban and Kiku-san finally returned to Rob and Lois, who gave much help to the cats when they were in any dilemma, the other cats were far too delighted with their city to leave it, and, for all we know, it is still thriving on the banks of the River Meuse.

The Woodranger Tales

WITH ROGERS' RANGERS. By G. Waldo Browne, author of "The Woodranger Tales," etc.

Large 12mo, cloth decorative, illustrated by L. J. Bridgman $1.25

This is a new volume of the well-known "Woodranger Tales," which, like the "Pathfinder Tales" of J. Fenimore Cooper, relate to the early pioneer days of America. The backwoods of those days were full of mystery. They were vast, and often trackless, and lurking savages and wild beasts gave plenty of excitement for the "Rangers," which, while appealing to every boy with a spark of adventure in him, also interests him in the American history of the period 1750. This new book, with the foregoing volumes in the series, makes a set of boys' books of excellent class and of absorbing interest.

The Rival Campers Series

THE RIVAL CAMPERS AFLOAT; Or, The Prize Yacht Viking. By Ruel P. Smith, author of "The Rival Campers." Square 12mo, cloth decorative, illustrated $1.50

This book is a continuation of the adventures of "The Rival Campers" on their prize yacht Viking. Every reader will be enthusiastic over the adventures of Henry Burns and his friends on their sailing trip. They have a splendid time, fishing, racing, and sailing, until an accidental collision results in a series of exciting adventures, culminating in a mysterious chase, the loss of their prize yacht, and its recapture by means of their old yacht Surprise, which they raise from its watery grave. The book is a wholesome story of out-door life, and will be as popular as "The Rival Campers," which was acknowledged to be the best juvenile published in a decade. In the opinion of the San Francisco Examiner it is "the very best book since 'Tom Sawyer,'" and the New York Sun calls its hero the "'Tom Brown' of America."

The Boys' Story of the Railroad Series

THE YOUNG TRAIN DESPATCHER. By Burton E. Stevenson, author of "The Young Section-hand," etc. Square 12mo, cloth decorative, illustrated $1.50

A new volume in the "Railroad Series," in which the young section-hand is promoted to a train despatcher. Another branch of railroading is presented, in which the young hero has many chances to prove his manliness and courage in the exciting adventures which befall him in the discharge of his duty.

Press opinions of "The Young Section-hand:"

"This is a fine book for boys' reading, since it impresses a reader anew with the honor and beauty of the simple, heroic, seldom-remembered deeds of men who do their duty as a matter of course." — Christian Register.

"A thrilling story, well told, clean, and bright. The whole range of section railroading is covered in the story, and it contains information as well as interest." — Chicago Evening Post.

BORN TO THE BLUE. By Florence Kimball Russel.

12mo, cloth, with exceptionally excellent illustrations by R. Farrington Elwell $1.25

The atmosphere of army life on the plains breathes on every page of this delightful tale. The boy is the son of a captain of United States cavalry stationed at a frontier post in the days when our regulars earned the gratitude of a nation. His military training is begun at a very early age; and how well he profits by the soldierly qualities of manhood and honor and modesty and courtesy instilled is brought out in a series of incidents and adventures which will appeal to every youngster, and to many of their elders. Every phase of garrison life is included, for, though an officer's son, his friends range from the colonel commanding to the trooper who taught him to ride his Indian pony.

The author is herself "of the army," and knows every detail of the life. From reveille to retreat her descriptions are accurate, which adds to the value and interest of the book.

CAPTAIN JACK LORIMER. By Winn Standish.

12mo, cloth. Illustrated by Arthur W. Brown . . $1.50

Jack Lorimer, whose adventures have for some time been one of the leading features of the Boston Sunday Herald, is the popular favorite of fiction with the boys and girls of New England, and, now that Mr. Standish has made him the hero of his book, he will soon be a favorite throughout the country.

Jack is a fine example of the all-around American high-school boy. He has the sturdy qualities boys admire, and his fondness for clean, honest sport of all kinds will strike a chord of sympathy among athletic youths.

Boys and girls both — for May Roxton is almost as important a character as Jack himself — will enjoy Mr. Standish's exciting accounts of the foot-ball, basket-ball, hockey, and the other games which Jack and his classmates played for the honor of their school, and will admire the quick resourcefulness that brought them victorious out of more than one tight corner. Mr. Standish has portrayed a splendid group of boys and girls, full of life and fun, and their adventures, both in school and out, are sure to interest every reader.

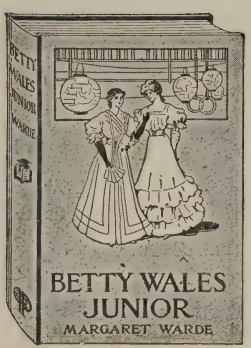
Keystone Series for Boys and Girls

For young people from 12 to 17 years



Of books for young people these are the best. They are readable; there's a story, a good one, in each of them, and any boy or girl must enjoy it. The books have also the hearty approval of parents. There is in each story something useful for young people, something to learn and remember, some certain aid to mental or moral development. They are moreover the latest and best works of the most popular writers for boys and girls, and are well printed on good paper, cleverly illustrated, attractively bound—the best to look at, to read, to keep, to give away, to sell. There can be nothing better than these volumes for the private book shelf, the Public Library, or the Sunday school.

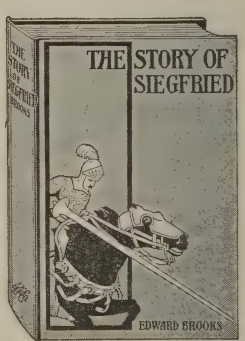
These stories, by Dr. Edward Brooks, A. M., Superintendent of Philadelphia Public Schools, are everywhere recognized as the best literature for either entertainment or education that can be put into the hands of young people.

While carefully retaining all the elements of romance and adventure, and omitting whatever might prove unwholesome, or divert the purpose of the story, the author has, in a surprising degree, preserved the unity, completeness, and spirit of the original. He has furnished such an account as will afford the youth of our day an intimate acquaintance with the heroic characters of history.



THE STORY OF SIEGFRIED. By Dr. Edward Brooks, A. M. Illustrations from the German. Probably the most interesting of all the legends is the Nibelungenlied, or the Story of Siegfried. BENN PITMAN AND JEROME B. HOWARD.

PUBLISHT BY

THE PHONOGRAPHIC INSTITUTE COMPANY,

CINCINNATI, O.

There is no question whatever of the truth of the statement that the Benn Pitman System is more generally used than any other in this country; at least this would appear to be true, from the reports made to this Bureau of various institutions teaching shorthand.—Hon. W. T. Harris, Commissioner of Education (Washington, D. C.), November 19, 1898.

The Benn Pitman System received the HIGHEST SHORTHAND AWARD of the UNIVERSAL EXPOSITION, St. Louis, 1904.

The Phonographic Reader. By BENN PITMAN and JEROME B. HOWARD. Designed to accompany the Manual. It affords the necessary reading practise in the Corresponding Style. By JEROME B. HOWARD. With a Prefatory Note by BENN PITMAN. In this book position-writing and the principles of abbreviation are taught concurrently with the elements of the system. It consists of fifty-nine carefully-graded lessons, each designed to constitute the work of a single school-day. Outlines of words are given in the first lesson; sentences are given in the eighth lesson; phrases appear in the fifteenth lesson; business letters are written in the twenty-second and subsequent lessons. Cloth, 216 pp., 12mo 1 00

The Amanuensis is also issued in a special "correspondence edition" for the use of teachers who give instruction by mail. This edition is identical with the regular edition, except in the matter of physical make-up. Illustrated Books of Travel, Biography and History.

*ALGIERS. By M. Elizabeth Crouse. Beautifully illustrated with full page plates from original photographs. Cloth decorative cover, net $2.00; three-quarters crushed levant, net $4.00. (Postage 14 cents.)

This latest addition to our list of illustrated holiday books will be at once appreciated by all lovers of good bookmaking. The volume is the result of the author's recent sojourn in Algiers and Tunis, one of the garden spots of the world that is attracting the attention yearly of an increasing number of visitors.

Contents—The Fountain—Night and the Star—In the Beginning—A Dream of El-Djezair—Palace Secrets—The Passing of the Deys—Lazarus—Within the City Gates—The Face of the Waters—Hidden Ways—Into the Present—Following the Star—Away.

THE RUINED ABBEYS OF GREAT BRITAIN. By Ralph Adams Cram. With 67 full-page Illustrations from photographs by the author. Cloth, net $2.50. Three-quarter crushed levant, net $5.00. (Postage 20 cents.)

The author is thoroughly acquainted with his subject and describes and illustrates the ruined abbeys of England and Scotland in a way to make one long to visit them, or to recall past days spent under their direct fascination.

*WHERE SHAKESPEARE SET HIS STAGE. By Elise Lathrop. With numerous full-page Illustrations. 8vo, cloth, net $2.00. Three-quarter crushed levant, net $4.00. (Postage 14 cents.)

A decidedly original travel book in which the reader accompanies the author to the various scenes of Shakespeare's plays. Miss Lathrop has made an extended study of this subject and has produced a book of real value, which will be welcomed alike by the traveller and the student of Shakespeare.

THE PAGEANT OF LONDON. By Richard Davey. With 40 original Illustrations in color by John Fulleylove, R.I. Two vols. boxed, 8vo, cloth, net $5.00. Three-quarter crushed levant, net $10.00. (Postage 36 cents.) (Vol. I., B.C. 40 to A.D. 1500. Vol. II., A.D. 1500 to 1900.)

From the Preface: "I have called my book The Pageant of London, taking the word 'pageant' in its widest acceptation, as meaning not only coronations, royal marriages, funerals, and other pompous shows and spectacles, but as signifying the unrolling, as in a sort of procession, of the story of the British capital from the day when Julius Cæsar appeared on the banks of the Thames to that which witnessed the funeral of Queen Victoria."

TO-DAY ON THE NILE. By H. W. Dunning. Photogravure Illustrations and Maps. 8vo, cloth, net $2.50. Three-quarter crushed levant, net $5.00. (Postage 20 cents.)

Egypt now is a great world resort for the winter, nature having given her the finest winter climate. The Nile is ever a wonder even though we know the why and whence of its overflow.

This book is a spirited presentation of the Egypt of to-day. The author sees everything and so does the reader; he enjoys everything and he takes you into his confidence. The book is full to the overflow and alive to the spirit of the hour.

THE MEDITERRANEAN: Its Storied Cities and Venerable Ruins. By J. T. Bonney and others. Photogravure Illustrations and Map. 8vo, cloth, $3.00. Three-quarter crushed levant, $6.00.

A most delightful description of these old cities, and the itinerary is a rarely attractive one, including Gibraltar, Algiers, Malaga, Nice and the Riviera, Naples, Venice, Sicily, Malta, and Alexandria. It ought certainly to be read by anyone who intends to cover the journey and will prove a pleasure to those who cannot. The photogravures are exceptionally beautiful.

UNKNOWN SWITZERLAND. Picturesque and descriptive. By Victor Tissot. Photogravure Illustrations and Map. 8vo, cloth, $3.00. Three-quarter crushed levant, $6.00.

This valuable book of travel gets away from the beaten track. The Switzerland presented is the Switzerland of the scholarly traveller who knows its least frequented and most beautiful parts. A map and excellent illustrations add to the book's value.

AN INDIAN GARDEN. By H. C. Eggar. With color frontispiece and Illustrations. Cloth, net $2.00. (Postage 10 cents.)

A most picturesque and unusual study of life in India. While the book is based on the description of gardening in the far East, it unintentionally goes far beyond its initial purpose and becomes a vivid picture of life in the Englishman's Indian home.

OUR WEST INDIAN NEIGHBORS, The Islands of the Caribbean Sea, "America's Mediterranean": Their picturesque features, fascinating history, and attractions for the traveller, nature-lover, and pleasure-seeker. By Frederick A. Ober. 50 full-page Illustrations. Net $2.50. Three-quarter crushed levant, net $5.00. (Postage 21 cents.)

Spanish America becomes a familiar country to the readers of this book. Mr. Ober is an authority on the West Indies, and also he has the gift for interesting narration.

"An entertaining, instructive, finely illustrated and typographically attractive book of travel covering the Bahamas, Cuba, Jamaica, Hayti, San Domingo, Porto Rico and Martinique."

OLD TOURAINE. History of the famous Chateaux of France. By Theodore Andrea Cook. 30 photogravures. 2 vols., crown 8vo, cloth, $5.00. Three-quarter crushed levant, $10.00.

The Chateaux of France are perhaps as full of romantic interest as any buildings in the world. Mr. Cook's intimate acquaintance with French country life and castles of the French aristocracy have fitted him to write one of the most delightful of books of permanent value both to the traveller and to the reader.

THE CATHEDRALS OF ENGLAND AND WALES. By T. Francis Bumpus. 3 vols. complete, illustrated, cloth, net $6.00. Three-quarter crushed levant, net $12.00. (Postage 30 cents.)

"More than a guide-book and something less than a history, yet in a very clear and readable manner it presents the stories of the famous Cathedral buildings in England and Wales, and the text is illustrated by means of a number of very successful photographs.

"Of each Cathedral an admirable historical sketch is given, detailing its architectural growth, and the volumes make admirable handbooks for those who wish to study the English Cathedrals intelligently.

"We question if there is anything about any of the Cathedrals of which Mr. Bumpus is ignorant. He is a delightful companion in exploring these great churches. He is full of enthusiasm and knowledge, and he always gives you of his best. His 'Cathedrals' ought to become a standard book."

THE CATHEDRALS AND CHURCHES OF THE RHINE AND NORTH GERMANY. By T. Francis Bumpus. With 84 Ilustrations. Cloth, net $2.00. Three-quarter crushed levant, net $4.00. (Postage 15 cents.)

To a great extent this volume is breaking unfamiliar, if not actually fresh ground. Descriptions are given of such little known and visited cathedrals and churches as those of Münster, Soest, Paderborn, Hildesheim, Halberstadt, Magdeburg, Naumburg, and Erfurt; peeps at the people; descriptions of the services, and criticism on the music heard in these buildings.

The book is amply illustrated, and besides the tours sketched out here and there for prospective visitors, a map is provided, indicating the whereabouts of the most important places alluded to.

THE BASTILE. By Capt. (Hon.) D. Bingham. With a preface by James Breck Perkins. 35 photogravures. 2 vols., crown 8vo, cloth, $5.00. Three-quarter crushed levant, $10.00.

This work about the Bastile is graphic literature as well as accurate history. It has become a standard reference book on that most interesting of the many interesting buildings associated with the French Revolution, and the volumes are exceedingly rich in historical portraits and rare scenes.

SOME LITERARY ECCENTRICS. By John Fyvie, Author of "Some Women of Wit and Beauty," etc. Illustrated. 8vo, cloth, net $3.00. (Postage 14 cents.)

From the Preface: "The word Eccentric is not to be taken in every case as a term of reproach. The Literary Eccentrics here presented exhibit the quality in a very varying degree; ranging from just that spice of singularity which raises a man above the commonplace, to an excess of morbidity which places him on the borderland of insanity."

BUDAPEST, THE CITY OF THE MAGYARS. By F. Berkeley Smith. With an introduction by F. Hopkinson Smith. Copiously Illustrated. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

INDIA. By Pierre Loti. A translation of Loti's exquisite masterpiece, beautifully printed by the Chiswick Press. 8vo, cloth, net $3.50. Three-quarter crushed levant, net $7.00. (Postage 14 cents.)

He visits the ruined temples of the ancient gods, festooned with jungle flowers; he rises in the early, mournful dawn, and penetrates where European feet have seldom trod; he listens to the languorous Oriental music on moonlight nights; he experiences nameless dreads, indescribable terrors. He visits the sacred city of Benares, and watches the rapt worshippers on the banks, and the smoke ascending from the funeral pyre of an exquisitely beautiful Indian girl. He sees the little children, living skeletons from famine, piteously begging for bread, and finally he visits the high priests of Theosophy who have sought refuge in India away from the tumult of life, and finds what his soul craves for.

BY THE WATERS OF CARTHAGE. By Norma Lorimer, author of "By the Waters of Sicily." 8vo, cloth, with 32 Illustrations from photographs and color frontispiece, net $2.50. (Postage 16 cents.)

Miss Lorimer has an original way of recounting her travels which is all her own. The wonderful Oriental life of Tunis—that most Oriental of cities—is vividly depicted, and under a light and racy style the author conceals a real knowledge of the Arab, his ways and customs, his religious and social life, and proves herself well read in the works of the various authorities upon the subject. But it is neither the erudition, at times laughingly displayed, nor the somewhat improbable story of the unhappy Englishwoman married to the Arab perfume merchant, that will most attract the reader; rather will the graphic instantané pictures of Eastern scenes live in his memory.

BY THE WATERS OF SICILY. By Norma Lorimer. New and large illustrated edition. 8vo, cloth, $1.50.

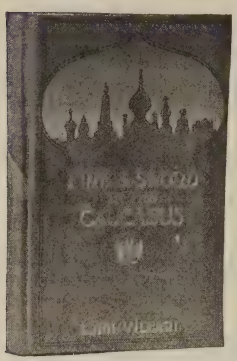
"A delightful book; it will probably live longer than 90 per cent. of present-day fiction. Fresh, vivid, and full of information, it should be the companion of every one who goes that way."

"The author's vivid and picturesque style is fitted exactly to her theme and the sunny atmosphere of Sicily. It is one of the most original books of travel that has ever been written."

RUSSIA UNDER THE GREAT SHADOW. by Luigi Villari. 8vo, cloth, 85 Illustrations, net $3.50. (Postage 18 cents.)

The timeliness of M. Villari's book is not its only value. It is full of information gathered at first hand and assimilated with intelligence.

FIRE AND SWORD IN THE CAUCASUS. By Luigi Villari, author of "Russia Under the Great Shadow." Illustrated. 8vo, cloth, net $3.50. (Postage 18 cents.)



Contents—The Caucasus, Its Peoples and Its History—Eastward Ho!—Batum—The Gurian "Republic"—Tiflis—Persons and Politics in the Caucasian Capital—Armenians, Tartars, and the Russian Government—The Land of Ararat—The Heart of Armenia—Russia's New Route to Persia—Over the Frosty Caucasus.

From the Preface: No part of Russia at the present moment is more full of acute problems of great importance for the student of politics than the Caucasus. . . . For many months the country has been the theatre of a civil war, accompanied by every circumstance of horror. . . . In writing the ensuing pages I have tried to present a sketch of this great Russian colony during what is perhaps the most critical period of its history, based on my several months' visit there during the fall of 1905.

SEVEN ANGELS OF THE RENASCENCE. By Wyke Bayliss, author of "Five Great Painters." 8vo, cloth, with 40 illustrations, net $3.50. (Postage 15 cents.)

This interesting art book by Mr. Bayliss is beautifully illustrated with photogravures of the pictures described. The best painters of the Renascence period are represented and their work sympathetically described.

MAKERS OF MODERN HISTORY. Napoleon III., Cavour, Bismarck. By the Hon. Edward Cadogan. 8vo, cloth, net $2.25. (Postage 12 cents.)

Mr. Cadogan chooses the three because their illustrious names are more than any associated with the great struggle between conservative principles and the revolutionary forces of constitutional or national liberty in which lies the chief interest of European history in the nineteenth century.

ASPECTS OF BALZAC. By W. H. Helm. 12mo, cloth, net $1.00. (Postage 10 cents.)

Mr. Helm's comprehensive review of the work of the great Frenchman should do more than anything hitherto published to make appreciation of Balzac universal. There is a simplicity of treatment that commends the book. And the list of "Aspects" include such subjects as Balzac's method, his men, his women, his humor.

HISTORICAL WORKS OF JULIA PARDOE. With prefaces by Adolphe Cohn. In 9 volumes, including Index. Photogravure Frontispieces. 9 vols., cloth, $13.50. Three-quarter crushed levant, $27.00.

LOUIS XIV. AND THE COURT OF FRANCE IN THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY. Photogravure Frontispieces. 3 vols., cloth, small 12mo, $4.50. Three-quarter crushed levant, $9.00.

THE LIFE OF MARIE DE MEDICIS, QUEEN OF FRANCE. (Consort of Henry IV. and Regent of the Kingdom under Louis XIII.) Photogravure Frontispieces. 3 vols., cloth, small 12mo, $4.50. Three-quarter crushed levant, $9.00.

THE COURT AND REIGN OF FRANCIS I., KING OF FRANCE. Photogravure Frontispieces. 3 vols., cloth, small 12mo, $4.50. Three-quarter crushed levant, $9.00.

These books (all prefaced by Adolphé Cohn, of Columbia University) are "Lives," not "Memoirs." Of Louis XIV., Miss Pardoe gives the clearest possible portrait. The story of Marie de Medicis is romantic both in substance and in the telling. In writing of Francis I., Miss Pardoe shows that the popular idea of Francis gives him more credit for chivalry and triumph than he deserved.

THE ANCIENT CAPITAL OF SCOTLAND, from the Invasion of Agricola to the Passing of the Reform Bill, 1832. By Samuel Cowan, J.P., author of "Mary Queen of Scots," "The Gowrie Conspiracy," etc., with numerous full-page Illustrations. 2 vols., cloth, 8vo, 832 pages, net $7.50. (Postage 40 cents.)

The history of Perth never having been fully written until Mr. Cowan took upon himself the gigantic task, this work is in every sense notable. It is in reality a history of Scotland, and full of the romance that seems inseparable from the annals of the Scot, ancient and mediæval.

MEMOIRS OF THE DUKE OF SAINT-SIMON. On the Reign of Louis XIV. and the Regency. Translated from the French by Bayle St. John. With a Preface by James Breck Perkins. Illustrated with photogravures. 4 vols., cloth, 12mo, with index, $6.00.
Three-quarter crushed levant, $12.00.

They are living history, a complete record of events, court scenes, marriages, deaths, intrigues, and in fact the daily life of the Court of Louis XIV., at Versailles and Marly. "The Student's History of France," in giving the authorities for the Reign of Louis XIV., says: "The principal source of contemporary history for this period is the Memoirs of the Duc de Saint-Simon. This work will always preserve its reputation and authority, from the high position of its author, his general fidelity and accuracy, and his remarkable power of delineating individual character."

FIFTY YEARS OF AN ACTOR'S LIFE. By John Coleman, author of "Charles Reade as I Knew Him," with 16 plates containing 26 portraits. 2 vols., 8vo, net $6.00. (Postage 38 cents.)

Mr. Coleman had exceptional opportunities for acquiring an intimate knowledge of the stage in England, Europe and even America during the last century. His dream was for the establishment of a national theatre in London. He writes of this in his comprehensive and fascinating autobiography. His descriptions of the great people, on and off the stage, with whom he became acquainted in the course of his long life, are delightfully personal and illuminating.

MILTON AND THE CAVALIERS. By F. S. Boas, author of "In Shakespeare's England." Cloth, 12mo, net $1.50. (Postage 13 cents.)

This history of the time of the Cavaliers and Roundheads is unique in treatment. Mrs. Boas has written rather around Charles than about him, yet with her valuable summing-up of Milton, the lesser poets, Clarendon, Sir Thomas Browne and others, she has told the most effective story of the King himself and of Cromwell.

IN SHAKESPEARE'S ENGLAND. An account of life and literature in Elizabethan England. By F. S. Boas. With Portraits and Illustrations. Cloth, 12mo, net $1.50. (Postage 12 cents.)

Mrs. Boas, always thorough and scholarly in her work, has given us in this volume a suggestive book about such people as Bacon, Sidney, Raleigh, Elizabeth, Spenser, Marlowe. It is a history of the time of Shakespeare, brief but inclusive. As a critic, Mrs. Boas has much to say on purely literary matters. Although she touches lightly on the work of Shakespeare himself, what she says is strictly to the point.

BYGONE LONDON LIFE. Pictures from a vanished past. By G. L. Apperson, I.S.O. With many Illustrations from old prints and engravings. Net $1.50. (Postage 11 cents.)

Leaving the common places of history alone, he delves into forgotten corners and brings out odd treasures of information—for example, anecdotes of the habitués of the famous old coffee-houses.

RECOLLECTIONS OF DANTE GABRIEL ROSSETTI AND HIS CIRCLE. By the late Henry T. Dunn, with a prefatory note by William Michael Rossetti. Illustrated with photogravures. 12mo, net $1.00. (Postage 6 cents.)

These recollections describe the personality and the thoughts and actions of the great poet-painter as they appeared to one long privileged to enjoy familiar association with him.

STUDIES OF A BOOK-LOVER. By Prof. Thomas Marc Parrott, Professor of English in Princeton University. Small 12mo, illustrated, cloth, gilt top, net $1.25. (Postage 8 cents.)

"There are good things in every chapter. It runs along with that ease which is the result of hard work and the cause of serene enjoyment. To the 'gentle reader' I shall recommend it without reserve, knowing that it will both explain and illustrate what is meant by 'good reading.'"—Dr. Henry Van Dyke.

THE BUILDERS OF THE REPUBLIC. By Margherita A. Hamm, author of "Famous Families of New York." Illustrated profusely. 12mo, cloth, net $1.50. (Postage 19 cents.)

ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON. By G. K. Chesterton. Small 12mo, with frontispiece portrait. Cloth, 50 cents; leather, $1.00.

A collection of valuable matter about Stevenson, matter not heretofore published, is to be found in this volume on Stevenson.

Every lover of Stevenson will read this little volume with the keenest interest. It is most suggestive, as Mr. Chesterton's expressions usually are, and will take an honorable place among the many studies of an especially difficult and complex personality.

LIFE AND TIMES OF GALILEO. By J. J. Fahie. With Portraits and Illustrations. 8vo, $5.00.

Whoever has paced the cool quadrangles of Padua will find this magnificent piece of biography more fascinating than any romance and more profound than any other utterances of religious philosophy. Mr. Fahie has endeavored to speak the truth. His narrative is lucid and ingenuous. He neither eulogizes nor disparages Galileo.

ENGLISH VILLAGES. By P. H. Ditchfield, M.A. With 100 Illustrations. 12mo, cloth, net $1.50. (Postage 11 cents.)

Beautiful as are many of the great English cities, the true lover of England is the person familiar with the quaint little hamlets dotting the country by the score. This book should be of importance to the constantly increasing number of people who take walking and driving tours through English country districts.

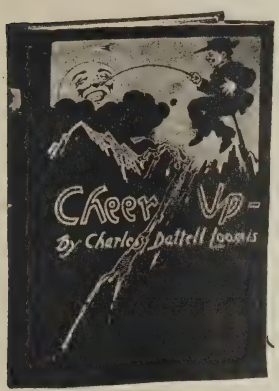
General Literature.

CHEER UP! By Charles Battell Loomis. Frontispiece and decorative cover by R. A. Graef. Cloth, square 12mo, $1.00; lambskin in box, $1.50.



A new antidote for the blues by the "Laughing Philosopher," uniform with "I've Been Thinking."

From the Preface: "In reading the book, cheer up—it is not far to the last page and it is given to you to skip—in itself an act of good cheer. What so cheerful as little lambs who do nothing but skip? Cheer up, and take what's coming to you. So saying, I hand you the book."

Mr. Loomis has long been known as a popular author and his success as a platform reader has been a thing of steady growth through several seasons, but his recent tour of the entire United States with the famous English humorist, Mr. Jerome K. Jerome, served to emphasize the fact that in Mr. Loomis America has a legitimate successor to Artemus Ward, Mark Twain and Bill Nye.

I'VE BEEN THINKING. By Charles Battell Loomis. Frontispiece and decorative cover by Robert A. Graef. Cloth, square 12mo, $1.00. Lambskin, in box, $1.50.

Charles Battell Loomis is a humorist and a thinker—virtues which do not always go together. He has put them both in this little book "I've Been Thinking," which treats all sorts of subjects in a breezy way; not too much of thought to weary, not too much of fun to bore.

THE FOUNDATIONS OF THE REPUBLIC. By Rev. Edward Everett Hale, author of "The Man Without a Country," "In His Name," etc., with a frontispiece portrait. Cloth, 12mo, net 75 cents; leather, net $1.25. (Postage 8 cents.)

"Somehow we have a little more faith in the stability of the American Republic after we have read this valuable little book. It is just such a book as we should expect from the distinguished author of 'The Man Without a Country.' It bears evidence of that maturity of judgment which comes to one, who for more than three score and ten years has lived in accordance with the principles and ideals of the founders of the American Republic."

UNDISTINGUISHED AMERICANS. Edited by Hamilton Holt. Cloth, 12mo, $1.50.

In these brief autobiographies men and women who are in the thick of the struggle for bread and commercial advancement tell the story of their experiences. Most of them are immigrants from a dozen races of Europe. The diversity and the individuality of the racial types which are being fused in the stirring life of America are well illustrated. They are better worth reading than most of the fiction which attempts to do its work on the same ground.

The skill with which the material has been gathered and utilized is noteworthy.

THE REIGN OF GILT. By David Graham Phillips. 12mo, cloth, net $1.00. (Postage 12 cents.)

David Graham Phillips' book on the subject of the extravagance and follies of the rich is most timely. Very appropriately it is named "The Reign of Gilt." This means the shoddiness of it all, but recent disclosures of the source of much of wealth would justify the double meaning.

THE SPIRIT OF THE MOUNTAINS. By Emma B. Miles. 12mo, cloth, Illustrated, net $1.20. (Postage 12 cents.)

Mrs. Miles, who has spent her entire life in the heart of the Tennessee mountains, presents in her artistic development one of those rare instances of apparently inspired literary utterance. "The Spirit of the Mountains," with phenomenal simplicity of style, describes the actual every-day life of the Tennessee mountaineer—his traditions, his literature, his music—and predicts his future.

THE WOMAN OF TO-MORROW. By Helen M. Winslow. 12mo, cloth, net $1.00. (Postage 8 cents.)

THE JAPANESE SPIRIT. By Okakura-Yoshisaburo. With an Introduction by George Meredith. 12mo, cloth, net $1.00. (Postage 8 cents.)

These lectures by a son of the land, delivered at the University of London, are compendious and explicit in a degree that enables us to form a summary of much that has been otherwise partially obscure, so that we get nearer to the secret of this singular race than we have had the chance of doing before.

Mr. Okakura tells in brief résumé what he considers the essentials to an understanding of modern Japan, its political, religious and social qualities of basic importance.

IMPERIALISM: A STUDY. By J. A. Hobson, author of "The Social Problem." 8vo, cloth, net $2.75. (Postage 13 cents.)

The general principles which underlie imperialist policy are discussed in this volume; the illustrations of that policy are mainly derived from the progress of British Imperialism during the last generation, and proceed rather by diagnosis than by historical description.

Of the greatest value to all students of this subject.

THE MOON. A new and popular edition. The moon considered as a planet, a world, and a satellite. By James Nasmith, C.E., and James Carpenter, F.R.A.S., late of the Royal Observatory, Greenwich. With numerous illustrations. $2.00.

Popular rather than scientific, setting forth the more interesting aspects of the subject with great particularity, but not aiming to develop features that would interest only the professional scientific investigator. The work is remarkable in the way of illustrations.

He devotes much space to descriptions of Sicilian life, scenery and antiquities, and against this background we are shown a number of people who meet, wander about sight-seeing, fall in love, quarrel, have thrilling adventures with brigands, and do many unlikely things.

"Mr. Sladen's story makes it exceedingly difficult to keep away from Sicily."

FLOWER OF THE FORT. By Charles Hemstreet, author of "Nooks and Corners of Old New York," "Literary Landmarks of New York." 12mo, cloth, 50 cents.

PARABLES FROM NATURE. By Mrs. Alfred Gatty. Small 12mo, cloth, photogravure Frontispiece, $1.50.

There is a geniality and a naturalness in Mrs. Gatty's Parables that we look for in vain in the attempts of other writers.

The cheerfulness of the cricket, the honest toil of the bee, the faith of the caterpillar in its future existence, the joy of the lark in its being, the belief of the robin in a Providence, the silent trustfulness of the oak and the beech—all these and many other lessons do these parables bring with them as we listen to the voices with which Mrs. Gatty has clothed the thoughts of tree and insect, flower and bird.

of doing honour to Mordecai. ESTHER, 7, 8. Haman is hanged.

vered to the hand of one of the king's most noble princes, that they may array the man withal whom the king delighteth to honour, and bring him on horseback through the street of the city, and proclaim before him, Thus shall it be done to the man whom the king delighteth to honour.

10 Then the king said to Haman, Make haste, and take the apparel and the horse, as thou hast said, and do even so to Mordecai the Jew, that sitteth at the king's gate: let nothing fail of all that thou hast spoken.

11 Then took Haman the apparel and the horse, and arrayed Mordecai, and brought him on horseback through the street of the city, and proclaimed before him, Thus shall it be done unto the man whom the king delighteth to honour.

12 ¶ And Mordecai came again to the king's quest for his life to Esther the queen; for he saw that there was evil determined against him by the king.

8 Then the king returned out of the palace garden into the place of the banquet of wine; and Haman was fallen upon the bed whereon Esther was. Then said the king, Will he force the queen also before me in the house? As the word went out of the king's mouth, they covered Haman's face.

9 And Harbonah, one of the chamberlains, said before the king, Behold also, the gallows fifty cubits high, which Haman had made for Mordecai, who had spoken good for the king, standeth in the house of Haman. Then the king said, Hang him thereon.

10 So they hanged Haman on the gallows that he had prepared for Mordecai. Then was the king's wrath pacified.

7 And God made the firmament, and divided the waters which were under the firmament from the waters which were above the firmament: and it was so.
8 And God called the firmament Heaven. And the evening and the morning were the second day.
9 And God said, Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and let the dry land appear: and it was so.
10 And God called the dry land Earth; and the gathering together of the waters called he Seas: and God saw that it was good.
11 And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, herb yielding seed, and fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind, whose seed is in itself, upon the earth: and it was so.

16 And God made two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night: he made the stars also.
17 And God set them in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth,
18 And to rule over the day and over the night, and to divide the light from the darkness: and God saw that it was good.
19 And the evening and the morning were the fourth day.
20 And God said, Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creature that hath life, and fowl that may fly above the earth in the open firmament of heaven.
21 And God created great whales, and every living creature that moveth, which the waters brought forth abundantly, after their kind, and every winged fowl after his kind: and God saw that it was good.
22 And God blessed them, saying, Be fruitful, and multiply, and fill the waters in the seas, and let fowl multiply in the earth.

The transfiguration of Christ. MARK, 9. He casteth out a dumb spirit.

to Jē′sus, Master, it is good for us to be here:[1] and let us make three tabernacles: one for thee, and one for Mō′ses, and one for E-lī′as.

6 For he wist[2] not what to say; for they were sore afraid.

7 And there was a cloud that overshadowed them: and a voice came out of the cloud, saying, [3]This is my beloved Son; hear[4] him.

8 And suddenly, when they had looked round about, they saw no man any more, save Jē′sus only with themselves.

9 And as they came down from the mountain, he charged them that they should tell[5] no man what things they had seen, till the Son of man were risen from the dead.

10 And they kept that saying with themselves, questioning one with another what the rising from the dead should mean.

11 And they asked him, saying, Why say the scribes that [6]E-lī′as must first come?

12 And he answered and told them, E-lī′as verily cometh first, and restoreth[7] all things; and how it is written[8] of the Son of man, that he must suffer many things, and be[9] set at nought.

13 But I say unto you, [10]That E-lī′as is indeed come, and[11] they have done unto him whatsoever they listed, as it is written of him.

14 And when he came to his disciples, he saw a great multitude about them, and the scribes questioning with them.

15 And straightway all the people, when they beheld him, were greatly amazed; and running to him, saluted him.

16 And he asked the scribes, What question ye [a]with them?

20 And they brought him unto him: and when he saw him, straightway the spirit tare him; and he fell on the ground, and wallowed foaming.

21 And he asked his father, How long is it ago since this came unto him? And he said, Of a child:

22 And ofttimes it hath cast him into the fire, and into the waters, to destroy him: but if thou canst do any thing, have compassion on us, and help us.

23 Jē′sus said unto him, If[14] thou canst believe, all things are possible to him that believeth.

24 And straightway the father of the child cried out, and said with tears, Lord, I believe; [15]help thou mine unbelief.

25 When Jē′sus saw that the people came running together, he rebuked the foul spirit, saying unto him, Thou dumb and deaf spirit, I charge thee, come out of him, and enter no more into him.

26 And the spirit cried, and rent him sore, and came out of him: and he was as one dead; insomuch that many said, He is dead.

27 But Jē′sus took him by the hand, and lifted him up; and he arose.

28 And when he was come into the house, his disciples asked him privately, Why could not we cast him out?

29 And he said unto them, This kind can come forth by nothing but by[16] prayer and fasting.[17]

30 And they departed thence, and passed through Găl′i-lee; and he would not that any man should know it.

31 For he taught his disciples, and said unto them, The Son of man is delivered into the hands of men,

LUKE, VIII.

12 Those by the way side are they that hear; then cometh the devil, and taketh away the word out of their hearts, lest they should believe and be saved.
13 They on the rock are they, which, when they hear, receive the word with joy; and these have no root, which for a while believe, and in time of temptation fall away.
14 And that which fell among thorns are they, which, when they have heard, go forth, and are choked with cares and riches and pleasures of this life, and bring no fruit to perfection.
15 But that on the good ground are they, which, in an honest and good heart, having heard the word, keep it, and bring forth fruit with patience.
16 No man, when he hath lighted a candle, covereth it with a vessel, or putteth it under a bed; but setteth it on a candlestick, that they which enter in may see the light.
17 For nothing is secret that shall not be made manifest; neither any thing hid that shall not be known and come abroad.
18 Take heed therefore how ye hear: for whosoever hath, to him shall be given; and whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken even that which he seemeth to have.
19 Then came to him his mother and his brethren, and could not come at him for the press.
20 And it was told him by certain, which said, Thy mother and thy brethren stand without, desiring to see thee.
21 And he answered and said unto them, My mother and my brethren are these which hear the word of God, and do it.
22 Now it came to pass on a certain day, that he went into a ship with his disciples: and he said unto them, Let us go over unto the other side of the lake. And they launched forth.
23 But as they sailed, he fell asleep: and there came down a storm of wind on the lake; and they were filled with water, and were in jeopardy.
24 And they came to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, master, we perish. Then he arose, and rebuked the wind and the raging of the water; and they ceased, and there was a calm.

Woe unto the hypocrites. ST. MATTHEW 23 Signs of Christ's coming.

19 Ye fools and blind: for whether is greater, the gift, or [a]the altar that sanctifieth the gift?
20 Whoso therefore shall swear by the altar, sweareth by it, and by all things thereon.
21 And whoso shall swear by the temple, sweareth by it, and by [c]him that dwelleth therein.
22 And he that shall swear by heaven, sweareth by the throne of God, and by him that sitteth thereon.
23 Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye pay tithe of mint and [1]anise and cummin, and [f]have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy, and faith: these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other 38 Behold, your house is left unto you desolate.

TEACHERS' BIBLES.

"TEACHERS' HELPS THAT ARE REAL AIDS."

CAMBRIDGE EXPLANATORY DICTIONARY.

All Cambridge Teachers' Bibles contain the new EXPLANATORY BIBLE DICTIONARY, based on the Cambridge Companion to the Bible, the work of the most eminent scholars at the Cambridge University, the object of which is provide Sunday-school teachers and other students with a concise book of reference to the Bible.

In the Cambridge Explanatory Dictionary much useful matter has been compressed into a small space and the arrangement of helps in alphabetical form will be found most convenient for the purpose of ready reference.

THE REFERENCES IN THE CAMBRIDGE BIBLES.

Have been re-edited and revised throughout and in this revision full use has been made of the late Prebendary Scrivener's invaluable work on the References which was first published in the Cambridge Paragraph Bible.

CAMBRIDGE INDIA PAPER.

For whiteness, opaqueness, thinness and toughness, the new Cambridge India Paper is generally declared by experts to be the equal of, if not superior to, any thin paper now used in Bibles.

Special attention is called to the beautiful series of Maps which have been specially drawn for the Cambridge Bibles and which give all that is required in convenient form.

ASHERAH (of which the plural is Asherim or Asheroth), either a living tree or a tree-like pole, set up as an object of worship, being symbolical of the female or productive principle in nature. Every Phœnician altar had an ashōrah near it; in A.V. the word is often translated "green trees" or "grove." This "nature worship" became associated with gross immorality, and so the practice of setting up asheroth was forbidden by Hebrew prophets, Dt. 16. 21; cf. ASSYRIA and BABYLONIA were the two great Eastern empires before which all the old states of Syria and Palestine fell. We learn their history partly from the Bible narrative and also from contemporary monuments written in cuneiform characters and recently deciphered.

Babylonia or Shinar (Gen. 10. 10) is the alluvial country on the lower course of the Euphrates and Tigris, of which Babel or Babylon was the chief city. Wherefore I pray and beseech you, as many as are here present, to accompany me with a pure heart, and humble voice, unto the

GOD, that madest earth and heaven,
Darkness and light;
Who the day for toil hast given,
For rest the night:
May Thine angel-guards defend us,
Slumber sweet Thy mercy send us,
Holy dreams and hopes attend us,

SING, with all the sons of glory,
Sing the resurrection-song!
Death and sorrow, earth's dark story,
To the "former days" belong.
Even now the dawn is breaking,
Soon the night of time shall cease,
And, in God's own likeness waking,
Man shall know eternal peace.

DAILY PRAYER—EVENING. 15

5 When in the night I sleepless lie,
My soul with heavenly thoughts supply;
Let no ill dreams disturb my rest,
No powers of darkness me molest.

6 Oh, when shall I, in endless day,
Forever chase dark sleep away,
And hymns divine with angels sing,
All praise to Thee, eternal King?

7 Praise God, from Whom all blessings flow;
Praise Him, all creatures here below;
Praise Him above, angelic host:
Praise Father, Son, and Holy Ghost.

Governor Arnold's History of Rhode Island, based upon a careful study of documents in the British State Paper Office and in the Rhode Island State Archives, supplemented by investigations at Paris and the Hague, has from its publication been the authoritative history of the State.

Genealogical students will find in these volumes the names of fifteen hundred persons prominent in Rhode Island affairs. This work is of much more than local interest, as the experiment of religious liberty here tried, gives to this history an importance far beyond the narrow limits of the State.

"One of the best State histories ever written is S. G. Arnold's History of the State of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations." JOHN FISKE.

"The best history of Rhode Island is that of Arnold."

PROF. GEORGE P. FISHER, Yale University.

"A work prepared after long and careful research. Probably no student has ever made himself more familiar with the history of Rhode Island than did Arnold. This work abounds, therefore, in valuable information."

Each house is presented in a small, carefully made drawing, mainly in outline, without the slightest attempt at artistic effect; and the more artistic on that account, as revealing the work of architectural art without the interference of the draftsman's fancies. It is clear that these little drawings (stated to have been made with the aid of photographs) and the plans and explanatory sections are as trustworthy as it is possible to make drawings of the kind."—The Nation.

Cloth $1.75. Red Leather, $3.00. Antique Calf, $4.00.

A new and handsome edition of this, perhaps the most beautiful, of Browning's Poems.

In Mr. Coburn's illustrations, of which there are six in full-page photogravure reproductions, the reader will find a sweep of atmosphere which well harmonizes with the impetuous spirit and rhythm of the lines, and in the delicately colored woodcut decorations, a charming accompaniment to the story of the ride.

The poem of course needs no recommendation, and those who remember Mr. Coburn's delightful holiday editions of the Christmas Carol, Cricket on the Hearth, Rip Van Winkle, Sleepy Hollow, etc., will welcome the opportunity of seeing his splendid results in a deeper and more serious work.

Historic Rivers

The Ohio River A Course of Empire

By ARCHER B. HULBERT

Associate Professor of American History, Marietta College
Author of "Historic Highways of America," etc.

Uniform with "The Hudson River" 8vo, Fully Illustrated. Net $3.50

While the Ohio River has been the scene of many important events connected with the development of a large portion of North America, no attempt has heretofore been made to collect and embody in one volume a complete and comprehensive narrative of this great waterway.

This work presents in a consecutive narrative the most important historic incidents connected with the river, combined with descriptions of some of its most picturesque scenery and delightful excursions into its legendary lore.

The Connecticut River

And the Valley of the Connecticut—Three Hundred and Fifty Miles from Mountain to Sea—Historical and Descriptive

By EDWIN M. BACON

Author of "Walks and Rides in the Country Round Boston," "Historic Pilgrimages in New England," "Literary Pilgrimages in New England," etc.

Large 8vo, with about 100 Illustrations. Net, $3.50

No stream in America is so rich in legends and historic associations as the Connecticut. From ocean to source every mile of it is crowded with reminders of the early explorers, of the Indian wars, of the struggle of the colonies, and of the quaint, peaceful village existence along its banks in the early days of the Republic. Before the explorers came, the river figured to a great extent in the legendary history of the Indian tribes of the East. Beginning with the Dutch discovery and first occupation of the lower river, Mr. Bacon traces the interesting movements and events which are associated with this chief river of New England.

Romance of the Italian Villas

BY ELIZABETH W. CHAMPNEY
Author of "Romance of the French Abbeys," "Bourbon Châteaux," "Renaissance Châteaux," "Feudal Châteaux," etc.

8vo. With 9 Photogravure, 1 Coloured and 44 other Illustrations. Net, $3.00.
Uniform with "Romance of Bourbon Châteaux."

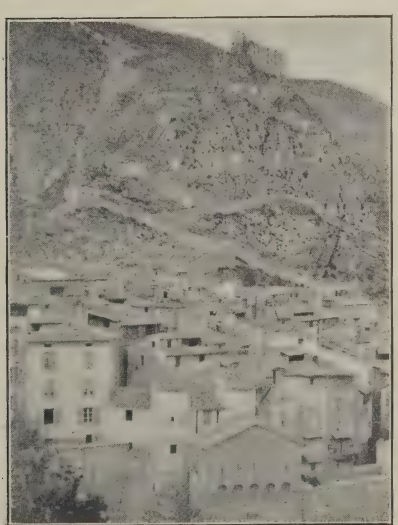
Hardly a score in a thousand who have delighted in the villas, castles, and palaces of Italy are aware of half of the dramatic episodes which have taken place within their walls, or can give the histories of the men and women who exercise such a fascination as they look out from the dim canvasses of the masters.

Here is Mrs. Champney's opportunity as well as her chosen field. She leaves to technical experts the discussion of the stage scenery of her theatre and plunges at once into its drama,—giving us graphic sketches of the least known (but not least entertaining) traditions of some of the best known villas of northern Italy.

Cathedrals and Cloisters of the South of France

By ELISE WHITLOCK ROSE

With 4 Photogravure and 200 other Illustrations from Original Photographs
By VIDA HUNT FRANCIS
and a Map. 2 Volumes. 8vo. Net, $5.00



These two handsomely printed volumes deal with the Cathedrals of the Provinces of Provence, Languedoc, and Gascony. They are the result of an extended sojourn in the South of France, during which every cathedral in the three provinces was visited, both those accessible by railroad and also those on the by-ways.

The authors were singularly fortunate in securing permission (not heretofore granted to anyone) to examine the ecclesiastical archives, and are thus enabled to present many fresh and interesting side-lights on the history of these most fascinating structures—fascinating not only for their material beauty, but also for the important part they played in the development of civilization. The illustrations are from photographs taken by Miss Francis under the most favorable conditions, and present a series that is not attainable elsewhere.

Winged Wheels in France

By MICHAEL MYERS SHOEMAKER

Author of "Islands of the Southern Seas," "The Great Siberian Railway," "The Heart of the Orient," "Prisons and Palaces of Mary Queen of Scots," etc.

8vo, with about 60 Illustrations. Net, $2.50

The record of a motor-car trip of nearly 5000 miles over superb highways and enchanting byways through the Rhine Valley and thence to Switzerland. Mr. Shoemaker is not only an experienced traveller, but he sees things and has the faculty of being able to tell what he saw in a most interesting manner. And what is really better worth seeing and telling about than these historic shrines so rich in story and romance? The volume is in no sense of the word a guidebook; no set itinerary was followed with feverish haste, but, as fancy might direct, pausing in some ancient city or quaint village, climbing mountains to visit long-forgotten castles, or rolling into valleys in search of deserted abbeys. It was an ideal journey and its charms are well pictured by pen and camera.

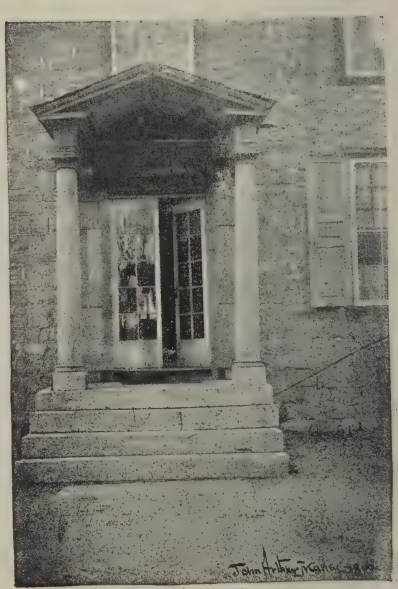
The Story of Old Fort Johnson

A Companion Book to "THE MOHAWK VALLEY"

By W. MAX REID

8vo, with 40 Illustrations by J. Arthur Maney. Net, $2.50

The title of Mr. Reid's volume indicates sufficiently the character and purpose of the work. The book does not claim to present a critical history of Sir Wm. Johnson, the grand old man of frontier literary life, although his name, of necessity, dominates nearly every page. It does present however, certain stirring and dramatic episodes in the strenuous life of Johnson, and describes the events of historic interest and of picturesque character which occurred within a circle of a hundred miles of the old fort. The volume begins with a charming bit of romance and ends with another, both of which have been woven out of incidents that are historically correct. The intervening chapters contain many facts of historic interest that are now given to the public for the first time.



The Doorway, Old Fort Johnson

Hunting Big Game

with Gun and with Kodak

How Wild Animals Look and Live in their Haunts

From Personal Experiences in the United States, Dominion of Canada, and Old Mexico.

By WILLIAM S. THOMAS

With 70 Illustrations from Original Photographs by the Author

The author makes a sportsmanlike plea for the use of a camera rather than rifle in the quest of big game. The appeal cannot fail to reach the hearts of all those who are interested in preserving the life of wild animals, rather than unmercifully slaughtering them with modern firearms. Mr. Thomas procures as much pleasure from his humane method of hunting as does the so-called "sportsman" whose chief desire is to kill.

The territory covered in the book is not only remarkable for its extent, but also for the vivid and picturesque descriptions of every locality visited. The remarkable kodak pictures give one interesting glimpses of large game in their native haunts from Canada to Mexico.

On the Great American Plateau

Wanderings among Canyons and Buttes in the Land of the Cliff-Dweller, and the Indian of to-day

By T. MITCHELL PRUDDEN

8vo, with 68 Illustrations from Photographs and from Original Drawings by Edward Leaming, and a Map. Net, $

The great highland country in the southwestern United States, now accessible by rail, is a land of lofty buttes, of mighty chasms, of austere deserts, and primæval forests. Over it all lies the romance of the early Spanish explorers and the mystery of the cliff-dwellers, while the primitive Indian folks here and there cherish quaint customs and linger among the superstitions of forgotten centuries. Here are lofty volcanic mountains and here is the masterpiece of world sculpture, the Grand Canyon of the Colorado River.

The Knutsford Edition is a "biographical" edition in the sense in which Mrs. Ritchie's "Thackeray" is so called. The work upon it is being done under the editorial supervision of a scholar of the first rank, Dr. Adolphus W. Ward, Master of Peterhouse, Cambridge. This biographical edition will no doubt supersede all others, and take its place as the standard and definitive collection of Mrs. Gaskell's writings.

"Mrs. Gaskell has done what neither I nor other female writers in France can accomplish; she has written novels which excite the deepest interest in men of the world, and which every girl will be the better for reading."—George Sand.

"It is hardly possible to read a page of Mrs. Gaskell's writings without getting some good from it. The style is clear and forcible, the tone pure, the matter wholesome. . . . Other novel writers of her generation may have more poetry or more scholarship; but in the art of telling a story she has no superior, perhaps no equal."—The British Quarterly.

Madame de Staël to Benjamin Constant

Unpublished Letters and Other Mementos

From the papers left by Mme. Charlotte de Constant. Edited by Elizabeth de Nolde. Translated from the French by Charlotte Harwood

Crown 8vo. Illustrated

"No one," said Lesmonde, "could really know Mme. de Staël who has not seen her with Benjamin Constant, and he also was only at his best when with her." The next best thing to seeing these two famous people together is to see their letters to each other. A great granddaughter of Mme. Constant by her first marriage to Baron de Marenholtz has unearthed from the Marenholtz archives some hitherto unpublished letters written by Mme. de Staël to Constant after their rupture. In them much of her passionate nature breaks forth, and in the midst of her keen interest in politics, and remarks and suggestions on the drawing up of the Constitution and other important matters, comes her constant cry that the most inconstant of Constants has ruined her life. Besides these letters, the editor, Baroness Elizabeth de Nolde, has added many details of the lives of both Mme. de Staël, and Benjamin Constant, which she gathered from her grandmother, the wife of Mme. Constant's son, the Baroness de Marenholtz, and the whole forms an interesting complement to what has already been published concerning one of the most extraordinary minds of their time.

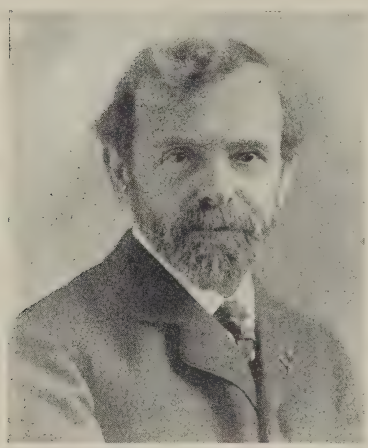
The Censorship of the Church and Its Influence upon the Production and the Distribution of Literature

A Study of the History of the Prohibitory and Expurgatory Indexes, Together with Some Consideration of the Effects of State Censorship and of Censorship by Protestants

By GEO. HAVEN PUTNAM, LITT. D.

Author of "Authors and Their Public in Ancient Times," "Books and Their Makers in the Middle Ages," "The Question of Copyright," etc.

Two volumes, 8vo. Uniform with "Books and Their Makers." Net, $



George Haven Putnam, Litt. D.

This treatise presents a schedule of the indexes issued by the Church, together with a list of the more important of the decrees, edicts, prohibitions, and briefs having to do with the prohibition of specific books from the time of Gelasius I, 567 A.D., to the issue in 1900 of the latest Index of the Church under Leo XIII. The author has had an opportunity of making a personal examination of the larger number of the indexes which are described in his schedule, and he presents under the descriptive titles of the more important of these indexes, a specification of the special character of the constitution and regulations contained in each, and a selection of titles of the more important of the books condemned. He has attempted to indicate the influence exerted by the Censorship of the Church on the undertakings of authors, professors, publishers, and booksellers in each one of the European States in which the regulations of the Index came into force. In the final chapter is presented a summary of the conclusions reached by certain representative Catholics of to-day in regard to the present literary policy of the Church of Rome.

"Mr. Jusserand's qualifications for the task which he has undertaken are of a high order. There are few foreigners, and certainly very few Frenchmen, who have so intimate a knowledge of English life; he has already gained great distinction as an original investigator in more than one period of English literary history; and although his point of view in the present work is unmistakably that of a Frenchman, he shows a degree of sympathetic insight which is seldom met with in foreign critics of our literature."—London Athenæum.

The Poetic Movement in England

Author of "Tennyson: His Art and Relation to Modern Life," etc.

Lovers of literature have long since recognized in the work of the Rev. Stopford A. Brooke a rare combination of sympathy, insight and sound scholarship. His style has been characterized as "calm, dignified, and crystal clear."

The present volume contains among other essays appreciation of Matthew Arnold, D. G. Rossetti, Arthur Hugh Clough, and William Morris.

The Gate of Death

ANONYMOUS

Crown 8vo. Net, $1.25

This is concerned with a theme—death—which must claim, at least at moments, the attention of the most thoughtless. The author was brought to the gate, which is named in the title of his book, by an all but fatal accident, and lingered there long without passing through. Face to face with the dark angel, he looks back over his life; tells how the relative values of things, when seen from the valley of the shadow, were changed; with what feelings he contemplated his past; what modifications were made in his views of duty, God, and immortality; and with what heart he confronted the unknown. Death is the single event certain to befall every man; and when one who has long faced it, and returns to tell, in awed accents, the tale of his experience, he should not fail to find eager listeners.

The Lost Art of Reading

By GERALD STANLEY LEE

Mount Tom Edition

2 vols. 8vo.

It has been thought best to accommodate a special demand for certain parts of The Lost Art of Reading by dividing the book and publishing an edition in two volumes, to be called the Mount Tom Edition. The first volume is called The Child and The Book, and deals with the practical problems of reading, among children and young people, and in schools and colleges, and the second is called The Lost Art of Reading or The Man and The Book and deals with the mere personal and private experiences of the adult reader in his struggle to remain intelligent in modern life.

"I must express the joy I have had, the enthusiasm I have felt, in gloating over every page of what I believe is the most brilliant book of any season since Carlyle's and Emerson's pens were laid aside. The title does not hint at any more than a fraction of the contents. It is a highly original critique of philistinism and gradgrindism in education, library science, science in general, and life in general. It is full of humor, rich in style and eccentric in form, and all suffused with the perfervid genius of a man who is not merely a thinker but a force. Every sentence is tinglingly alive, and as if furnished with long antennæ of suggestiveness. I do not know who Mr. Lee is, but I know this — that if he goes on as he has been, we need no longer whine that we have no worthy successors to the old Brahminical writers of New England.

"I have been reading with wonder and laughter and with loud cheers. It is the word of all words that needed to be spoken just now. It makes me believe that after all we haven't a great kindergarten about us in authorship, but that there is virtue, race, sap in us yet. I can conceive that the date of the publication of this book may well be the date of the moral and intellectual renaissance for which we have long been scanning the horizon."

The Heart of Hamlet's Mystery

By KARL WERDER

Translated by Elizabeth Wilder, with an introduction by W. J. Rolfe.

Crown 8vo. Net, $

This extraordinary piece of German criticism must now be regarded as one of the landmarks of the literature that is devoted to a study of the Prince of Denmark. It has won over to its point of view Shakespearian critics of the first rank, among them Furness, Corson, and Hudson. Werder advances, and, it would seem triumphantly champions, the theory that Hamlet's inaction and procrastination were forced upon him by circumstances which were beyond his control. He vehemently denies and utterly dismisses the theory that weakness of will, or any subjective cause, paralyzed the hand of the Prince. Werder's essay, now for the first time appearing in English, will not fail to engage the attention of all students of Shakespeare.

Tacitus and Other Roman Studies

By GASTON BOISSIER,

of the French Academy. Author of "Cicero and His Friends," etc.

Authorized English Version by W. G. Hutchinson. 8vo, net, $1.75

As a distinguished Latinist and essayist on Roman History, of the literary type, M. Gaston Boissier has few if any rivals in Western Europe. M. Boissier has been known for over forty years, not only as one of the most genial and accomplished of modern critics, but also as one of the first living authorities on Latin history and archæology, Latin eloquence and letters, and above all of Roman social life under the Empire. To a reputation gained as early as 1865 by his fine book on Cicero et ses Amis the veteran critic has now put the culminating touch by this exceptionally artistic yet concentrated study of Tacitus.

Following the eponymous essay are shorter sketches dealing with the Schools of Declamation in Rome without newspapers; and an extremely penetrating and mordant, yet most entertaining study of the epigrammatist Martial; undoubtedly the best thing available on that poet in English.

Thomas à Kempis and the Imitation of Christ

A Study of the History of Christian Quietism from Early Times to the Close of the Fifteenth Century

By J. E. G. de Montmorency

8vo, with many Portraits and other Illustrations. Net, $

In this volume the author presents the results of his investigation into the record of the work of the Christian Quietists and the influence secured by them. He attempts to trace also the effects that the Imitation of Christ had upon the religious and literary thought of later ages. Full consideration is given to the vexed question of the authorship of the Imitation. The volume also includes accounts of monastic life and of educational movements and methods during the fifteenth century.

Dr. Bielschowsky was acknowledged as the foremost authority on Goethe of recent times. His biography embraces the results of all previous study of Goethe, and in addition includes a great many distinct contributions to our knowledge of his times and works, especially of how the writings are the faithful expression of the man in the various phases of his development. The literary form is one of the highest artistic finish, the book being intended not merely for specialists but more particularly for the general cultured public. Hence the overwhelming mass of learned detail so conspicuous in German works of a similar nature has been curtailed and everything is presented in due proportion. The leading German papers are unanimous in declaring it to be the most important life of Goethe, from the standpoint of scholarship, sympathetic interpretation, and literary art—in fact, the most important biography of any man written in German for many years. It is generally conceded by scholars that we now have for the first time a thoroughly reliable and satisfactory life of Goethe.

For one who does not read German with ease, there is no up-to-date work to which one can go for information on the greatest writer Germany ever produced, and one of the greatest poets and thinkers in all the history of the world's literature.

Some Comments on Volume I.

"Bielschowsky's life deserves a place with Boswell's and Lockhart's and the other great biographies. The narrative form is maintained throughout, and the book reads like a story, the first volume at least like a most romantic one."—New York Globe.

"No biography of Goethe has taken the place that Bielschowsky's may fairly claim. . . . The definitive Goethe biography."—The Dial.

Princess and Court Ladies

By ARVÉDE BARINE

Author of " Youth of La Grande Mademoiselle "
" Louis XIV. and La Grande Mademoiselle " etc.

8vo. Fully Illustrated. Uniform with "La Grande Mademoiselle" Net, $3.00

The success of the earlier volumes has encouraged the publication of the present volume, a collection of papers in which are told the stories of several ladies who played important rôles in the great world, and whose careers were watched with eager interest by all Europe. The stories are full of romantic interest, vididly picturesque, and written with the easy grace and vivacity that characterize French studies of this kind at the best. The first of the papers introduces the reader to Marie Mancini, one of the five nieces of Cardinal Mazarin, the strangly fascinating woman who all but became Queen of France, and whose extravagances after her marriage to the Constable of Colonna were so scandalous and so surprising. Here also we read of Christina, Queen of Sweden, another striking and memorable personality, as dangerous, if not as subtle as Marie Mancini, a woman capable de tout, who, among other remarkable performances, ordered the murder of her Equerry, Monaldeschi, a crime which was perpetrated in an apartment of her own residence, and in the most cruel and cold-blooded fashion. Somewhat less dramatic, but of very unusual interest none the less, are the accounts of La Duchess du Maine, La Margrave of Bayreuth, and the Arabian Princess which make up the rest of the volume.

By H. NOEL WILLIAMS

Author of "Mme. Recamier and her Friends." "Mme. de Pompadour," etc.

8vo, with Photogravure Frontispiece and 16 other Full-page Illustrations
Net $3.50

Hortense Mancini, Duchesse de Mazarin

The story of the lives of Laure, Olympe, Marie, Hortense, and Marianne Mancini, the celebrated nieces of Cardinal Mazarin. Brought from Rome to France as children, all five made brilliant marriages, and, with the exception of the eldest sister, who died at a comparatively early age, all had the most romantic careers. The charming romance of Louis XIV. and Marie Mancini, which, but for the determined opposition of Mazarin, would undoubtedly have ended in Marie becoming Queen of France, is related at length, and will be found of the greatest possible interest.

Scarcely less interest attaches to the careers of the clever and unscrupulous Olympe (Comtesse de Soissons), "a woman formed for great crimes, whose true place would have been in the palace of the Cæsars or the Vatican of the Borgias"; of Marianne (Duchesse de Bouillon) who, with Olympe, was implicated in the famous Poison Trials in 1680; and of the lovely Hortense (Duchesse de Mazarin), who fled from her jealous and bigoted husband to England where she became one of the reigning beauties of Charles II.'s Court.

Mr. Noel Williams's many readers will find in this volume the same thoroughness of research and careful criticism, combined with lightness of treatment, which distinguishes all his work.

George Herbert and his Times

By A. G. HYDE

8vo, with many Illustrations. Net, $

Mr. Hyde's book describes the life of the Poet of the Temple and the characteristics of his time, the interval between the Age of Elizabeth and the beginnings of the Civil Wars,—a period of intense theological interest and activity, and at the same time of dancing, duelling, bear-baiting, play-going and play-reading. It gives an account of his family and early years; his school and university life, including his public oratorship at Cambridge; his part in the ecclesiastical controversies of the day; his relations with James I. and his Court; and his final laying aside of the courtier's dress and sword for the humbler garb of the village priest; with his marriage, parochial life, and death. It gives also, an account of his friendship with Bishop Andrewes, Bacon, and Donne, and with Nicholas Ferrar, founder of the religious Community at Little Gidding, and of his connection with the revival of the English Church under Laud; with an estimate of his place among the religious poets and writers of the seventeenth century, and the influence of his works, including his "Country Parsons" on the thought and life of later times.

David Garrick and His Circle

By MRS. CLEMENT PARSON

8vo. Fully Illustrated. Net, $

Mrs. Parson's book is first of all a life of the greatest of English actors, a record of his triumphs, and a study of his methods. It is also a broad picture of the social life of the day. Garrick is followed into all the circles he frequented, and one makes the acquaintance of the great company of his friends and associates. The theatrical society of the day—its whimsicalities, vanities, vulgarities, its unquenchable and undignified thirst for the applause of the groundlings, its frailties, and its estimable qualities, its manners, and its whole habit of life—is presented with the greatest possible fidelity and vivacity. The volume will receive the praise of the judicious on the score of its delightful pen portraits—that of Garrick at the centre of interest—of the notabilities of the Augustan age, on account of its faithful and animated pictures of 18th century social life—particularly theatrical life—and manners; as a repertory of most amusing anecdotes and bons mots that in themselves strike with perfect truth the key-note of the tone of the period; and finally on the score of the ease and grace of style, which is enlivened everywhere by the play of a singularly quick and agreeable humor and a rare faculty for racy and pithy phrase making.

Memoirs of Comte de Rambuteau

By GEORGE LEQUIN

Translated by J. C. Brogan

8vo. Fully illustrated. Net, $

A record of the experiences of the writer, who was Chamberlain—and an admirable master of ceremonies it would seem—to Napoleon I. In it the first Emperor of the French is seen in his familiar and every-day relations, and a detailed and animated account of the way in which the Court informally amused itself or entertained in public and official functions is given. Rambuteau, ebullient with enthusiasm for the pomp and parade of the imperial ménage, and bending all his energies to the successful conduct of fêtes and balls, did much to work up his master's Court to a condition of theatrical splendor and dignity, and to conciliate and bring about him a goodly number of the families of the old noblesse, to which the Count himself belonged by birth. For the light these memoirs throw upon the character of Napoleon and those about him, and for the picture they present of French society, they are well worth the attention of all interested in the social life of the period with which they deal, and of the great personages who played their parts in it.

Madame Recamier and Her Friends

By EDOUARD HERRIOT

Authorized English Version

Beautiful, virtuous, altogether charming, Madame Recamier "reigned for upwards of fifty years the almost undisputed queen of Parisian society." It seems extraordinary that a woman of such commanding beauty and fame should not have had more attention from biographers. Yet such is the case. The present volume is the result of much careful sifting of available material by M. Herriot, and forms an absorbing and valuable work.

The author has endeavored to popularize the results of recent research based on the evidence of monuments and inscriptions and to exhibit the gradual transformation of society culminating in the triumph of Christianity.

Fiction

A Spinner in the Sun

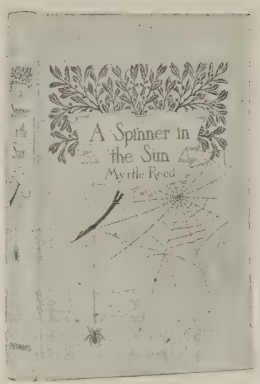
By MYRTLE REED

Author of "At the Sign of the Jack-o'-Lantern," "Lavender and Old Lace," "The Master's Violin," etc.

Crown 8vo. Uniform with "Lavender and Old Lace."

Cloth, extra gilt top, printed in red and black, net, $1.50

Full red leather, net, $2.00. Antique Calf, net, $2.50
Lavender Silk, net, $3.50



Completely understanding the popular heart, Miss Reed well knows how to strike chords of humor, pathos, and sentiment that awaken responsive notes in it, which have given her a secure place in the affections of a large public, both American and English. The exacting critic will be the more ready to praise this tale, because while it gives free play to all the gifts before displayed by its author—her breezy or tricksy humor, her story-telling skill, her sentiment—it shows a firmer grasp upon character, and a disposition on the part of the writer to grapple more seriously with life. It shows also a stronger narrative interest, and an involvement of plot that piques the curiosity of the reader. There is a mystery at the heart of the book that throws over it a glamor of romance—the mystery of a veiled lady who lives in solitude, and whose features her neighbors have never seen. The joy of young and happy love and the pathos of blighted affection provide the alternating lights and shadows of this latest of Miss Reed's unfailingly popular stories.

A Draught of the Blue

Translated from the Original Manuscript

By F. W. BAIN

Translator of "A Digit of the Moon"

Crown 8vo, with frontispiece, $1.50

Whether translated from original manuscripts or the work of a modern luxuriant fancy, this charming story from the Hindu is characteristically Eastern in delicacy, tenderness, vividness, gorgeousness of imagination, and floridity of language. It also possesses a somewhat greater refinement, according to Western notions, than one often finds in tales of Oriental life and love as told by Orientals.

"Charming love stories that will be absolutely novel to most readers. They are delicate, vivid, and told in beautiful English. They show Hindu life and thought in the true light, a thing worth doing in view of the mushy mysticisms and theosophical gibbering that have obscured it in this country."—N.Y. Sun.

Shibusawa:

Or The Passing of Old Japan

By I. WILLIAM ADAMS

Illustrated, Crown. 8vo. $1.50

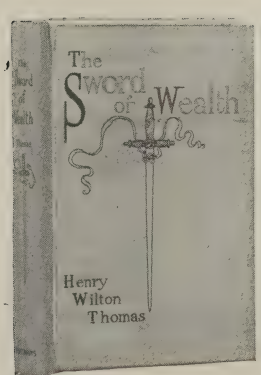
A romance based upon the Shogunate's fall and the Mikadate's restoration—possibly the most interesting if not potent, period in Oriental life, as affecting the destinies of humankind. Those who stand amazed at Japan's recent successes may find in this story the reason therefor, together with the elements that shall place her imprint still higher in the forging of universal thought and civilization.

Yet through all the pages run a love and a heroism that lend interest to the "pass time" reader. The giving way of the old to the new everywhere predominates, and may be said to form the motive nucleus round which a group of interesting personages and impressive events are simply but fascinatingly cast.

The Sword of Wealth

By HENRY WILTON THOMAS

Crown, 8vo, $1.50



A powerful story of a woman's love triumphant over events which, amazing as they are, might occur easily in real life, although pronounced new to fiction by those who have read the manuscript. The reader, who is carried into Northern Italy, quickly realizes that here is a life as modern in thought and external aspect as that of any country in the world. The men and women who keep the drama moving are beings of flesh and blood, imbued with the ideas and passions that belong to this century.

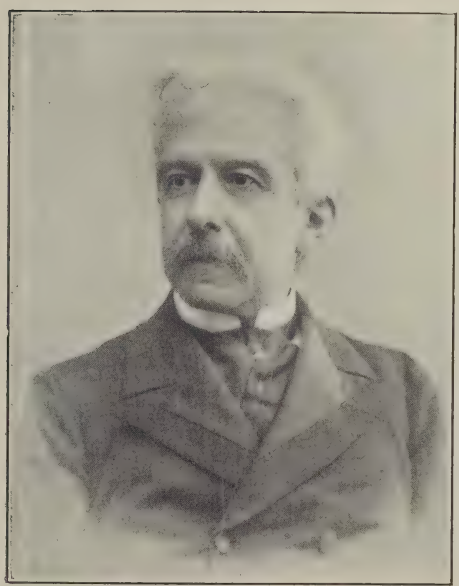
The insurrection in Milan, when the city for three days was at the mercy of the bread rioters; the assassination of King Humbert, the radical democratic movement in Italy—these are some of the big facts that have kindled the author's fancy. They are back of the motives that actuate the chief characters and minor ones; they contribute to the several dramatic situations. From beginning to end the tale flows steadily, serenely, like Old Adda, the majestic river on whose banks part of the action takes place.

"A novel which both by the nature and the bitterness of the controversy it has exciedt can only be copmared to the appearance in England of John Inglesant a quarter of a century ago, or yet more precisely to that of Robert Elsmere some few years later."—Fortnightly Review.

The Saint (Il Santo)

By ANTONIO FOGAZZARO

Authorized Translation by M. Agnetti Pritchard
With an Introduction by William Roscoe Thayer



Crown, 8vo. $1.50

While The Saint concerns itself with the present day religious questions and political problems of Italy, the author has not allowed the purpose of his story to overweigh and impair its dramatic quality. The story is most interesting as a description of Italian life both high and low. It is being read by thousands in Italy who care little or nothing about the religious problem and who find themselves literally entranced by its strong human interest. American readers should be glad of the opportunity, which this translation will offer, of making the acquaintance of an author whose works have proved so acceptable to his own compatriots. The Saint has been added to the "Index Librorum Prohibitorum."

The Man of Property

By JOHN GALSWORTHY

Author of "The Island Pharisees," etc.

Crown, 8vo, $1.50

In this tale the reader is taken into the bosom of a family of smug, overfed, preposterously prosperous Philistine people—a strong, selfish, dogged, stodgy breed, the enemies of ideas and progress, with hard, conventional, impenetrable minds that make them at once the terror and the aversion of the sensitive, generous, sympathetic, and æsthetic souls. They are the pillars of the more solid clubs; and their houses cover the western half of London in serried masses of comfort, wealth, and ugliness. Respectable, well dressed, shrewd, dull, and full of hard sense, they are unenlightened, conservative citizens who originate nothing and would keep all things as they are. It is a group of people of this kind, embodying a heavy philistinism and contrasted with people of an artistic temperament and artistic ideals, that the present story is concerned. The characterization in the novel is admirable, and the author understands completely the phases of social life he sets himself to portray.

Christianity as Viewed by a Teacher of the Hindu Faith

The Culture of the Soul among Western Nations

By P. RÁMANÁTHAN, K. C., C.M.G.

Solicitor-General for Ceylon

8vo. Net, $

This book advances the view that the aim of all religion, actual knowledge of God, is to be attained by the development of love in the soul; the attainment of perfect love, which involves knowledge of God. The path to this attainment lies in following a living teacher who has himself reached that perfection, sanctification, or Christhood by the development of perfect love within himself. Throughout the early history of the Christian church paramount importance was attached to the oral teaching and interpretations of the Scriptures by men of true spiritual discernment. That this view has always been accepted in the East, but has long since been lost sight of in the West, is the chief purpose of the book to show.

The Evolution of Religions

By EVERARD BIERER

8vo. Net, $

A comparative discussion—able, interesting, and illuminating—of the different great religious systems of the world, and an argument for a universal religion, written from the view point of liberal Unitarianism, and for popular reading. Mr. Bierer's main argument is that if the Doctrine of the Trinity were eliminated from Christianity there would be no reason why Christians, Jews, Zoroastrians, Confucianists and Buddhists could not associate as brothers, and worship in the same temples, despite minor differences of forms and rites. On the whole it is a bracing contribution to the advancement of true religion and a warm eulogium of liberal Christianity.

The Acts of the Apostles. Revelation. The Gospel of John. The Three Epistles of John

By HENRY P. FORBES, D.D.

Dean of the School of Theology of St. Lawrence University and Craig Professor of Biblical Language and Literature

No. 4 in International Hand-books to the New Testament. 8vo. Net, $

This volume completes the series of International Hand-books to the New Testament. The volumes in this series have been constructed on a plan which admits of greater freedom of treatment than is usual in commentaries proper. The space generally devoted to a minute examination of the grammatical construction of passages of minor importance is occupied with the discussion of those of a special interest from a doctrinal and practical point of view. Accordingly, more prominence has been given to the statement of the results of the critical processes than to the presentation of the details of these processes by means of extended discussions of questions of Greek grammar, philology, and exegesis. Hence, while the advanced student will find much to interest him in these volumes, it is believed that ministers who have not the time to occupy themselves with the refinements of minute hermeneutics, superintendents and teachers of Sunday-schools, and Bible-students in general will find them suited to their needs. The text used is that of the Revised Version.

The Crown Theological Library

XVI—The Hebrew Religion to the Establishment of Judaism under Ezra

By REV. WILLIAM E. ADDIS

Crown 8vo. Net, $1.50

A brief historical study of the religion of the Jews from the earliest times on well into the fourth century B.C. Apart from its scholarly value, apart from the admirably ordered presentation of facts and fair inferences, this book is of interest and importance because it brings home to the reader the attractive power of the Old Testament as a classical expression of truths which have exercised an immense influence upon the life of man. This work offers, too, a way of escape from the conventional point of view in the study of the Hebrew Scriptures. Presenting religious ideas in relation to Kings and Prophets and against their proper historical backgrounds, it lends a profane and human, as well as a sacred, interest to Biblical study. A chronological outline prefixed to the text proper gives a bird's-eye view of the whole ground covered in this treatise, and is a handy guide that enables a reader to get his bearings readily at each stage of his pleasant journey through it.

The History of Painting

By RICHARD MUTHER, Ph.D.

Professor in the University of Breslau; author of "History of Modern Painting," etc.

Translated from the German and edited with critical notes by George Kriehn, Ph.D., sometime Instructor in the Johns-Hopkins University and Assistant Professor in the Leland Stanford Jr. University.

2 volumes, 8vo, with Illustrations. Net, $

Richard Muther is a critic of art at once brilliant and sound whose reputation is now world-wide. Muther's work is not an art history of the hackneyed kind that follows the chronicles of painting into its obscure and insignificant ramifications, and weighs down the narrative with masses of biographical and descriptive data. The aim of the present book is, while not neglecting technical questions, to interpret the great masterpieces of painting as human documents and manifestations of the dominant feelings and tendencies of the epochs to which they belong.

The Development of Modern Art

A Comparative Study of the Plastic Arts, being a Contribution to a New System of Æsthetics

By J. MEIER-GRAEFE

From the German, by Florence Simmonds

2 Volumes, Large 8vo, with over 200 Full-page Illustrations and 60 Text Cuts. Net, $

In this thoughtful study of the development of modern art, Dr. Julius Meier-Graefe has worked out his thesis on novel and original lines. Starting, for example, from Rubens, whom he pronounces the father of modern painting, he traces the development of modern art from the great Fleming through various personalities, following this chiefly in its two main currents—that of France, where the Rubens tradition was implanted by Watteau and by Fragonard, and where the stream of tendency may be followed throughout the Classic and Romantic movements to the great school of modern Impressionists—and that of England, where it was imported by Van Dyck, and took on new beauty in the hands of Reynolds and Gainsborough. Throughout, he insists on the continuous growth of art, the evolution of one great personality from another, of one great tradition from what has gone before.

The Essentials of Æsthetics

As Applied to Music, Poetry, Painting, Sculpture, and Architecture

A compend of a System of Comparative Æsthetics as presented in the following volumes: Art in Theory, The Representative Significance of Form, Poetry as a Representative Art, Painting, Sculpture, and Architecture as Representative Arts, The Genesis of Art Form, Rhythm and Harmony in Poetry and Music, and Proportion and Harmony of Line and Color, in Painting, Sculpture, and Architecture.

By GEORGE LANSING RAYMOND, L.H.D.
Professor of Æsthetics in the George Washington University
Formerly Professor in Princeton University

8vo. Illustrated. $

The object of this book is to determine for the reader the qualities causing excellence in the higher arts, and to increase his appreciation of them. The volume has been prepared for readers whose time is too limited to study the minutiæ of the subject and for teachers who need a text-book. The phenomena of the arts of the highest class have been traced to their sources in material nature and in the human mind; the different arts have been shown to be developed by exactly similar method, which have been carefully indicated; and the effects of all these arts together upon everything that makes for culture and for humanity have been considered in themselves, as well as in their relations to religion and to science, to both of which art is somewhat allied, and yet in such ways as to make it important that the three should be differentiated.

Diagnosis of Organic Nervous Diseases

By CHRISTIAN A. HERTER, M.D.

Professor of Pharmacology and Therapeutics at Columbia University
Visiting Physician to the City Hospital

Revised by L. PIERCE CLARK, M. D.

Visiting Neurologist to the Randall's Island Hospital and School
Consulting Neurologist at the Manhattan State Hospital

With about 100 Illustrations. Crown 8vo, cloth

The uninterrupted demand for the first edition of this manual as a guide in the teaching of the diagnosis of nervous diseases has led the publishers to believe that a revised and modernized edition would prove welcome. Dr. Clark, who has undertaken the revision, has contributed much that is new without, however, altering or extending the scope of the earlier publication. He has rewritten in greater part the chapter on the anatomy and physiology of the nervous system, and has modernized the section dealing with the symptomatology of nervous diseases. The chapter on the examination of the patient has been wholly rewritten. It has been thought desirable to alter the title of the volume in order to express more plainly its preponderant relation to organic nervous diseases.

Scientific Sanction for the Use of Alcohol

Proved and Popularly Expanded by a Physiologist

By DR. J. STARKE

8vo, net, $

The uncertainty of conviction—whether one should not take a drop of alcohol, or whether one may at least take moderate quantities—must always disconcert people anew, since this question is continually coming up when one is on a journey, at home, or in company, and even when one consults a physician who orders wine. Here, then, a word of relief is necessary, and all the more for the reason that there is not the slightest ground for all this uncertainty, since neither natural science nor medicine has hitherto shown that the moderate use of good alcoholic drinks is harmful. The present treatise is principally a revision of the most generally accepted views concerning alcohol, but it is not that alone. It is not only a criticism of old demonstrations of scientific advances, but it is also a popularly intelligent picture of the conditions under the moderate use of alcohol on the basis of modern scientific facts and demonstrations.

The Power to Regulate Corporations and Commerce

This book is an attempt to define the limits within which the governments of the several states and of the United States may secure freedom of trade by control of the persons and things engaged therein and to indicate the respective powers of the three departments of government in the exercise of such control. The relation of the three departments of the government of the United States to one another and to those of the State governments in the control of interstate commerce and of corporations is set forth with reference to over two thousand cases involving questions of constitutional law.

The Muscles of the Eye

By LUCIEN HOWE, M.A., M.D.

Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, England. Member of the Ophthalmologischer Gesellschaft; of the Société Française d' Ophtalmologie, and of the Ophthalmological Society of the United Kingdom; Professor of Ophthalmology, University of Buffalo.

Two Volumes 8vo, with over 300 Illustrations, and a Bibliography of over 2400 articles carefully classified according to their treatment of more than 200 different phases of the subject. Net, $

The aim of the author is to state in the simplest language possible the actual facts now known concerning the ocular muscles. At the same time he contributes a number of new observations, methods of measurement, instruments, etc., which are of decided practical value. The first volume deals with the surgical anatomy of the muscles, especially their "secondary" insertions and the check ligaments, and also with the various methods of testing the eyes with prisms, and measurements of relative accommodation, convergence and torsion. The second volume deals with the pathology, with so-called eye strain, with deviations latent or apparent, the paralyses, and operations. The appendices are particularly valuable. The first contains a list of over 2400 articles, arranged chronologically and alphabetically, in more than 200 different groups. The second appendix is a list of over a hundred different points still remaining for investigation. The third contains a list of libraries in the United States and England where various ophthalmic journals can be found. The indices of subjects and names are unusually complete.

"It would be impertinent to commend his knowledge of the subject, but it is permissible to remark that he here shows himself an expounder of the first order. His marshalling of the multitudinous details is masterly and so lucid that any one who knows the meaning of the words can follow it with ease. And these qualities are enhanced by the true scientific spirit and scrupulous fairness with which arguments are handled. The present position, as here stated, is that resistance to disease is effected both by the white cells and by various substances in the fluids, but that the latter are also produced by the cells. Since the whole process is a vital one and the cells are the vital element the theory seems a priori sound if not inevitable."—London Times.

A time-saving text-book for lecturers to elementary students in sociology. It aims to encourage independent work by students without involving them in unduly advanced work. Controverted theory is carefully distinguished from fact, and the suggestions and bibliographical notes for research which it contains are separate from those for more elementary descriptive work. It is also a guide for home-reading clubs for young women of college age.

Old English Clocks

(The Wetherfield Collection)

With an Introduction and Notes by

F. J. BRITTEN

One Volume, Folio, with about 100 large Illustrations and a Frontispiece in Colour. Limited to 300 numbered copies. Net, $21.00

Among domestic objects of utility few are more interesting to trace through succeeding generations than English clocks.

That they have not more widely received the attention they deserve is doubtless due to the want of opportunity for examination and comparison. No public museum contains a collection, and only a stray specimen or two is to be found among the nation's possessions.

In order to properly consider this interesting subject, it is necessary to follow out the evolution of the craft, and the finest collection extant has been generously placed at the disposal of the publishers of this work for the purpose.

Mr. D. A. F. Wetherfield, the owner of the collection, has brought together examples of all the best masters of the craft from the time of the Stuarts up to the middle of the nineteenth century, and about 100 specimens will be reproduced in this volume.

Mr. F. J. Britten, the well-known authority on the subject, has consented to provide an Historical Introduction and Notes on the examples illustrated.

The University Press

of Cambridge, England

Messrs. G. P. Putnam's Sons announce that they have accepted the agency for the United States for the publications of The University Press (The Pitt Press) of Cambridge, England, and that they are now prepared to fill orders for these publications.

Correspondence is invited with instructors, students, the general public, and the trade. Messrs. Putnam will be ready to send to correspondents who are interested copies of the New General Catalogue of the Cambridge Press Publications.

They will also be pleased to include in the list of correspondents to whom will be forwarded as issued the Quarterly Bulletin of the Press the names of all who are interested in this class of publications. This list of books includes a large proportion of the most important works in higher mathematics, in physics, in chemistry, and in general science that come into print on either side of the Atlantic. It also includes an increasingly important series of works in English literature, in general literature, and in history, theology, philology, etc.

In this connection, it is desired to call the attention of professors, students, librarians, and scholarly readers generally to the important list of American and English publications issued by Messrs. Putnam of standard works in the departments of science, literature, and art. These books are in increasing requirement for reference and as texts for college and university classes, and for college and town libraries. Messrs. Putnam will be pleased to forward as required a complete general catalogue, and their monthly and semi-annual lists.

$2.00 A YEAR | THE CRITIC IN 1906 | 25 CENTS A NUMBER

WITH the issue of January, 1906, THE CRITIC enters upon its twenty-fifth year. It began its career on the first of January, 1881, as a fortnightly. The publication was later changed to a weekly, and some years thereafter to an illustrated monthly, and it is in this last, its present form, that it has secured its greatest popularity. The editorial plans of THE CRITIC for the coming year are not as yet fully completed. Arrangements are in train for certain important series and articles, announcement of which will be made later. Specification may, however, now be made of certain interesting and attractive papers which will be included in the series for 1906.

HON. JOHN MORLEY ON READING. No more important or valuable paper has ever appeared in THE CRITIC than that on "The Great Commonplaces of Reading," by the Hon. John Morley, which will be printed in an early number. In this paper Mr. Morley discusses every aspect of the reading habit, from the Right Attitude of Mind to the Formation of Character.

LETTERS OF LAFCADIO HEARN. THE CRITIC has the rare good fortune to lay before its readers a series of letters written by the late Lafcadio Hearn to Henry E. Krehbiel, the well-known musical critic of the New York Tribune. The two men were close friends, and the letters are of the most intimate nature, at the same time touching upon vital questions in modern literature, the arts, and life.

SOCIAL ENGLAND. A series of papers on social conditions in England, ranging in subjects from the costermonger life of Whitechapel to the lords and ladies of Mayfair. These papers, because of their intimate revelations, will be published anonymously and will be begun early in the new year. It may be said, however, that the author is a writer well known on both sides of the Atlantic.

MEN, WOMEN, AND BOOKS. A Series of Studies, by Francis Grierson. In the opinion of the editor of THE CRITIC Mr. Grierson is one of the most brilliant essayists now before the public. He is an Englishman, and has published two volumes of essays which have made a profound impression upon readers and reviewers.

REMINISCENCES OF A FRANCO-AMERICAN. These interesting papers are written by Mme. Charles Bigot, the daughter of the famous American painter, James Healy, who spent the greater part of his life in Paris, where his daughter grew up and married. In the course of her life she came to know intimately some of the most distinguished men and women in literature and art that France has given to the world during the last half-century.

TALKS WITH TENNYSON. A Series of Three Papers by Miss Elizabeth Chapman, with whom England's greatest laureate talked freely and at length.

RECOLLECTIONS OF OLD NEW YORK. Under this general title, Dr. R. Ogden Doremus, who for many years was President of the Philharmonic Society of New York, and who has been more closely identified with music and science in this city than any man living to-day, will contribute a series of papers giving his recollections of the famous people he has known, together with many interesting events in his more than interesting life.

A CONCORD NOTE-BOOK. Mr. F. B. Sanborn will continue through the year his delightful papers on Concord and its literary associations. A forthcoming paper on "The Women of Concord" promises to be one of the most striking of the series.

CHOPIN INTIME. Unpublished letters of the great composer to a friend and fellow musician. Translated from the French and edited by Grace Corneau (the Marquise de St. Maurice).

THE CRITIC'S GALLERY OF AMERICAN ART. This selection of reproductions of modern American paintings, made by Mr. Homer Saint-Gaudens, has proved to be one of the most popular and at the same time educational features of THE CRITIC. Through this department THE CRITIC will introduce to its readers some of the younger generation of painters with whose work they may not be as yet familiar.

OTHER ATTRACTIVE FEATURES. THE CRITIC will continue to give to its readers the best that can be secured under the heading of essays, special articles, and illustrations, and also of reviews by the ablest critics of the more important publications of each month. While THE CRITIC is a monthly magazine, it remains the plan of its editor to present each month to the readers such news in matters of literary, social, and art interest as has been fully sifted and has shown evidence of possessing continued interest and value.

Verse by W. A. Frisbie. Pictures by Bart. Price, $1.00. Sixty pages. Size, 9¾x12¼ inches. Printed in colors. Cloth binding with artistic design in colors.

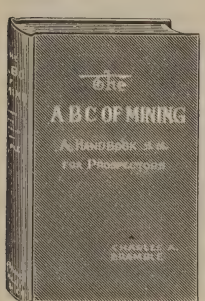
A B C of Mining, The

By Charles A. Bramble, D. L. S. Price, Cloth Binding, $1.00.



A Handbook for Prospectors, treating fully of exploratory and preparatory work, of the physical properties of ores, of field geology, the occurrence and associations of minerals, methods of chemical analysis and assay, blowpipe tests, promising indications, and simple methods of working valuable deposits, together with chapters on quartz and hydraulic mining, and especial detailed information on placer mining, with an addenda on camp life and medical hints. Fully illustrated.

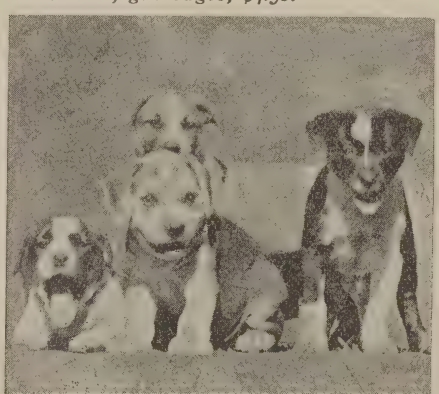
Abbe Constantin, The

By Ludovic Halévy. With 32 engravings from the original illustrations by Mme. Madeleine Lemaire. Gift Edition, 12mo. Cloth, $1.25.

This beautiful story has won its way into the hearts of many people in many lands. So long as unselfish love, modest nobility, and humble devotion to duty are regarded as admirable; so long as manly men and womanly women are regarded as lovable, —so long will this story be admired and loved. To the perfect touch of the author, Mme. Lemaire has added the interpretation of a sympathetic artist of fine taste and skill; and the book, as it now appears, embellished with her beautiful designs, is one of the finest things in literature of this class.

American Book of the Dog, The

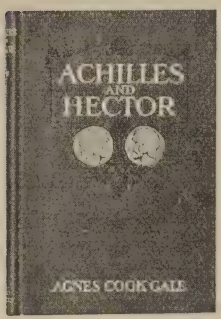
Edited by G. O. Shields ("Coquina"). Illustrated. Cloth, 8vo, plain edges, $1.50; half Morocco, gilt top, $3.00; full Morocco, gilt edges, $4.50.



This is a most scientific and exhaustive, as well as a most interesting, work on the dog. Its particular value to the American lies in the fact that it is the American dog as modified by American environment which is discussed in all its phases. The men who write on the subject are entitled to speak with authority, and the name of the editor is a guarantee of the highest excellence. Accurate and ample illustrations add to the scientific value of the book.

Achilles and Hector.

By Agnes Cook Gale, author of "The Story of Ulysses." Illustrated and decorated by Helen Maitland Armstrong. Cloth, 172 pages, 75 cents.



This is the classic story of Homer's "Iliad" retold in a delightfully dramatic spirit for boys and girls. The heroes of Achilles and Hector are great men: what they do they do with all their might; they are willing to work for others without reward; they are withal so clean, brave, healthy, and honest, that they are worthy of the admiration of boys and girls. This is one of the most attractive editions of this famous story.

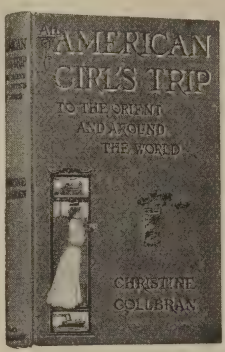
American Game Fishes.

Edited by G. O. Shields. Profusely Illustrated. Cloth, 8vo, $1.50; half Morocco, $3.00; full Morocco, $4.50.

This is a sportsman's book, written and edited by sportsmen, and is a complete guide to the art of angling. The information contained in its pages is not confined to a limited species of fish, nor to those of any one locality, but embraces the entire United States and Canada. Not only is it an exhaustive treatise on the finny tribe, but it also gives full directions for making and using fishing tackle, how, when, and where to angle for all kinds of fish, their habits, habitat, and peculiarities, and a detailed description of the angler's camp outfit. The text is fully illustrated, including portraits of all the fishes described, and two special plates, giving the natural colors of flies commonly used in angling.

American Girl's Trip to the Orient and Around the World, An.

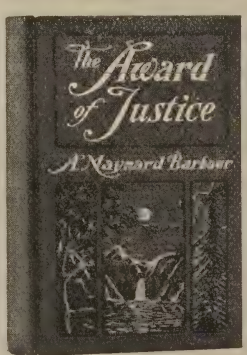
By Christine Collbran. Illustrated. Cloth, 12mo, $1.25.



Everyone is curious to know how the other half of the world lives. Miss Collbran places before the reader's mental vision pen pictures of the scenery, customs, dress, and many interesting incidents seen and noted during her trip around the world. Viewed with eyes that had not become satiated by previous tours her impressions have all the freshness of youth, and her descriptions all the charm that characterizes a bright American girl. The work is profusely illustrated.

Award of Justice, The.

By A. Maynard Barbour, Author of "That Mainwaring Affair," etc. Cloth, 12mo. Retail, 75 cents.

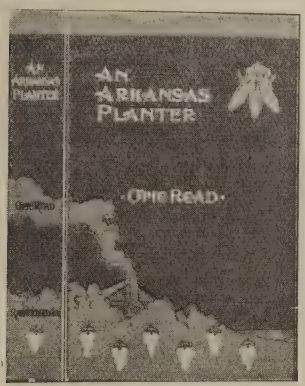


Mrs. Barbour has told in "The Award of Justice" a western story of romance, intrigue and adventure. A rascally mining company, intrusted with the management of the mines owned by an Eastern syndicate, is systematically plundering the owners. A young man named Houston is sent out to investigate. The thrilling story of his battle against unscrupulous villainy, and the delightful romance which is the result of his journey, go to make a novel of marvelous power.

It is an entertaining and pleasing story with plenty of go and dash, filled to the brim with the spirit of the West.—Chicago Record-Herald.

An Arkansas Planter.

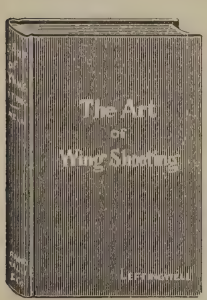
By Opie Read, author of "In the Alamo," "Judge Elbridge," "Waters of Caney Fork," "Bolanyo," etc. 12mo, Cloth, 75 cents.



It is a very graphic picture of that life foreshadowed in the title and a romance fairly crowded with incidents of the most dramatic nature. It is full of beautiful word pictures; it is light, with flashes of wit and rich with the constant play of droll humor. * * * But, above all, it is a mirror of a phase of life little known at the North, a description of employments and conditions that are as novel as interesting. * * * In no former book has Mr. Read furnished more abundant proofs of his artist claim, and none is so consistent, so "convincing" as is this.—Chicago Evening Post.

Art of Wing Shooting, The.

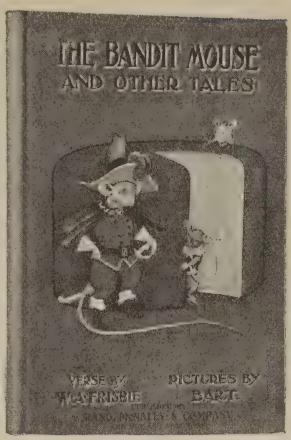
By William Bruce Leffingwell. Price, Cloth, $1.00; Paper, 50 cents.



A practical treatise on the use of the shotgun, illustrating, by sketches, how to become an expert shot; also treating of the habits and resorts of game birds and water fowl. It tells also how to become a proficient inanimate target shot. Profusely illustrated.

Bandit Mouse, The, and Other Tales.

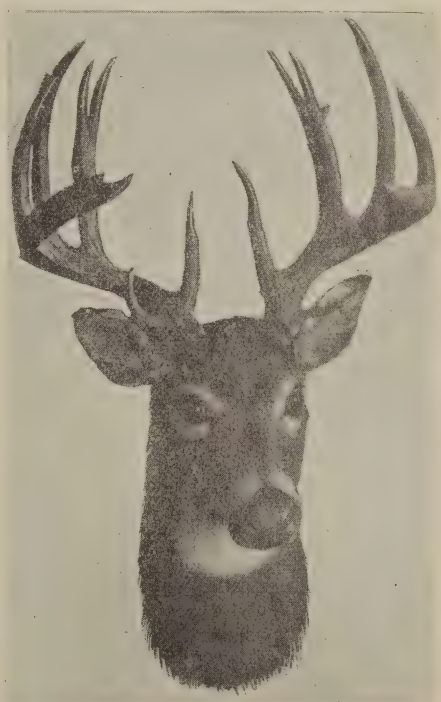
Verse by W. A. Frisbie. Pictures by Bart. Price, $1.00. Ninety-six pages, large quarto, printed in full colors, bound in cloth with design in colors.



This is probably the most amusing book for children published for several seasons. The verses are of the Mother Goose order, but will interest older readers, and the pictures are a constant source of delight.

Big Game of North America, The

Edited by G. O. Shields. Cloth, 8mo, $1.50; half Morocco, gilt top, $3.00; full Morocco, all gilt edges, $4.50.



Mr. Shields has gathered into this volume articles by twenty-seven writers well known as experts in their several lines. From tracking the caribou in Canada to alligator-shooting in Florida, the ways of the chase are laid bare by these keen-eyed and successful hunters. It is only by the hearty and sympathetic co-operation of such ardent sportsmen and trained naturalists that so comprehensive and valuable a work as this is possible. They have done a service for which all lovers of nature will feel grateful.

Bondwoman, The.

By Marah Ellis Ryan, author of "Squaw Elouise," "A Pagan of the Alleghanies," etc. 12mo, Cloth 75 cents.

Marah Ellis Ryan.

In her latest novel Mrs. Ryan draws on the South and its old institution of slavery for the groundwork of her plot. By depicting the natural revulsion of the heroine, a slave who is nineteen-twentieths white, against her fate, she has made a striking picture. The story opens in Paris, and is later transferred to the southern part of the United States, where the dramatic culmination is attained.

It is a deeply interesting tale and the play of conflicting passions is strikingly shown.—Columbus Dispatch.

The plot is complicated and ingenious.—New York Mail and Express.

The story is in a new vein for Mrs. Ryan and is additional proof of her versatility.—Pittsburg Leader.

Child Stories From the Masters.

By Maud Menefee. Illustrated with reproductions in sepia of famous paintings. Cloth, 12mo, 75 cents.

"Child Stories from the Masters" is artistically and mechanically one of the most attractive books of the year for children. In an admirably simple and sympathetic manner Miss Menefee has told the stories of Browning's Pippa, and Saul and David, of Dante's Beatrice, and of Goethe's Wilhelm Meister and Mignon. Less unusual than these, perhaps, as subjects for stories for children, but not less attractive than they, are the tales from Wagner's operas, Siegfried and Parsifal, presented without any of the heaviness or obscurity of the master. It is an excellent thing to have provided children who have outgrown their gruel with reading matter full of pith and vigor and yet sufficiently easy for their comprehension.

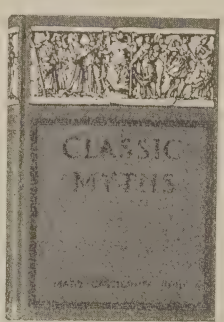
Classic Myths.

By Mary Catherine Judd. Illustrated by Agnes MacDonall. Cloth, 12mo, 75 cents.



"Classic Myths" is unquestionably the most satisfactory collection of mythological stories for children. It includes stories from Greek, Norse, Roman, Russian, and Finnish stories, told in a childlike and dramatic manner. By reading these myths the child will gain interest and sympathy for the life of beast, bird, and tree; he will learn to recognize those constellations which have been as friends to the wise men of many ages. Such an acquaintance will broaden the child's life and make him see more quickly the true, the good, and the beautiful in the world about him.

Confessions of Marguerite.

By Opie Read. Cloth, 12mo. Price 75 cents.

This is a modern, realistic novel, full of human feeling, with the pathos that always accompanies the citing of the efforts of a pure soul to keep itself pure in spite of all temptations. Marguerite was a country girl of much talent and good looks. After having received a good education she is thrown upon her own resources. Having some talent and skill in painting, she decides to make this her profession. She leaves the country, and being of the west, naturally chooses Chicago as the arena of her future. The story which follows is a story of a girl battling against poverty, discouragement, temptation, and the snares and pitfalls which the unprotected encounter in the world.

The book may be unreservedly recommended to all novel readers, but especially to the class of girls who think that to become great they have only to live in a large city and study art in some form.

The stories are told in very simple language, and with a dramatic quality which holds the child's attention. Evolution of Dodd, The.

By William Hawley Smith, author of "The Promoters," "The New Hamlet," etc. Cloth, 12mo. Price, 75 cents.

This is one of those rare stories, that as well as being delightfully witty and entertaining, conveys a deep moral lesson. "Dodd," the hero, whose evolution is traced from birth to manhood, is the creation of a master mind and touches a responsive chord in every heart.

This is a novel for teachers and a good one. It tells the story of a "bad boy," redeemed by the kindness, sympathy and firmness of the teacher. It is an interesting story, and an instructive treatise on moral training.

Eye of the Sun, The.

"'Father Tom of Connemara' is a collection of rollicking Irish stories depicting various phases of life in the highlands of Galway. The character drawing throughout the book is as careful and truthful as it is kindly, and Connemara, as Mrs. Neville portrays it, ceases to be merely a name in our ears and becomes an actuality, a real district of Emerald Isle peopled by a race to the full as original and entertaining as those one reads of in 'The Bonnie Brier Bush.'"

"As a story it is full of humor and pathos and closely approaches 'Luke Delmege,' by Father Sheehan, in point of excellence."—The New World.

Folk Tales from the Russian.

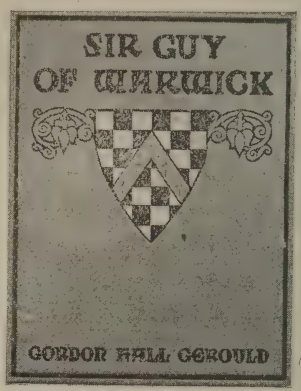
Freckles and Tan.

By Roland C. Bowman. An Illustrated Book of Humorous Verse. Cloth, 12mo, 50 cents.

To one who has not forgotten his childhood days this volume will come as a happy surprise. The spirit of the book is suggested by its title, and the humor and pathos of youth breathe from every page. Not since the days of Eugene Field has one written in verse so charmingly or with such freshness as Mr. Bowman in "Freckles and Tan."

Guy of Warwick.

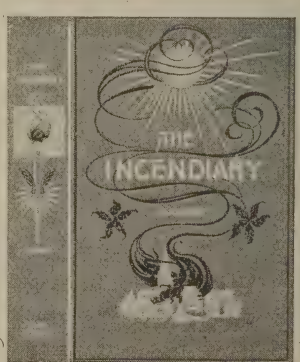
By Gordon Hall Gerould. Illustrated by Bror Nordfelt. Cloth, 12mo, $1.00.



To the lover of romance, possibly the most delightful period in the history of the world is to be discovered in the eleventh and twelfth centuries. That was a time when the feudal system was reaching the perfection of its development, when the highways of England, France and Italy swarmed with knights in search of adventure, when valor and true love were the social ideals. Mr. Gerould has rendered into pure and simple modern English one of the purest and sweetest romances of the best days of chivalry.

Incendiary, The.

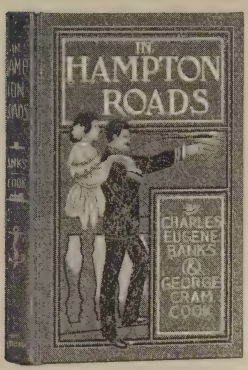
By W. A. Leahy. Cloth, 12mo. Price, 75 cents.



It is the tale of a mysterious fire, in which many buildings were burned, and several lives were lost, and which was obviously the work of an incendiary. Who this offender was it was hard to guess, and the author has interwoven the mystery with much skill, and then has unfolded it in a manner that cannot but win the approval of his readers.

In Hampton Roads.

By Charles Eugene Banks and George Cram Cook. Illustrated. 12mo, Cloth, $1.25.

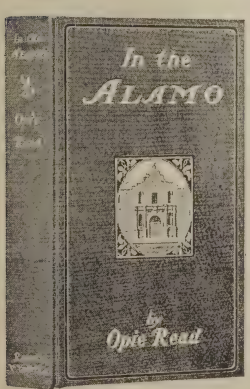


The fascinating and dramatic romance is adroitly connected with the battle between the Monitor and the Merrimac in Hampton Roads.

It is not too much to say that no single event in American history was decisive of greater issues than was the struggle between these floating iron-clad engines of war. It changed the character of naval warfare for all nations and for all time. It virtually decided the issue of the American Civil War. And that war decided, forever, a question left unsettled through all the foregoing events in our national development, the question, whether a state or any number of states could collectively nullify the Federal Constitution and secede from the Union.

In the Alamo.

By Opie Read. Cloth, 12mo, 75 cents.



This novel resembles others from Mr. Read's prolific pen only in that the scene is laid in the South. Texas, where stands the old Alamo, dedicated to the memory of a handful of America's greatest heroes, is made the center of the plot, which incorporates a bit of history that is not as familiar to the American people as it should be. The author has never originated just such a character as Zaleme. She is unique in several ways. The romance of the story is in a new vein, strong in its conception, and carried on to a logical conclusion. In this book Mr. Read has eclipsed himself, and added fresh laurels to his reputation as a novelist.

In the Shadow of the Pyramids.

By Col. Richard Henry Savage. 12mo. Cloth, Price $1.25.

The story is full of incident, rapid action and wonderful perils and escapes, just as are all stories by this writer. The date of the narrative is 1879, during the last days of Ismail Khedive. It opens with a discouraged lover, penniless Kenneth Gryffyth, seeking his friend, Charley Grosvenor, and confiding to him his hopes that the clouds were about to lift, as he had been sent for by the millionaire father of his sweetheart to come to him at a certain hour to dinner for a preliminary conference upon an important business matter.

This is the key to the whole story. The conference results in his being asked to go to Egypt as the confidential envoy of the money lenders, who were appealed to, to save Ismail from destruction. It is a fascinating tale and contains a good deal of political history mingled with its love and tragedy. The one who begins its reading will be likely to continue through to the end.

In the Swim.

By Richard Henry Savage. Cloth. Price, $1.00.

"This is 'a story of currents and undercurrents in gayest New York,' told with spirit and dash, and with an art that bears the reader along easily and holds his interest. There is much plotting and counterplotting, and the story is well worked out."

Judge Elbridge.

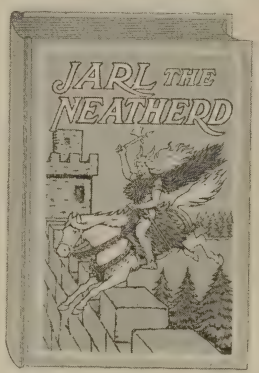
By Opie Read. 12mo, Cloth, 75 cents.

Opie Read's public—a large and growing one—does not need to be told that anything from his pen is virile, alive with incident, luminous with reliable illustrations of human character, and loyal to the real interests of mankind. "Judge Elbridge" is, as a whole, a most terrific arraignment of the spirit and practice of gambling, and is a good book for young men to read. As in his other novels, so in this one, Mr. Read shows that, while he can construct a plot of surpassing interest and make natural place for exciting events, he is not at all dependent on these things for strength.

"Judge Elbridge" is an entertaining, and what is better, a wholesome book.

Jarl the Neatherd.

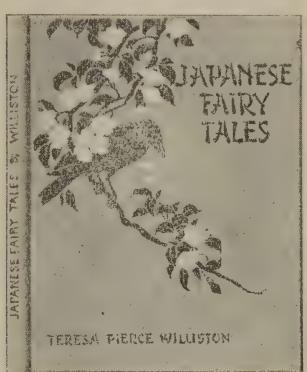
By H. Escott-Inman. Cloth, 12mo, 75 cents.



A fascinating fairy story written in the author's most charming style. It is a tale of the stout old warriors of ancient Norway, the sea kings of their day. It is delightful creepy reading for children, full of fights, and giants, and bears, and all manner of creatures who lived in the good old times. Some of them were grand heroes too, brave true soldiers. The moral of the story is of the best, but does not spoil the reading of the story for the youths.

Japanese Fairy Tales.

By Teresa Peirce Williston. Illustrated in five colors by Sanchi Ogawa. Cloth, square, 12mo, 80 pages, 75 cents.



Among all the beautiful books that have been published since the outbreak of the struggle between Russia and Japan, none, we believe, is more beautiful or more strikingly unique than "Japanese Fairy Tales." Others have told of the past, the present, and the future of these most interesting little people, but Mrs. Williston went straight to their literature and found there some of the most charming little fairy tales ever told to boys and girls. For hundreds of years these exquisite little stories have delighted the hearts and quickened the intellects of the children of the East. Now for the first time they have been given to American children. Mrs. Williston has retold the stories with all the characteristic flavor and charm, all the quaintness and naiveté that pervades everything from Japan.

No effort has been spared in trying to give the book a Japanese touch. The stories themselves are the stories that Japanese mothers tell to Japanese children. The illustrations were drawn by Sanchi Ogawa, a native of Japan. Mr. Ogawa is a graduate of the Imperial Art School of Tokyo, and has a first-hand Japanese instinct as well as a knowledge of Japanese tradition. The illustrations are reproduced in five colors.

King Henry V.

By William Shakespeare. Cloth, 16mo, 50 cents. Paper, 25 cents.
A Special Acting Edition of Shakespeare's Play.

In no other play has Shakespeare attempted so bold an experiment in the dramatization of war. Nowhere else has he made so emphatic an apology for disregarding the unities of time and place, nor put forth so clear a vindication of the rights of the imagination in the romantic drama.

This edition contains a complete glossary of words and phrases, as well as comprehensive notes on each act.

King Arthur and His Knights.

By Maude L. Radford. Illustrated by Walter J. Enright. Cloth, 12mo, 75 cents.

The stories in "King Arthur and His Knights" have been collected from Sir Thomas Malory's "Morte d' Arthur" and Tennyson's "Idyls of the King."

The growing interest in Anglo-Saxon mythology and the belief that American boys and girls should become familiar with the classic stories of our early literature is largely responsible for the preparation of this volume.

The King Arthur stories embody a deep and poetic message. They are of moral value to the children of this day, for they teach the best virtues of the chivalric age; gentleness to the weak, loyalty to friends, mercy to foes. The tales help to inculcate a love of truth and courage, and show the value of discipline and unselfishness.

Little Fountain of Life, A.

By Marion Foster Washburne, Author of "Every Day Essays." Cloth, — pages, $1.00.

A refreshing love story full of humor and touched with pathos. The character drawing suggests "Mrs. Wiggs"; in fact, Miss 'Postrophe U might well have lived in the "cabbage patch." The scene of the story is laid in a Chicago "settlement," where the heroine discovers a little fountain of life, which wins back her health, her sanity, and, incidentally, her lost lover. It is a book that will give much pleasure, not only because of its delightful character drawing, but because of its wholesome romance.

Last Days of Pompeii.

By Bulwer Lytton. Fifty-eight full-page monogravure illustrations. Special Cloth, Library Edition, $3.00. Half Calf, $5.00. Edition de Luxe, $6.00. Two Volumes, boxed.

Cover design by Miss Mary E. Phillips. The design in gold over Pompeian red is from a frescoe which beautified the walls of the "House of Castor and Pollux." The obverse side has two horizontal panels, the upper one showing cupids racing in goat chariots, while the lower one is evolved from a Pompeian expression in black and white. The torch on the obverse side of the cover is symbolical of the destructive force of Vesuvius. The lettering used for the title of the work is an imitation of inscriptions found at Pompeii. On the title page is a reproduction of a mosaic border, in colors, said to have been discovered in the "House of the Faun."

The edition is printed from new plates in large type, on deckle edge paper, gilt tops.

Lost Countess Falka, The.

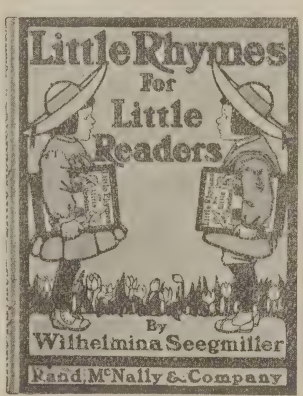
By Richard Henry Savage. Cloth. Price, $1.00.

"A story of the Orient, and, like all novels by this popular author, full of exciting incidents and clever character sketches."

Col. Savage has written no better story than this thrilling tale of the abduction of a Hungarian maiden by a Turkish renegade, who sells her to the harem of the shah of Persia, from which she is rescued after a series of exciting adventures. The movement of the story is exceedingly well managed, and, as a novel of action, "The Lost Countess Falka" possesses much more than the usual modicum of merit.

Little Rhymes for Little Readers.

By Wilhelmina Seegmiller. Profusely Illustrated by Ruth M. Hallock. Cloth, Large Quarto, $1.25.



In selecting a book of rhymes for children, one is invariably confronted by the problem of avoiding what is either trite or commonplace, or both. Many of the best of our children's books are marred by their poor English, by a tendency to vulgarity, or by carelessness in typography or design. Miss Seegmiller's "Little Rhymes for Little Readers" are delightfully simple, and have a touch of humor and childlikeness that will make them widely read by little children and by "children of a larger growth."

The book contains seventy-five drawings, many of them being full-page, done in Miss Hallock's most delightful manner. In point of literary value and artistic merit this is one of the most notable juveniles yet issued.

The type is large and well arranged and the book is printed in dark green ink on the best coated paper.

By R. D. Blackmore. Cloth, $3.00. Half Calf, $5.00. Edition de Luxe, $6.00.

In this edition we have prepared a special two-volume set which is particularly attractive for gift purposes. It is printed in large type from new plates on deckle-edged paper, with a gilt top and attractive binding.

The illustrations in this edition make it absolutely unique and unusually attractive. They consist of more than forty full-page monogravure plates printed in sepia, and illustrate almost every section of the Land of the Doones. The originals of these illustrations were collected at great expense by Miss Mary E. Phillips, and reproduce with absolute fidelity the setting of this famous story.

The cover design is printed in four colors, and is symbolical of the spirit and the characters of the story. Surmounting the title of the book are the arms of the House of Lorne; on the left is Sir John Ridd's staff, on the right a distaff representing Lorna; below is the torch of Hymen, and about the whole is a border of ivy, signifying matrimony. The design is held together by clusters of English wild roses. On the back of the book is the coat of arms given to Sir John Ridd by the queen of James II.

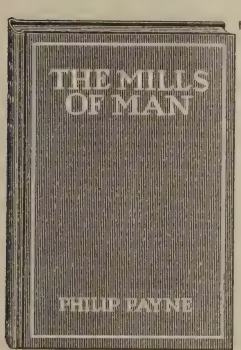
Mills of Man, The.

By Philip Payne, Author of "Duchess of Few Clothes." Cloth, 12mo, 75 cents.



"The Mills of Man" by Philip Payne is a story of modern life as it is lived in Chicago, U. S. A., A. D. 1904. It is a novel of love and politics, so strong in character drawing and so true its realism that the book seems to throb in the breath of life.

Few novels of recent years have been reviewed so enthusiastically as has "The Mills of Man." "The Critic," in a two-page article, reviewed it under the heading: "Is This the Long-sought Great American Novel?" The reviewer said, "It may not be extravagant to say that this book is a fair advance in the process of the evolution of the American Novel," and added Mr. Payne's characters "stand out vividly from his pages. They become acquaintances. In addition to his unusual power of charterization, we note his dialogue. It is never dull, it is never insignificant. By it the story moves on." In conclusion he says that the story has "a quality which is the promise that so good and careful a piece of work shall not be of ephemeral popularity, since its literary form is marked by both clever analysis and incontestable dramatic spirit."

With its picture of oriental life, its Japanese dialect, and its insight into Japanese character, the book is one that will interest many readers.

Modern Corsair, A.

By Col. Richard Henry Savage. Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.25.

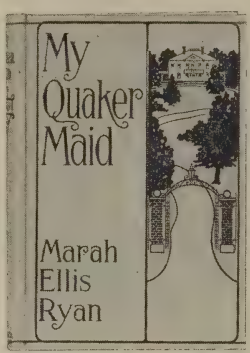
The mongrel population, the laxity of Turkish rule, and the greed and cupidity of wily Greek and sly Armenian, make the Levant the home of modern romance. Founded upon a literally true series of startling occurrences, the exciting narrative leads from the shadow of St. Paul's to bay of Smyrna, and the soft Aegean sea, wooed by the breezes blowing over ruined Troy.

The secret struggles of land rat, water rat, and marine outlaw; the local jealousies of warring Europeans seeking the favors of sleek Pashas; the fierce love of the eastern women, can be traced in these brilliant pages, through which runs a golden thread of man's devotion and woman's trusting love.

A varied experience amid Oriental, Turkish, Egyptian, and Levantine life enables the author to weave a wonderful story.

My Quaker Maid.

By Marah Ellis Ryan. Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.00.



Everyone enjoys a pretty love story, especially if it is well written, and that is true of "My Quaker Maid."

Jaqcynthia Marquand. but Jack for short, is the charming Quaker Maid. She is a real delight from start to finish. In her, one finds the gentleness of the Quaker woman, and the graciousness and charm of the Southern woman. She lived in the days when brave deeds were as common to women as to men; in the days when the white slaves and the black slaves found friends on the border lands.

A fine Southern gentleman comes to her for protection, supposedly a runaway slave. It is around the incident of his coming and his care while a guest in the Marquand home, that a very entertaining love story has been written.

Beau Cardiff, or, rightly, the Honorable Richard Cardiff, a wealthy Marylander, is the man whom Jack takes into her home to protect. Misunderstanding arises on every hand. A jealous, flippant woman, an aunt of Jack's, plays a prominent part in the story. There is the good friend of Beau Cardiff always at hand, an aunt in the Marquand home, for propriety's sake, a charming young girl, Dorothy, and later, when the story is well on the way, Noah Marquand himself comes with a jealous husband. All misunderstandings are cleared away in time. It all makes a fitting background for the picture that is drawn of the beautiful Quaker Maid, and the fine handsome man, Richard Cardiff, who learns to love her and she him.

There is a charm in this love story, for in it is shown so clearly that nothing in the world can stand in the way of a love that is born with God as sponsor; that for some, love is not a thing that is born in its infancy, but comes straight from the God above, who is Love, and enters the hearts of men and women, great and complete.

New Hamlet, The.

By William Hawley Smith, Author of "The Evolution of Dodd" and "The Promoters." Cloth, 50 cents.

The most original, unique, up-to-date, and altogether out-of-the-ordinary book of the season.

The plays of "Hamlet" and "Romeo and Juliet" have been cleverly interwoven, with all the tragic element in both left out. Hamlet marries Juliet and Romeo is wedded to Ophelia. The style of the work is genuinely Shakespearean, at once scholarly and racy. The dialogue is brimful of humor, satire, quips, and gibes of the most modern kind, yet there is not a line in it that would make the judicious grieve. It is a book that "all sorts and conditions of men" (and women, too) will read and laugh over.

The make-up of the book is in keeping with all the rest. It is printed on manila paper and is literally bound in boards, the covers being "No. 2 Fencing," and the whole tied together with binding twine.

"I will not pretend to tell how much I have enjoyed The New Hamlet—the new and old play. We have all laughed and laughed over it and have taken moral and practical lessons from it, which will bear fruit in our lives, I hope.

"It is at its best when read aloud, and we have had it that way several times."

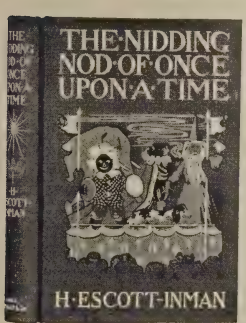
Nidding Nod of Once-Upon-a-Time, The.

By H. Escott-Inman. Cloth, 12mo. Price, 75 cents.



In it he says: Herein are related the adventures of "Patty" and "Pats;" likewise the "Sawdust Elephant," "Rover" and the "Muggie Wub," more especially in the land of "One Fine Day." Also there is recorded their determination to invade the realm of the "Nidding Nod" and drive him from his throne.

Still further there is chronicled the way in which the "Nidding Nod" showed them what was what; and they revealed to the "Nidding Nod" who was who. All of which must be read before it can possibly be known and known before it can be believed.

The author proceeds in a charming way to introduce his little readers to these and sundry other folk, a task in which he is ably assisted by the illustrations of Ernold A. Mason, who shows the fairies at their revels and their incantations in such a grotesque way as to enchant childish imagination.

Owl and the Woodchuck, The.

By William Harold Neidlinger. Illustrated by Walter Bobbett. Boards. Cloth Back. Price, 50 cents.

This is a nonsense story interspersed with bits of musical jingle, and pictures of a whimsical attractiveness. Mr. Owl's song of spring and the woodchuck's jolly ballad of the silly farmer and his horse are set to gay little tunes with a tripping rhythm and a fascinating accompaniment. The woodchuck is the same mysterious animal that crawls out of his hole on Candlemas day, February 2nd, and looks at his shadow to see if spring is on the way. For all that, he is a nonsensical woodchuck, for he goes on a journey to ask Mr. Owl who is this Mr. Spring that everybody is talking about, because the woodchuck could see his own shadow? The owl does not explain himself, and the two friends part company, each convinced of the wonderful wisdom of the other.

Pirate Frog, The.

By W. A. Frisbie and "Bart." Bound in Cloth with appropriate side stamps in colors. Price, $1.00.

The authors of "The Bandit Mouse," that delightful little book of jingling verse which has been a source of such joy and amusement to the young folks, have made an equal hit with "The Pirate Frog." The color plates are gorgeous enough to win the heart of the most captious youngster, and the verses have a liveliness and entrain which reminds one of the melodious gurglings of a mountain stream. The story of "The Pirate Frog" is rapid, thrilling and tragic. The other tales in the book are very pleasing.

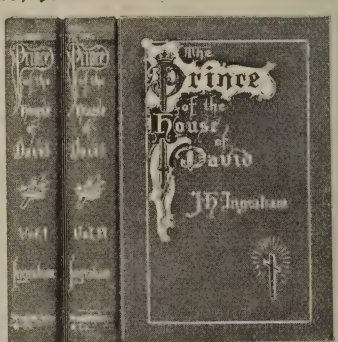
Prince of the House of David, The.

By J. H. Ingraham. Over thirty full-page illustrations in half-tone, and cover design, in four colors. Two volumes, Cloth, boxed, $2.00. Two volumes, half Calf, $5.00. Two volumes, Edition de Luxe, $6.00.



Among the many books treating of the life and actions of our Saviour, there is none that equals Mr. Ingraham's "Prince of the House of David." Told in a language that is beautiful in its simplicity, the story covers a period of three years and six months, embracing all the events of the life of John the Baptist, and of Jesus of Nazareth to the day of His ascension into heaven. Printed on deckle-edge paper, gilt tops, and containing over thirty half-tone pictures, illustrative of the people and scenes of biblical times, this book is a triumph of the printers' and binders' art, and is well worthy a place on the shelves of every library.

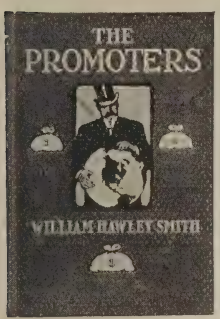
Promoters, The.

A Novel Without a Woman, by William Hawley Smith, Author of "The Evolution of Dodd," etc. With eight full-page illustrations by J. C. Gilbert. Cloth, 367 pages, $1.50.



Mr. William Hawley Smith will be remembered as the author of the famous pedagogical story, "The Evolution of Dodd," which has sold to the extent of several hundred thousand copies. This is Mr. Smith's second novel, and is as original and clever a piece of writing as "The Evolution of Dodd." "The Promoters" is a humorous and dramatic satire of modern business life. It tells of an all but successful attempt to organize the "world trust." With the present interest in great corporations and political movements, this book ought to find a ready welcome.

Reminiscences of William Wetmore Story.

By Mary E. Phillips. Illustrated. Cloth, 12mo, Gilt Top. Price, $1.75.

Perhaps we cannot better describe the scope and purpose of this charming book than by giving the title in full as it appears on the title page. Miss Phillips describes her book in this way: "Reminiscences of William Wetmore Story, the American sculptor and author, being incidents and anecdotes chronologically arranged, together with an account of his associations with famous people and his principal works in literature and sculpture."

Romola.

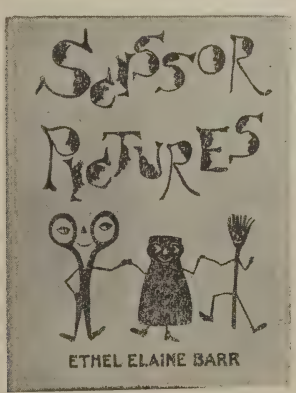
This is a special gift edition which has been prepared at great expense. The book is printed from new plates, and is elaborately illustrated with over fifty full-page monogravure plates printed in sepia. These include reproductions of famous paintings, photographs of historic scenes and portraits of persons related to the time and place of the story. These were collected largely from European sources and arranged for this edition by Miss Mary E. Phillips. The cover design, which is also by Miss Phillips, is Florentine in character and suggestive of the splendor of Florence at the time of the story. Altogether, this is one of the most attractive editions of George Eliot's famous story.

Scissor Pictures.

By Ethel Elaine Barr. 4to, Cloth. Price, $1.00.



The object of this book is to furnish teachers and mothers with seasonable suggestions in the now much used free-hand paper cutting. By free-hand cutting we mean the cutting of an object with scissors from blank paper, without lines, patterns, or folded creases. As the work in this book is done without a line or pattern of any kind, it is to be hoped that the children will be encouraged to do their work in the same way, and also avoid cutting small and petty designs. Large cuttings, in which a free sweep of the scissors may be used, should be encouraged. Free-hand cutting affords another method of expression. It is not a new art, and yet it is only within the last few years that it has held the attention educationally. The preparation of material is simple, and as soon as the children see the possibilities they can do the work quietly and with very little help.

Sense and Satire.

By William L. Breyfogle. Illustrated. Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.50.

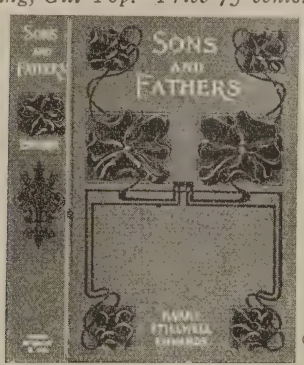
Shooting on Upland, Marsh and Stream.

Edited by W. B. Leffingwell. Profusely Illustrated. Cloth 8vo, $1.50; Half Morocco, $3.00; Full Morocco, $4.50.

The different articles are written by seventeen well-known American sportsmen, among whom are such pleasant writers on shooting topics as T. S. Van Dyke, Amory B. Starr, George W. Baines, and C. R. Tinan. Each writer has selected the certain game bird or field topic with which he was most familiar, and the detail of each article shows intimate knowledge of the subject treated. The articles are in narrative style and the reader accompanies the writer on an imaginary shooting trip especially planned in quest of the bird selected. The description includes the birds' flights, habits, resorts, and treats of the scientific method of shooting ducks, prairie chickens, grouse, quail, snipe, wild turkeys, wild geese, plover, etc. It is a book in which old sportsmen will find many realistic scenes, and from which young ones will be able to gain a fair knowledge of the habits and methods of successful pursuit of the game birds.

Sons and Fathers.

By Harry Stillwell Edwards. Cloth Binding, Gilt Top. Price 75 cents.



A vivid description, by a talented man, of a remarkable transition period in this country's evolution—the passage of the old South into the new. A story filled with animated, impassioned figures, a mystery and plot admirably managed, full of startling surprise and dramatic climax, amazingly interesting, described with delightful eloquence. Mr. Edwards has the rare gift of keeping the secret of his tangled, many-threaded plots, so that their disentanglement comes as a true surprise.

Shay's Telegraphic Cipher Code.

By Frank Shay. Full Flexible Morocco Binding. Price, $5.00.

A telegraphic code for the use of shippers, merchants, stock operators, stock brokers, miners, real estate dealers and business men generally.

The design of the present work is to supply a cipher book suitable for the use of business men and women. It is frequently of importance to transmit messages with absolute secrecy. This the simple arrangement of the present code will enable the inexperienced individual to do. Moreover, the use of the cipher in the transmission of long messages results in great economy. For instance, instead of telegraphing, "If we do not hear from you at once, we shall consider the business refused," the word "fallowist" will suffice between owners of Shay's Telegraphic Cipher Code. The book is adequately supplied with index, key, etc., and will be found of value by everyone in business.

Squirrel and the Crow, The.

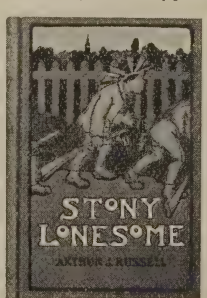
By William Harold Neidlinger Illustrated by Walter Bobbett. Boards. Cloth Back. Price, 50 Cents.

Beautiful melodies are chosen to assist in telling the interesting story of "The Squirrel and the Crow," and clever sketches, large and small, are profusely scattered throughout the volume.

Animal stories enchant all children and the picturesque situations, comic and serious, in which Mr. Owl, Mr. Dicky Duck, Mr. Bullfrog, Mr. Rabbit and the Monkey are entangled, are delightfully real. Color adds greater charm to Mr. Bobbett's excellent illustrations. A good story is told in beautiful, clear type from the entrance of Mr. Crow to his mad effort to escape from the infuriated Miss Squirrel, and her friends, which holds the child's breathless attention.

Stony Lonesome.

By Arthur J. Russell. With two hundred marginal drawings by Ruth M. Hallock. Cloth, 12mo, 75 cents.



This is a downeast story of a boy's town. The doings of "Pewee" Jackson, "Shorty" Hitchcock, "Mealey" Johnson, and the other members of the "gang" are told with fresh and delightful humor. Every one who has been a boy (and would like to be one) will laugh and grow young over this book.

"Stony Lonesome" is a sleepy New England village, inhabited by a "gang" of boys, with here and there a parent or an "Uncle Ellery" to give a background to their pranks and plottings. The picture which Mr. Russell draws of this town, with its quaint characters, is unique in literature. Nothing as graphic in its character drawing, as spontaneous in its humor, as vivid in its dialogue, has been written of a New England town. The story is unstudied and absolutely devoid of pedantry. It is bubbling over with good nature, with the laughter of real boys, and the irresponsible spirit of youth.

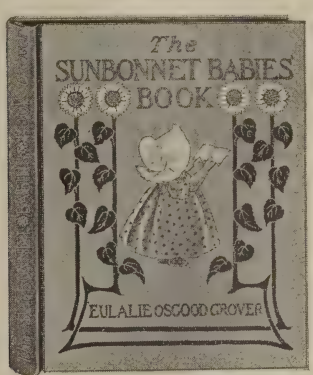
One of the "grown ups" of the book is old "Uncle Ellery," the town oracle and coffin-maker. Uncle Ellery is a philosopher and a stanch friend of the boys. In fact, we suspect he is only a gray-haired boy himself, for he says that "a boy is never grown up until it hurts him to fall out of a tree."

The marginal drawings by Miss Hallock, which enliven every page of the book, are as full of fun as the book itself.

Sunbonnet Babies' Book.

By Eulalie Osgood Grover. Illustrated with nearly 100 drawings in four colors by Bertha L. Corbett. Cloth, large quarto, 75 cents.



The Sunbonnet Babies promise to take a place beside Kate Greenaway's children and Palmer Cox's brownies. They have traveled from one end of the country to the other on cards or valentines, but this is the only book written about them or illustrated by Miss Corbett. The fact that it is already in its seventy-fifth thousand suggests something of its popularity with little children. It is a book about Molly and May, two Sunbonnet Babies, who do all the things, and see all the sights, that real girls and boys do and see at the happy age of five or six.

The book is printed in large type and is illustrated throughout in four colors. The pictures lead irresistibly to the text, and the book has become one of the first to be placed in children's hands when they begin to read. Altogether, it is one of the daintiest picture books for children that has appeared in recent years.

Songs of the Open.

Words by Mary Grant O'Sheridan. Music by W. C. E. Seeboeck. Border decorations by E. B. Comstock and G. M. Hurst. Size, 9x11¾ inches, 108 pages, 31 songs. Price $1.25.

A book of Children's Nature Songs. Both words and music are original compositions. The composer's and author's names are sufficient guarantee of the high character of the work.

The book is printed in two colors on heavy paper and is substantially bound in cloth with artistic cover stamp. Illustrated with attractive pictorial border on each page.

Sword and Cross.

By Charles Eugene Banks, author of "Quiet Music," "Where Brooks Go Softly," etc. 12mo, Cloth. $1.25.

Charles Eugene Banks.

This is a volume of poems interpreting the silent strength, the quiet beauty, and the deep significance of nature in her gentler moods. They also touch the heart of humanity with a master hand, whether to expound its mysteries or to minister sympathy, and comfort.

That Girl Montana.

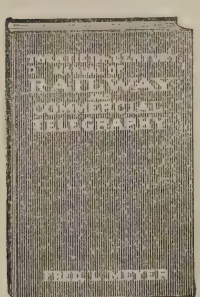
By Marah Ellis Ryan, Author of "The Bondwoman," "Told in the Hills," etc. Cloth, 12mo. Retail, 75 cents.

Mrs. Ryan has written in "That Girl Montana" a story full of that subtle charm which compels a sympathetic interest from its opening chapter. The author takes her characters to the wilds of Idaho, in the land of the Kootenais, where the reader is made acquainted with people who win admiration for their honesty, sincerity, and the whole-souled generosity of their natures. Montana is a typical wild-flower of the West, nurtured among the confines of her beloved hills.

A novel best described by the adjective good. The greatest compliment that can be paid the book is that it can stand repeated perusals.

Twentieth Century Manual of Railway and Commercial Telegraphy, The.—4th Edition. Revised and Enlarged.

By Fred L. Meyer. Illustrated with numerous cuts and engravings. Cloth, 12mo, $1.00.



A thoroughly practical and instructive work on telegraphy. The most complete, comprehensive and thoroughly up-to-date book of its kind on the market. It embraces all kinds of practical train orders, railway and commercial messages, phrases, universal abbreviations, punctuations and other compilations of vital importance to both student and operator, covering, as it does, a great many branches of railway and commercial business unknown to the average operator, who has not had an opportunity to work on more than one or two roads.

"The Twentieth Century Manual of Railway and Commercial Telegraphy contains many practical points, and I am glad to see its publication as an aid to both railway and commercial telegraphers.

"I consider this work a distinct advantage to students of telegraphy, and I am glad to recommend it."—F. H. Tubbs, Superintendent of Western Union Telegraph Company, Chicago, Ill.

True Bear Stories.

By Joaquin Miller, author of "Songs of the Sierras," etc. Illustrations in black and white, and in colors, 12mo, Cloth. $1.25.

Mr. Miller has tried to show the bear as he is, not the traditional bear of the storybooks. Bears have one thing in common—they are never cruel. They are generally full of homely, careless kindness, and are fond of music, as well as of honey, blackberries, nuts, fish, and other delicacies of the savage feast. The author of this book has brought the distinctive features of the different bears before the reader so as to instruct as well as to interest children and children's parents in the simple realities of bear life.

Under Three Flags.

By B. L. Taylor and A. T. Thoits. Cloth, Gilt Top. Price, 75 cents.

Beginning with a supposed murder committed in a small town in Vermont by an unknown person, the scene of action is soon transferred to Cuba, that land of adventure, where, indeed, thrilling moments are encountered a-plenty by the actors in the drama. In turn, each of four men are suspected of the murder, and interest is kept at fever heat, until the last chapter, when it is disclosed that suicide and not murder, was committed in the Vermont bank. Two charming women are won by two gallant men during the Cuban excitements, so that love shares in the scheme of the story. The title is derived from the fact that the flags of Cuba, the United States and Spain all protect the characters at various times.

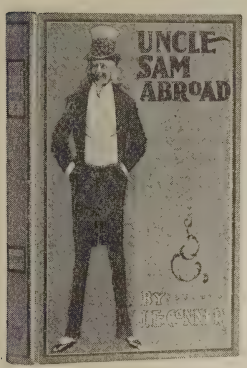
Uncle Sam Abroad.

By J. E. Conner. Cloth, 12mo, $1.25.



Lawyers, professors, teachers, and students will find in this book, in interesting and convenient form a complete treatment of a subject everybody wants to know about. It presents something after the manner of a series of University Extension lectures, information in regard to the diplomatic and consular service of the United States.

The book is cleverly written, is an entertaining and informing volume, and one which may be read by old and young with both pleasure and profit.—Toledo Blade.

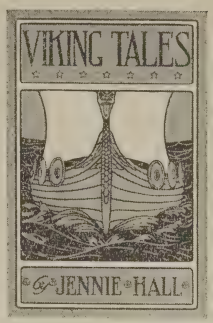
Uncle Tom's Cabin.

By Harriet Beecher Stowe. Illustrated. Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.25.

An entirely new edition of this great classic, printed in pleasing type upon deckle-edged paper, with gilt top. The binding is unique and striking, and the full-page illustrations, of which there are thirty, add fresh charm to the story. An engaging and little-known portrait of Mrs. Stowe serves as frontispiece. This elegant edition is sure to be a favorite.

Viking Tales.

By Jennie Hall. Illustrated by Victor R. Lambdin. Cloth, 12mo, 75 cents.



"Viking Tales" is another volume of classic stories retold for young people. It is more, however, than a book of legends, for it contains many of the most attractive accounts of the early explorations and adventures of the Norsemen, ending with the discovery of America by Lief Ericsen. The Norsemen were the most romantic people of the Northern seas, and the stories of their adventures, expeditions, and courageous fighting, are among the most fascinating classic literature.

Wings and Stings.

By Agnes McClelland Daulton. Cloth, 12mo, 208 pages, 75 cents.

This little book has been written with but one object in view the bringing of the child near to Nature's heart. Every effort has been made to give to dry scientific facts the breath of out-of-doors. Believing that this can be done only through the story form, the bees, ants, birds, and blossoms have been made to tell their own life histories.

The book will bring to the boys and girls a vision of green fields, leafy forests, sunny meadows, and running brooks. It will make one hear the buzzing of bees, the song of birds, and breathe the fragrance of the clover.

The book is profusely illustrated with more than two-hundred pen and ink marginal drawings by the author. Altogether, this is one of the most attractive books on nature study for children. It is not a volume of scientific essays, but a series of dramatic stories giving the life history of the different insects.

Whom to Trust.

By P. R. Earling. Cloth, 12mo. Price, 75 cents.

This treatise on mercantile credits is the outgrowth of a long and successful experience in business life. No effort has been made to deal with the subject from the standpoint of theory or political economy. Intended for business men and for practical use, the material has been prepared concisely and to the point—that point being how to make credits.

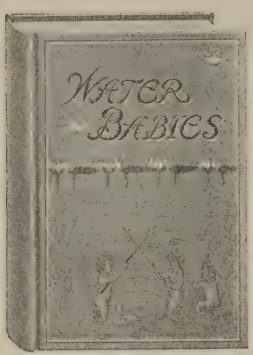
Water Babies.

By Charles Kingsley. Illustrated. Cloth, 12mo. $1.25.



A special holiday edition has been prepared on an elaborate scale of this one of the most charming stories for children ever written. The text has been liberally illustrated with nearly a hundred cuts, besides which there are eight full-page half-tone pictures printed in colors. The ornate and artistic cover design was originated by Miss Mary E. Phillips, who also executed the text drawings.

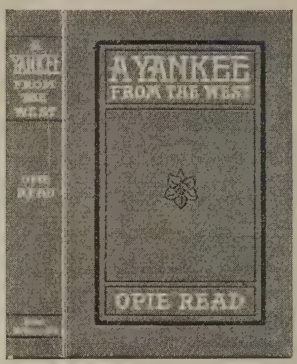
Wild Fowl Shooting.

By William Bruce Leffingwell. Handsomely illustrated. Cloth, 8vo, $1.50. Half Morocco, $3.00.. Full Morocco, gilt edges, $4.50.

With one exception, no American has ever attempted to write a book exclusively on the subject of wild fowl shooting, so that this book, dealing particularly with the game of our inland waters, supplies a long felt want. Mr. Leffingwell is an acknowledged authority in woodland craft. His practical suggestions are invaluable to the hunter, while his anecdotes and genuine nature studies make a book very interesting to the general reader.

Yankee From the West, A.

By Opie Read. Cloth, 12mo. Price, 75 Cents.



In "A Yankee From the West" the author offers his readers fresh riches gathered, first-hand, from universal nature and human life—riches of truth, beauty, sentiment, humor and pathos.

The more rugged elements of heroism live, act and triumph in William Milford, once on the ragged edge of ruin. The Norwegian heroine, Gunhild, is altogether charming. Professor Dolihide yields irresistible fun, at first, but goes out of life with all the fun obscured in a pathetic tragedy which reveals in him unsuspected elements of strength and dignity. The whole cast is good.

It is long since any American novel has been enriched by such a character study as that of Professor Dolihide. He is sentimental, cultured, visionary, always enthusiastic and always unpractical; and grieves because no one will take him seriously, while all the time he is in deadly earnest about the most ridiculous things.

The Atlantic Library.

Cloth, 12mo. Price, $1.00 per Volume.

Already to the front among the Rand-McNally libraries, The Atlantic Library is creating for itself a steadily increasing demand. It is another witness to the fact that there is always room in the market for good books when they can be supplied at a reasonable cost. The volumes included in the Atlantic Library hold a permanent and high place among the English Classics and they are, accordingly, issued in a form appropriate to the library. The books are printed on extra laid paper, with trimmed edges and gold tops and are bound in maroon silk-ribbed cloth.
